Kinship and Human Evolution Steen Bergendorff, 2016-03-07 Kinship and Human Evolution Making Culture Becoming Human offers an exciting new explanation of human evolution Based on insights from anthropology it shows how humans became cultured beings capable of symbolic thought by developing kinship based exchange relationships Kinship was as an adaptive response to the harsh environment caused by the last major ice age In the extreme ice age conditions natural selection favored those groups that could forge and sustain such alliances and the resulting relationships enabled them to share different food resources between groups Kinship was a means of symbolically linking two or more groups to the mutual reproductive advantage of both From an evolutionary point of view kinship freed humans from their dependence on their immediate environment vastly expanding the niches they could occupy If we take kinship to be the major factor in human evolution networks and alliances must precede cultural units becoming the defining element of localized cultures Kinship and Human Evolution argues that it is living in networks that produces cultural differences and not culturally different groups that encounter one another it shows that kinship both saved and created humanity as we know it in all its cultural diversity Life Strategies, Human Evolution, Environmental Design V. Geist, 2013-11-11 Consider that you were asked how to ensure human survival Where would you begin Conservation of resources jumps to mind We need to conserve resources in order that economic activities may continue Alas this is a false start Resources are always defined by a given economic system and only it determines what is and what is not a resource Therefore conserving resources implies only the perpetuation of the appropriate economic system Conservation of resources as we know them has nothing to do with the survival of mankind but it has very much to do with the survival of the industrial system and society we live in today We have to start therefore at a more basic level This level some may argue is addressed by ensuring for human beings clean genes Again this is a mistaken beginning It is thoroughly mistaken for reasons of science It is a false start because malfunctioning organs and morphological structures are not only due to deleterious hereditary factors but particularly due to unfavorable environments during early growth and development Moreover eugenics is not acceptable to any but a small fraction of society Eugenics may not be irrelevant to our future but is premature and should be of little concern until we understand how human genes and environment interact

American Book Publishing Record ,2006 The British National Bibliography Arthur James Wells, 2003 Life and Language Beyond Earth Raymond Hickey, 2023-09-21 Have you ever wondered whether we are alone in the universe or if life forms on other planets might exist If they do exist how might their languages have evolved Could we ever understand them and indeed learn to communicate with them This highly original thought provoking book takes us on a fascinating journey over billions of years from the formation of galaxies and solar systems to the appearance of planets in the habitable zones of their parent stars and then to how biology and ultimately human life arose on our own planet It delves into how our brains and our language developed in order to explore the likelihood of communication beyond Earth and whether it would evolve along similar lines In the process fascinating insights from the fields of astronomy evolutionary biology palaeoanthropology neuroscience and linguistics are uncovered shedding new light on life as we know it on Earth and beyond

Bibliographic Index ,2004 Humanimal Adam Rutherford, 2019-03-19 Rutherford describes Humanimal as being about the paradox of how our evolutionary journey turned an otherwise average ape into one capable of creating complex tools art music science and engineering It's an intriguing question one his book sets against descriptions of the infinitely amusing strategies and antics of a dizzying array of animals The New York Times Book Review Publisher's note Humanimal was published in the UK under the title The Book of Humans Evolutionary theory has long established that humans are animals Modern Homo sapiens are primates who share an ancestor with monkeys and other great apes Our genome is 98 percent identical to a chimpanzee's And yet we think of ourselves as exceptional Are we In this original and entertaining tour of life on Earth Adam Rutherford explores the profound paradox of the human animal Looking for answers across the animal kingdom he finds that many things once considered exclusively human are not In Australia raptors have been observed starting fires to scatter prey in Zambia a chimp named Julie even started a fashion of wearing grass in one ear We aren't the only species that communicates makes tools or has sex for reasons other than procreation But we have developed a culture far more complex than any other we've observed Why has that happened and what does it say about us Humanimal is a new evolutionary history a synthesis of the latest research on genetics sex migration and much more It reveals what unequivocally makes us animals and also why we are truly extraordinary Language in Deep Human History Richard J. Watts, 2024-02-19

Understanding the evolution of language within the context of deep human history requires interdisciplinary work between linguists and scientists from a wide range of academic disciplines e.g. archaeology molecular biology anthropology genetics biochemistry etc The book aims to calibrate work on human evolution with current linguistic theory in an attempt to trace out a scientific story of how human language emerged and developed that has plausibility while remaining open to change through new linguistic and non linguistic research Natural Citizens Richard Paul Hamilton, 2023-03-20

Natural Citizens Ethical Formation as Biological Development presents a novel view naturalist humanism that applies recent scientific work challenging dichotomous views of biological development Rather than being a passive victim of its evolutionary fate the developing organism is an active participant partly constructing its own ecological niche from internal and external resources The human developmental environment our ecological niche has a distinctive socio cultural character Richard Paul Hamilton proposes that we understand the development of moral character as an integral part of biological development with the virtues construed as refinements of mundane social intelligence Drawing on work in 4E Cognition Hamilton revisits the traditional idea of ethical understanding as quasi perceptual but argues that this can only be made intelligible by taking a non representationalist view of perception The virtuous person has learned how to focus her attention on what enables her to live a fully human life individually and communally Given that not all societies are equally conducive to fully human lives the concluding sections explore how contemporary capitalist society distorts our attention and what obstacles it places in the way of virtue Natural Citizens highlights the unsustainable state of current social and economic relations and the urgent need for radical alternatives

Papers in African Prehistory J. D. Fage, R. A. Oliver, 1970-10-01 Professor Fage and Professor Oliver the editors of this collection are distinguished historians of Africa and as founding editors of the Journal of African History they both established the journal and used it to mark out developing areas of the subject In directing the journal they have pursued an active policy of commissioning articles in fields where the literature was scanty and in this volume they have collected together some of the most important articles they have published on African prehistory It is designed for the student of African history and the library that needs copies of frequently consulted papers to supplement its sets of periodicals All the articles contain either accounts of important research or more general review articles The book is illustrated with line diagrams and photographs One article which originally appeared in French has been translated into English Humans and Hyenas Keith Somerville, 2021-03-18 Humans and Hyenas examines the origins and development of the relationship between the two to present an accurate and realistic picture of the hyena and its interactions with people The hyena is one of the most maligned misrepresented and defamed mammals It is still despite decades of research led knowledge seen as a skulking cowardly scavenger rather than a successful hunter with complex family and communal systems Hyenas are portrayed as sex shifting deviants grave robbers and attackers of children in everything from African folk tales through Greek and Roman accounts of animal life to Disney's The Lion King depicting hyenas with a lack of respect and disgust despite the reality of their behaviour and social structures Combining the personal in depth mining of scientific papers about the three main species and historical accounts Keith Somerville delves into our relationship with hyenas from the earliest records from millennia ago through the accounts by colonisers to contemporary coexistence where hyenas and humans are forced into ever closer proximity due to shrinking habitats and loss of prey Are hyenas fated to retain their bad image or can their amazing ability to adapt to humans more successfully than lions and other predators lead to a shift in perspective This book will be of great interest to students and scholars in the environmental sciences conservation biology and wildlife and conservation issues

A History of Africa John Fage, with William Tordoff, 2013-10-23 A History of Africa is a thorough narrative history of the continent from its beginnings to the twenty first century Long established at the forefront of African Studies this book addresses the events of the 1990s and beyond The issues discussed include post apartheid South Africa the prospects for democratization in Africa at the beginning of the new millennium developments in Muslim North Africa including the threat of Islamic fundamentalism economic and social developments including the devastating impact of Third World debt and the provision of debt relief cultural environmental and gender issues in Modern Africa
