The Old Dualities Dianne Tiefensee, 1994 In this provocative re examination of the work of Robert Kroetsch who has been hailed as the father of Canadian post modernism Dianne Tiefensee argues that Kroetsch's deconstruction fails to address or even comprehend the radical nature of Derrida's theory

The Postwar Novel in Canada Rosmarin Heidenreich, 2006-01-01 As a comparative study which includes the analysis of both English Canadian and Quebec novels this book provides an overview of the novel as it has developed in this country since the Second World War Focusing on narratological rather than thematic elements the book represents a systematic application of the insights and analytical tools of reader reception theory in particular the models proposed by Wolfgang Iser and Hans Robert Jauss Placing the emphasis on the text and its effects rather than on the historical or psycho sociological genesis of the text the author invokes the models and paradigms of other literatures to establish a broader cultural context permitting the significance of a literature to emerge as a carrier of meaning in and beyond the culture that produces it Tracing a critical path from Hugh MacLennan's hierarchic romance structures and Gabrielle Roy's social realism to the metafiction of Hubert Aquin and Timothy Findley the author reveals that the novel's narratological features themselves are often closely linked with ideological positions

Canada's 1960s Bryan Palmer, 2008-03-29 Rebellious youth the Cold War New Left radicalism Pierre Trudeau Red Power Quebec's call for Revolution Marshall McLuhan these are just some of the major forces and figures that come to mind at the slightest mention of the 1960s in Canada Focusing on the major movements and personalities of the time as well as the lasting influence of the period Canada's 1960s examines the legacy of this rebellious decade's impact on contemporary notions of Canadian identity Bryan D Palmer demonstrates how after massive postwar immigration new political movements and at times violent protest Canada could no longer be viewed in the old ways National identity long rooted in notions of Canada as a white settler Dominion of the North marked profoundly by its origins as part of the British Empire had become unsettled Concerned with how Canadians entered the Sixties relatively secure in their national identities Palmer explores the forces that contributed to the post 1970 uncertainty about what it is to be Canadian Tracing the significance of dissent and upheaval among youth trade unionists university students Native peoples and Quebecois Palmer shows how the Sixties ended the entrenched nineteenth century notions of Canada The irony of this rebellious era however was that while it promised so much in the way of change it failed to provide a new understanding of Canadian national identity A compelling and highly accessible work of interpretive history Canada's 1960s is the book of the decade about an era many regard as the most turbulent and significant since the years of the Great Depression and World War II

Women in Exile and Alienation Kaptan Singh, 2016-06-22 Since World War II exile and alienation have become two of the most prominent themes in world literature Canadian and Indian literatures are no exception Modern human civilisation is passing through a terrible ordeal following on from the catastrophic consequences of two world wars and many people have been overwhelmed and overawed by the growth of science technology and urbanisation Alienation a feeling of not belonging has filled the life of modern man with uncertainties and disappointments obstructions and frustrations Indian and Canadian literatures are currently two of the most acclaimed forms of global literature with major themes including a search for identity a struggle for survival and self and social isolation and it is not surprising that female writers are major voices in both Indian and Canadian literature There is a heavy imbalance of power between two sexes in both cultures where men are considered to be domineering and the centre of the family while women are regarded as subordinate to men Women s suppression compels them to live in their self exiled and alienated world The works of Margaret Laurence and Anita Desai depict heart rending facts and bitter realities which women have to face in an emotionless modern society Since the patriarchal structure is prevalent in India and Canada women are categorised as second rate citizens and are treated as liabilities by their families due to a lack of financial power In the absence of any economic social emotional and financial support they also consider themselves inferior to men Time and again they revolt against the mechanical and merciless treatment of their family and society and sometimes they choose self exile as a safeguard against the callous and selfish treatment of their family members Their inner desire to revolt against an oppressive society and the prevailing cultural norm only increases their isolation In their works Laurence and Desai have unveiled the tortured psyche of sensitive women who are unable to share their feelings with others and are destined to live an emotionally deprived life The Columbia History of the American Novel Emory Elliott,1991 Designed as a companion to The Columbia Literary History of the United States this compilation of 31 major essays covers the American novel from the 1700s to the present although the majority deal with the 20th century Within each era themes genres and topics such as realism gender romance and technology are discussed in depth as well as modern Canadian Caribbean and Latin American fiction Each essayist selects only the authors who best illustrate the topic thus subtly skewing the view of the literary scene at that time The volume also covers women minorities popular fiction and the book marketplace ISBN 0 231 07360 7 59 95

Attempts by writers and intellectuals in former colonies to create unique national cultures are often thwarted by a context of global modernity which discourages particularity and uniqueness In describing unstable social and political cultures such third world intellectuals often find themselves torn between the competing literary requirements of the local culture of the colony and the cosmopolitan world culture introduced by Western civilization In Zones of Instability Imre Szeman examines the complex relationship between literature and politics by exploring the production of nationalist literature in the former British empire Taking as his case studies the regions of the British Caribbean Nigeria and Canada Szeman analyzes the work of authors for whom the idea of the nation and literature are inexorably entwined such as Chinua Achebe Wole Soyinka C L R James Frantz Fanon and V S Naipaul Szeman focuses on literature created in the two decades after World War II decades in which the future prospects for many colonies went from extreme political optimism to extreme political disappointment He finds that the nation can be read as that space in which literature is thought to be able to conjoin two things that history has separated the writer and the people      The Canadian Novel: Beginnings John George Moss, 1978
