Service Industries and Asia Pacific Cities Peter W. Daniels, Kong Chong Ho, Tom Hutton, 2005-04-01 During the second half of the twentieth century development in the Asia Pacific region has been dominated by industrialization However at the beginning of the twenty first century services in particular finance information and creative services have become deeply embedded in the processes of urban growth In Asia Pacific the rise of service industries has lead to national modernization programmes and globalization strategies Services are also driving change in the internal form of city regions and are being actively deployed as instruments of metropolitan reconfiguration and land use changes These changes have created problems such as social polarization and the displacement of traditional industries and residential districts Also there are tensions between local and global processes in the development of service industries and between the imperatives of competitive advantage and sustainable development Service Industries and Asia Pacific Cities brings together a multi disciplinary team of experts to explore and illustrate the theoretical conceptual and practical issues arising from the transformation of Asia Pacific cities by service industries

Rubalcaba-Bermejo,J. R. Bryson,2002-01-01 This book provides one of the first interdisciplinary reviews of the relationship between services globalisation and trade liberalisation as we enter the twenty first century Written by academics and policymakers it contains a detailed analysis of the characteristics of service trade and of recent and current service trade negotiations Services Industries and the Knowledge-based Economy Canada. Industry Canada,2006 Services industries account for almost three quarters of both gross domestic product and employment in Canada a trend that Canada shares with other G 7 countries Furthermore the services sector has been responsible for most of Canada s employment creation and much of its productivity growth over the past decade and the sector s importance to the Canadian economy continues to increase Thirty renowned experts contribute to this volume which is aimed at better understanding the dynamics of Canadian services industries and identifying the types of policies most likely to improve their innovation and productivity performance

Service Industries and Regions Juan R. Cuadrado-Roura,2013-03-26 The service sector in most advanced economies accounts for up to seventy percent of employment and GDP and given its growing importance has received much research attention over the last two decades However not very much attention has been paid to the relationship between this sector and both its territorial impact and regional effects The main objective of this book is to offer a comprehensive approach to these aspects focusing particularly on the location factors of service industries and the importance of some specific services such as business services and knowledge and information services The contributions have been prepared by well known experts in the field from a wide number of countries The focus of all contributions is not only on theoretical aspects but also provides empirical analyses on specific countries and topics such as the geographical concentration globalization impacts foreign direct investments and innovation Service Industries Development Act United States.
