volume of the Dictionary of World Biography contains 250 entries on the lives of the individuals who shaped their times and left their mark on world history This is not a who's who Instead each entry provides an in depth essay on the life and career of the individual concerned Essays commence with a quick reference section that provides basic facts on the individual's life and achievements The extended biography places the life and works of the individual within an historical context and the summary at the end of each essay provides a synopsis of the individual's place in history All entries conclude with a fully annotated bibliography Bringing History to Life through Film Kathryn Anne Morey, 2013-12-12 Whether re-creating an actual event or simply being set in a bygone era films have long taken liberties with the truth While some members of the audience can appreciate a movie without being distracted by historical inaccuracies other viewers are more discerning From revered classics like Gone with the Wind to recent award winners like Argo Hollywood films often are taken to task for their loose adherence to the facts But what obligation do filmmakers have to the truth when trying to create a two hour piece of entertainment In Bringing History to Life through Film The Art of Cinematic Storytelling Kathryn Anne Morey brings together essays that explore the controversial issue of film as a purveyor of history Examining a range of films including highly regarded features like The Last of the Mohicans and Pan's Labyrinth as well as blockbuster franchises like Pirates of the Caribbean chapters demonstrate that the debate surrounding the role of history on film is still as raw as ever Organized in five sections these essays discuss the myths and realities of history as they are portrayed on film from Nostalgic Utopias to Myths and Fairy Tales The fourteen chapters shed light on how films both convey and distort historical realities to capture the essence of the past rather than the past itself Ultimately they consider what role cinema plays as the quintessential historical storyteller In addition to cinema and media studies this book will appeal to scholars of history and fans of a wide range of cinematic genres

World Directors and Their Films Bert Cardullo, 2012-08-09 In World Directors and Their Films Bert Cardullo offers readable analyses of some of the most important films and the artists who produced them Beyond simple biographical capsules and plot summaries these readings demonstrate with clarity and elegance how international moviemakers use the resources of the medium to pursue complex significant human goals Including essays on filmmakers from China Japan India Argentina Brazil Mexico Iran Senegal and Chad this book is an engaging collection of enlightening and helpful essays that will appeal as much to the general reader as it will to scholars of international cinema

Armes,1987-07-29 This volume is the first fully comprehensive account of film production in the Third World Although they are usually ignored or marginalized in histories of world cinema Third World countries now produce well over half of the world s films Roy Armes sets out initially to place this huge output in a wider context examining the forces of tradition and colonialism that have shaped the Third World defined as those countries that have emerged from Western control but have not fully developed their economic potential or rejected the capitalist system in favor of some socialist alternative He then considers the paradoxes of social structure and cultural life in the post independence world where even such basic concepts as nation national culture and language are problematic The first experience of cinema for such countries has invariably been that of imported Western films which created the audience and in most cases still dominate the market today Thus Third World film makers have had to assert their identity against formidable outside pressures The later sections of the book look at their output from a number of angles in terms of the stages of overall growth and corresponding stages of cinematic development from the point of view of regional evolution in Asia Africa and Latin America and through a detailed examination of the work of some of the Third World s most striking film innovators In addition to charting the broad outlines of filmic developments too little known in Europe and the United States the book calls into question many of the assumptions that shape conventional film history It stresses the role of distribution in defining and limiting production queries simplistic notions of independent national cinemas and points to the need to take social and economic factors into account when considering authorship in cinema Above all the book celebrates the achievements of a mass of largely unknown film makers who in difficult circumstances have distinctively expanded our definitions of the art of cinema Roy Armes who lives in London has written nine books on film his most recent being French Cinema He spent more than three years researching this volume
