Nash, Harriet F. Senie, Alan G. Wilkinson, 2001-01-01 Henry Moore 1898 1986 is arguably one of the most famous and beloved sculptors of the twentieth century yet in recent decades his work has fallen out of favor in the world of contemporary art criticism This handsome book examines this intriguing contradiction and seeks to reassess Moore s crucial contribution to art of the last century Looking at Moore s early engagements with primitivism his 1930s dialogue with abstraction and surrealism and his postwar interest in large scale public sculpture the authors show how the sculptor helped to define some of the most significant aspects of modernism The authors also contextualize within the polemics of early modernism Moore s emphasis on direct carving instead of modeling and the necessary balance between abstraction and what he called the psychological human element Moore s early sculpture largely unfamiliar to the general public is given particular attention enabling the reader to explore the evolution of thematic and formal elements in his work and his ongoing response to different materials Photographs some by Moore himself of over 120 works including plasters maquettes carvings bronzes and drawings are featured many of which are previously unpublished Seven Decades of Twentieth-century Art, 1980 Mark Rothko David Anfam, 1998-09-10 This is the first volume of the catalogue raisonne of the work of Mark Rothko the abstract artist It documents Rothko s entire output of paintings on canvas and panel reproducing all the works in colour An introductory text investigates the essential features of Rothko s art Dada in the Collection of the Museum of Modern Art Museum of Modern Art (New York, N.Y.), Anne Umland, Adrian Sudhalter, 2008 Presents some seventy works books collages drawings films paintings photographs photomontages prints readymades reliefs in large scale reproductions and accompanying them with in depth essays by an interdepartmental group of the Museum s curators Front jacket flap Clyfford Still Clyfford Still, David Anfam, Hirshhorn Museum and Sculpture Garden, Brooks Adams, Neal David Benezra, 2001-01-01 The contributors to this volume explore various aspects of Still s art his accomplishments and the New York School David Anfam presents an overview of Still s career from the 1930s through the 1950s Neal Benezra focuses on a provocative unexplored element of Still s studio practice his habit of painting replicas of many of his own works Brooks Adams examines Still s artistic legacy and influence on succeeding generations of artists BOOK JACKET The Columbia History of the 20th Century Richard W. Bulliet, 1998 In the parade of highlights with which many have tried to sum up the twentieth century the overarching patterns and fundamental transformations often fail to come into focus The Columbia History of the 20th Century however is much more than a chronicle of the previous century's front page news Instead the book is a series of twenty three linked interpretive essays on the most significant developments in modern times ranging from athletics to art the economy to the environment Rather than presenting a linear narrative each author uncovers patterns of worldwide change James Mayall for example writes on nationalism from the rise of European fascism to the rise of Asian and African nations Sheila Fitzpatrick traces the history of communism and socialism in Moscow and Havana In her chapter on women and gender Rosalind Rosenberg covers the progress of women's rights throughout the world from Middle Eastern activism to the American feminist movement Jean Marc Ran Oppenheim's history of sports traces the spread of Western sports to all corners of the globe and the West's appropriation of such activities as martial arts In each the important strands of history events ideas leading figures issues come together to offer an illuminating look at cultural connection diffusion and conflict showing in stark relief how this period has been unlike any preceding era of human history

Hollywood Highbrow Shyon Baumann, 2018-06-05 Today's moviegoers and critics generally consider some Hollywood products even some blockbusters to be legitimate works of art But during the first half century of motion pictures very few Americans would have thought to call an American movie art Up through the 1950s American movies were regarded as a form of popular even lower class entertainment By the 1960s and 1970s however viewers were regularly judging Hollywood films by artistic criteria previously applied only to high art forms In Hollywood Highbrow Shyon Baumann for the first time tells how social and cultural forces radically changed the public's perceptions of American movies just as those forces were radically changing the movies themselves The development in the United States of an appreciation of film as an art was Baumann shows the product of large changes in Hollywood and American society as a whole With the postwar rise of television American movie audiences shrank dramatically and Hollywood responded by appealing to richer and more educated viewers Around the same time European ideas about the director as artist an easing of censorship and the development of art house cinemas film festivals and the academic field of film studies encouraged the idea that some American movies and not just European ones deserved to be considered art Brian Eno Sean Albiez, David Pattie, 2016-08-11 Examines Eno's work as a musician theoretician and collaborator New York Magazine, 1986-08-18 New York magazine was born in 1968 after a run as an insert of the New York Herald Tribune and quickly made a place for itself as the trusted resource for readers across the country With award winning writing and photography covering everything from politics and food to theater and fashion the magazine's consistent mission has been to reflect back to its audience the energy and excitement of the city itself while celebrating New York as both a place and an idea Library of Congress Catalog Library of Congress, 1980-07 The Impact of Everyday Language Change on the Practices of Visual Artists Darryl Hocking, 2022-05-19 The practices of visual artists can never be decontextualised from language Firstly artists are constantly in dialogue with their peers dealers critics and audiences about their creative activities and these interactions impact on the work they produce Secondly artists' conceptualisations of what artistic practice encompasses are always shaped by wider social discourses These discourses however and their manifestation in the language of everyday life are subject to continual change and potentially reshape the way that artists conceptualise their practices Using a 235 000 word diachronic corpus developed from artists' interviews and statements this Element investigates shifts in artists' use of language to conceptualise their art practice from 1950 to 2019 It then compares these shifts to see if they align with changes in the wider English lexicon and whether there might be a relationship between everyday language change and the aesthetic and conceptual developments that take place in the art world Free at Last? Juan Battle, Michael Bennett, Anthony J. Lemelle, 2017-07-05 As this volume indicates the issues facing black America are diverse and the tools needed to understand these phenomena cross disciplinary boundaries In this anthology the authors address a wide range of topics including race gender class sexual orientation globalism migration health politics culture and urban issues from a diversity of disciplinary perspectives Critical Aesthetics and Postmodernism Paul Crowther, 1996 In this monograph Paul Crowther seeks to overcome some of the antagonistic positions taken in recent debates about postmodernism He addresses such issues as the relation between art and politics artistic creativity and sublimity and the postmodern sensibility His analysis of these themes centres on the interplay between what is constant and what is historically variable in human experience Understanding

Toscanini Joseph Horowitz, 1994-01-01 As America's symbol of Great Music Arturo Toscanini and the masterpieces he served were regarded with religious awe As a celebrity personality he was heralded for everything from his unwavering stance against Hitler and Mussolini and his cataclysmic tantrums to his democratic penchants for television wrestling and soup for dinner During his years with the Metropolitan Opera 1908-15 and the New York Philharmonic 1926-36 he was regularly proclaimed the world's greatest conductor And with the NBC Symphony 1937-54 created for him by RCA's David Sarnoff he became the beneficiary of a voracious multimedia promotional apparatus that spread Toscanini madness nationwide According to Life he was as well known as Joe DiMaggio Time twice put him on its cover and the New York Herald Tribune attributed Toscanini's fame to simple recognition of his unique greatness In this boldly conceived and superbly realized study Joseph Horowitz reveals how and why Toscanini became the object of unparalleled veneration in the United States Combining biography cultural history and music criticism Horowitz explores the cultural and commercial mechanisms that created America's Toscanini cult and fostered in turn a Eurocentric anachronistic new audience for old music

Dimensions of Storytelling in German Literature and Beyond Jennifer William, Kristy R. Boney, 2018 Explores the storytelling of Anna Seghers and other 20th century writers who faced the tensions between aesthetics and politically conscious writing between conformity and resistance While Walter Benjamin in his famous essay The Storyteller 1936 lamented the decline of the storytelling tradition in the age of the modernist novel Anna Seghers and other twentieth century German writers went on to chronicle the century's darkest days in creative and compelling ways This volume is at its heart a tribute to Germanist Helen Fehervary whose work particularly on the prose of Anna Seghers continues to inspire scholars who examine narration and storytelling The subtitle quotation for once telling it all from the beginning is a translation of the phrase einmal alles von Anfang an erz hlen from Seghers's exile novel Transit in which she told not only her own story but that of countless others who faced existential challenges in their attempts to escape the Nazi regime This volume examines a number of such writers exploring the tensions between aesthetics and politically conscious writing as well as individual struggles involving conformity and resistance in a totalitarian state Contributors Peter Beicken Hunter Bivens Kristy R Boney Ute Brandes Stephen Brockmann Sylvia Fischer Jost Hermand Kristen Hetrick Robert C Holub Weijia Li Elizabeth Loentz Michaela Peroutkov Benjamin Robinson Christiane Zehl Romero Marc Silberman Andy Spencer Luke Springman Amy Kepple Strawser Jennifer Marston William Kristy R Boney is Associate Professor of German at the University of Central Missouri Jennifer Marston William is Professor of German and Head of the School of Languages and Cultures at Purdue University
