The Collectors Guide to "His Master's Voice" Nipper Souvenirs, 1997      Memorandums by James Martin Tim Causer, 2017-06-07 Among the vast body of manuscripts composed and collected by the philosopher and reformer Jeremy Bentham 1748 1832 held by UCL Library's Special Collections is the earliest Australian convict narrative Memorandums by James Martin This document also happens to be the only extant first hand account of the most well known and most mythologized escape from Australia by transported convicts On the night of 28 March 1791 James Martin William and Mary Bryant and their two infant children and six other male convicts stole the colony's fishing boat and sailed out of Sydney Harbour Within ten weeks they had reached Kupang in West Timor having in an amazing feat of endurance travelled over 3 000 miles c 5 000 kilometres in an open boat There they passed themselves off as the survivors of a shipwreck a ruse which initially at least fooled their Dutch hosts This new edition of the Memorandums includes full colour reproductions of the original manuscripts making available for the first time this hugely important document alongside a transcript with commentary describing the events and key characters The book also features a scholarly introduction which examines their escape and early convict absconding in New South Wales more generally and drawing on primary records presents new research which sheds light on the fate of the escapees after they reached Kupang The introduction also assesses the voluminous literature on this most famous escape and critically examines the myths and fictions created around it and the escapees' myths which have gone unchallenged for far too long Finally the introduction briefly discusses Jeremy Bentham's views on convict transportation and their enduring impact      Indigenous Futures and Learnings Taking Place Ligia (Licho) López López, Gioconda Coello, 2020-12-09 Singularizing progressive time binds pasts presents and futures to cause effect chains overdetermining existence in education and social life more broadly Indigenous Futures and Learnings Taking Place disrupts the common sense of futures in education or knowledge for the future by examining the multiplicity of possible destinies in coexistent experiences of living and learning Taking place is the intention this book has to embody and world multiplicity across the landscapes that sustain life The book contends that Indigenous perspectives open spaces for new forms of sociality and relationships with knowledge time and landscapes Through Goanna walking and caring for Country conjuring encounters between forests humans and the more than human dreams dream literacies and planes of existence the spirit realm taking place ancestral luchas Musquem h n q min m Land pedagogies and resoluteness and gratitude for atunhetsla the spirit within the chapters in the collection become politicocultural and historical statements challenging the singular order of the future towards multiple encounters of all that is to come In doing so Indigenous Futures and Learnings Taking Place offers various points of departure to history educational futures more responsive to the multiplicities of lives in what has not yet become The contributors in this volume are Indigenous women women of Indigenous backgrounds Black Red and Brown women and women whose scholarship is committed to Indigenous matters across spaces and times Their work in the chapters often defies prescriptions of academic conventions and at times occupies them to enunciate ontologies of the not yet As people historically fabricated women their scholarly production critically intervenes on time to break teleological education that births patriarchal ized and master ized forms of living What emerges are presences that undiscipline education and educationalized social life breaking futures out of time This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of Indigenous studies future studies post colonial studies in education settler colonialism and coloniality diversity and multiculturalism in education and international comparative education     The Sarsaparilla Souvenir Jo Anne Rey, 2005-05-10 Genre Historical Fiction The Sarsaparilla Souvenir is fiction based on the true story of the life of Mary Broad a girl from Cornwall who becomes a First Fleet convict exiled from her home Through her courage determination and intelligence she organises the first successful escape from Port Jackson with her husband William Bryant and their two children four year old Charlotte and one year old Emmanuel They are accompanied by seven other convicts escaping in Governor Phillips cutter making a voyage along the east coast of Australia to West Timor a navigational feat said to be equal in brilliance to that of the Bligh voyage after the mutiny on the Bounty In so doing Mary shines as the one who got away the first female convict expatriate of Australia Although they defy storms starvation thirst and savage aborigines to succeed in this endeavour betrayal within their own ranks leads to their recapture During the course of their shipment back to Newgate Prison six of the party die including Will Bryant and the two children Upon Marys much publicised return James Boswell lawyer and biographer of Sir Samuel Johnson takes an interest in her case assisting in obtaining her release and that of the remaining convicts whereupon they must re enter English life While these are the main events in the story the historical facts are the bare bones of The Sarsaparilla Souvenir This is not just another convict life She is the female Ned Kelly we have been looking for The four part structure of The Sarsaparilla Souvenir mirrors Marys emotional voyage From loss of innocence and liberty she sinks into the criminal world of prison hulk and convict ship sailing down to be submerged in the antipodean destitution and subjugated within the impregnable confines of Port Jackson The process of surfacing once more is played out in the emotional buffeting she takes from the lofty success of their escape plunging to the depths of despair with their recapture and the deaths of her children till she finally climbs to acceptance in her defeat Along with her unexpected freedom in Part Four Mary finds hope and a future in which she can soar The Sarsaparilla Souvenir is a story with all the elements of epic drama covering the full gamut of emotions as expressed through the strengths and weaknesses of the characters Its appeal lies in the very ordinary human heart withstanding great suffering in the very ordinary human being struggling and defeating an unjust and brutal system and in the knowledge that two frail sarsaparilla leaves relics of this great adventure now rest quietly on a shelf in the Library of New South Wales two hundred years later having survived an equally remarkable voyage The fact that this is so defies sunny logic but brings Starlight to our Blackest Night     The New Unity ,1896     Offshoot Donna Lee Brien, Quinn Eades, 2018 Offshoot includes essays in life writing methodologies and approaches as well as a series of creative work poetry and prose that engages with current life writing This collection highlights the development and influence of the genre in the twenty first century Starting from the premise that life writing is a significant component of both contemporary artistic practice and scholarship Offshoot provides a necessary re evaluation of the mode its contemporary sub generic incarnations as well as methodological and practical approaches The book presents research on a wide range of approaches including both traditional areas such as literature and creative writing and areas that have not previously been associated with life writing scholarship With its multifaceted readings Offshoot signals a shift in life writing research tending towards an expansive hybrid experimental and rhizomic approach
