Museums in Arabia Karen Exell, Sarina Wakefield, 2016-05-12 Museum activity has in recent years undergone major and rapid development in the Arabian Peninsula with the regeneration of existing museums as well as the establishment of new ones Alongside such rapid expansion questions are inevitably raised as to the new challenges museums face in this region and whether the museum as a central focus of heritage preservation also runs the risk of overshadowing local forms of heritage performance and preservation With contributions from leading academics from a range of disciplines and heritage practitioners with first hand experience of working in the region this volume addresses the issues and challenges facing museums in Kuwait Saudi Arabia Qatar Yemen and the UAE It focuses on the themes of politics public engagement and the possibility of a new museum paradigm which might appropriately reflect the interests and culture of the region The interdisciplinary approaches analyse museum development from both an inside and outside perspective suggesting that museums do not follow a uniform trajectory across the region but are embedded within each states socio cultural context individual government agendas and political realities Including case study analysis which brings the more marginal nations into the debates as well as new empirical data and critical evaluation of the role of the museum in the Arabian Peninsula societies this book adds fresh perspectives to the study of Gulf heritage and museology It will appeal to regional and international practitioners and academics across the disciplines of museum studies cultural studies and anthropology as well as to anyone with an interest in the Gulf and Middle East

Collecting Asian Art Markéta Hánová, Yuka Kadoi, Simone Wille, 2024-02-29 Rather than centering on the well known collections in Western European and North American museums Collecting Asian Art turns to museum collections of Asian art in Central Europe which emerged from the late 19th century onwards Highlighting the dimensions of Central European connectedness this volume explores how these collections evolved and changed under changing cultural and political conditions from the pre World War I to the post World

War II periods With a primary focus on collections of East Asian South Asian and West Asian art in Vienna Prague Berlin Warsaw Krak w Budapest and Ljubljana it outlines the transregional connections and networks that gradually developed Collecting Asian Art locates Asian art across the twentieth century in Central Europe via discourse and ideology and discusses key collections and the way individual collectors built their networks It thus explores transregional connections that developed through collecting activities and strategies in the prewar interwar and postwar eras Contributors also examine the personal connections between a group of Indologists from postwar Prague and modernist Indian artists from the early 1950s to the 1980s and also discuss the systematic archiving of East Asian art collections in Slovenia A concluding conversation looks at colonisation and decolonisation from a broader perspective by approaching it through recent art historical discussions on the global dimensions of modernism By defining the region through its external relationships and its entanglements with regions across Asia rather than as a self contained unit the contributions in this volume outline how these transregional connections and networks evolved and changed over time thus highlighting their singularity in comparison to developments in Western Europe Based on recent research Collecting Asian Art reveals neglected sources while reinterpreting well known ones

Art and Architecture Division,1983      Middle East & North African Information Directory - 1979 MEFIS Limited,1978      Participation Culture in the Gulf Nele Lenze,Charlotte Schriwer,2018-09-03 This book examines the civil social interactions which have shaped and continue to influence the political and social development of modern Gulf societies It analyses the influence of public and private social spaces such as sports arenas and dawawin as well as developments in the legal and cultural spheres Geographically the volume covers Bahrain Iran Kuwait Oman Qatar Saudi Arabia and the UAE Each chapter discusses a different aspect of current trends in society offering a multidimensional perspective on recent developments In so doing the chapters highlight the existence of a growing participation culture as a force for dynamic social change in a global context Bringing to attention the continuing social change in public and private spaces which have increased public social interactions within the last ten years this books also demonstrates the opening of dialogues between the public and the authorities The contributors are established scholars living in the Gulf as well as academics with long term field research in the region thus providing unique perspectives on current sociopolitical trends in the Gulf states Participation Culture in the Gulf will be useful to students and scholars of Middle Eastern politics and society as well as social movements and political participation more generally      The Formation of Nabatean Art Joseph Patrich,2023-09-20 It is well known that during the Second Temple period the Jews of Judea strictly observed the injunction against graven images Although the Jews borrowed techniques and artistic styles from the surrounding Hellenistic Roman culture they abstained from using images in their art What is less well known is that during the same period a similar phenomenon was taking place in the adjacent Arab kingdom of Nabatea and this despite the fact that unlike the monotheistic Jews the Nabateans worshipped many deities In both kingdoms political independence went hand in hand with a cultural independence that expressed itself in religion language script and art Although continuity with iconoclastic Judea may have had some influence on Nabatean steadfastness to tradition under pressure from the dominant Hellenistic Roman culture it appears that their abstract perception of their gods and disregard for figurative art were innate growing out of a particular theological doctrine The principles of that doctrine have not been preserved but we can deduce its existence and to a lesser degree its nature on the basis of certain archaeological discoveries that we will discuss here subsequently Unlike the common practice both in the Greco Roman West and in the Parthian East to accord the gods a human form the Nabateans represented their gods in the form of a stele The abstract manner in which they perceived the form of their deities affected their approach towards figurative art A systematic survey of Nabatean art indicates that negation of figurative art is evident in all domains of their creativity Hundreds of years before the Nabatean civilization but in this same geographical area there was a similar religious and artistic phenomenon of venerating stele gods and negating figurative art among another Arabian tribe which scholars tend to identify with the biblical Midianites The same spiritual wellsprings that nourished a nonfigurative tradition among the North Arabian tribes for hundreds of years first the Midianites and then the Nabateans ultimately resurfaced nourishing the nonfigurative tendency we see in Islamic Arabian art This book examines the origins of prohibition of a graven image among the Nabateans its effect on all facets of Nabatean art and its subsequent influence on Islamic art several hundred years hence The implications for the history both of ancient religions and art lend to Nabatean
