Reflecting the expertise and perspective of five leading mammalogists the fourth edition of Mammalogy Adaptation Diversity Ecology significantly updates taxonomy includes a new chapter on mammalian molecular phylogenetics and highlights several recently described species There are close to 5 500 species in the class Mammalia including the blue whale the largest animal that has ever lived and the pygmy shrew which weighs little more than a penny The functional diversity of mammals has allowed them to play critical roles in every ecosystem whether marine freshwater alpine tundra forest or desert Many mammal species are critically endangered and present complex conservation and management challenges This book touches on those challenges which are often precipitated by overharvesting and habitat loss as well as emerging threats such as the impact of wind turbines and white nose syndrome on bats and chronic wasting disease on deer Among the updates and additions to the fourth edition of Mammalogy are numerous new photos figures and cladograms over 4 200 references as well as A completely new chapter on mammalian phylogeny and genomics Current taxonomy including major changes to orders suborders and superfamilies of bats and rodents An explanation of the recent inclusion of whales with terrestrial even toed ungulates Updates on mammalian structural functional adaptations and fossil history recent advances in our understanding of phylogeny biogeography social behavior and ecology A discussion of two new orders and thirteen newly recognized extant families Reflections on the implications of climate change for mammals Thorough examinations of several recently described species including Durrell's vontsira Salanoia durrelli and the Laotian rock rat Laonastes aenigmamus An explanation of mammalian biomechanics such as that seen in lunge feeding of baleen whales Breakout boxes on unique aspects of mammals including the syntax of bat songs singing mice and why there are no green mammals unless we count algae covered sloths Maintaining the accessible readable style for which Feldhamer and his coauthors are well known this new edition of Mammalogy is the authoritative textbook on this amazingly diverse class of vertebrates The Biographical Dictionary of Women in Science Marilyn Ogilvie, Joy Harvey, 2003-12-16 Volume 2 of 2 Biographical Dictionary of American and Canadian Naturalists and Environmentalists George A. Cevalasco, Lorne Hammond, Richard Harmond, Keir B. Sterling, 1997-12-09 Casting a wide net this volume provides personal and professional information on some 445 American and Canadian naturalists and environmentalists who lived from the late 15th century to the late 20th century It includes explorers who published works on the natural history of North America conservationists ecologists environmentalists wildlife management specialists park planners national park administrators zoologists botanists natural historians geographers geologists academics museum scientists and administrators military personnel travellers government officials political figures and writers and artists concerned with the environment Some of the subjects are well known The accomplishments of others are little known Each entry contains a succinct but careful evaluation of the subject s career and contributions Entries also include up to date bibliographies and information concerning manuscript sources

Landscape Approaches in Mammalian Ecology and Conservation William Zander Lidicker,1995 This book explores the latest ideas about landscapes as they apply to mammalian ecology and conservation The Contributors examine mammalian field studies and experimental model systems to landscape ecology and then present data on the use of such experimental protocols With its international perspective and incisive coverage this volume will be an essential resource for anyone concerned with mammalian and landscape ecology

W. C. McKern and the Midwestern Taxonomic Method R. Lee Lyman,Michael J. O'Brien,2003 Explores W C McKern s use of Linnaean taxonomy as the model for development of a pottery classification system By the early 20th century North American archaeologists had found evidence of a plethora of prehistoric cultures displaying disparate geographic and chronological distributions But there were no standards or algorithms for specifying when a culture was distinct or identical to another in a nearby or distant region Will Carleton McKern of the Milwaukee Public Museum addressed this fundamental problem of cultural classification beginning in 1929 He modeled his solution known as the Midwestern Taxonomic Method on the Linnaean biological taxonomy because he wanted the ability to draw historical and cultural relationships among cultures McKern was assisted during development of the method by Carl E Guthe Thorne Deuel James B Griffin and William Ritchie This book studies the 1930s correspondence between McKern and his contemporaries as they hashed out the method s nuances It compares the several different versions of the method and examines the Linnaean biological taxonomy as it was understood and used at the time McKern adapted it to archaeological problems Finally this volume reveals how and why the method failed to provide the analytical solution envisioned by McKern and his colleagues and how it influenced the later development of Americanist archaeology
