THE ORIGINS OF WESTERN ART

THROUGHOUT antiquity there were innumerable contacts between Egypt and Europe. Beginning with the Hellenistic period, Alexandria played a significant role in the exchange of ideas. The same mixture of Mesopotamia, which also left many traces in the West, with the decaying of Egyptian hieroglyphics and the numerous writings of the peripheral Mesopotamians, whom in the West began seeing as barbarians, the source of their ancient civilizations. Therefore, in this unusual study of ancient art, Professor Walther Wolf attempts to analyze artistic experiments, provocations of facts, and certain motifs that spread from Egypt and Mesopotamia to the West.

The situation is somewhat different with the early art of the Aegean, a civilization that can be only a limited sense be called European. Certain elements are in not necessarily the earliest manifestation of the European genius. Nevertheless, there is no doubt that the fundamental artistic characteristics of the Aegean were influenced classical antiquity — or rather were derived from it.

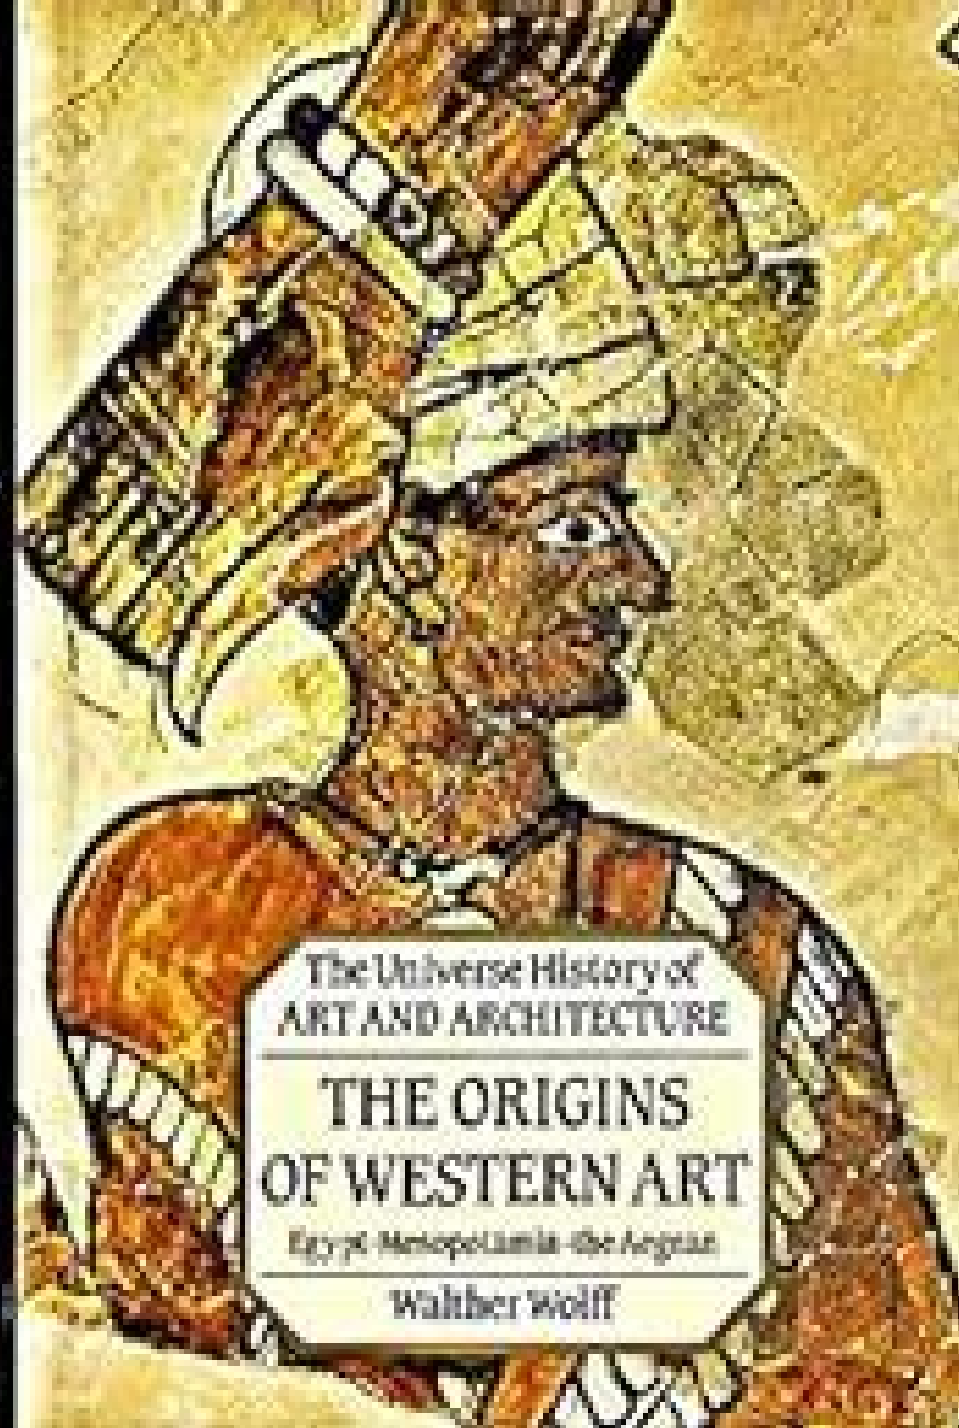

Egypt, Mesopotamia, and the Aegean, each independent of the other, established their artistic traditions with their own unique, highly representative styles. This beautifully illustrated comparative study of these art depicts the way of conditions under which civilizations are born; the development of styles; to what important architectural, sculpture, and painting take the lead.

WALTHER WOLFF was professor of Egyptology at the University of Münster, Germany.

"Excellent, serious art books and libraries seeking to enrich their art studies with this quality books will find real value in the Universal History of Art series, written by acknowledged art authorities." — Publishers Weekly

Origins Of Western Art Egypt Mesopotamia:

The Origins of Western Art Walther Wolff, 1989 The Origins of Western Art: Egypt, Mesopotamia, the Aegean Walther Wolf, 1972 History of Art Horst Woldemar Janson, Anthony F. Janson, 2004 For forty years this widely acclaimed classic has remained unsurpassed as an introduction to art in the Western world boasting the matchless credibility of the Janson name This newest update features a more contemporary more colorful design and vast array of extraordinarily produced illustrations that have become the Janson hallmark A narrative voice makes this book a truly enjoyable read and carefully reviewed and revised updates to this edition offer the utmost clarity in contributions based on recent scholarship Extensive captions for the book's incredible art program offer profound insight through the eyes of twentieth century art historians speaking about specific pieces of art featured throughout Significantly changed in this edition is the chapter on The Late Renaissance in which Janson offers a new perspective on the subject tracing in detail the religious art tied to the Catholic Reform movement whose early history is little known to many readers of art history Janson has also rearranged early Renaissance art according to genres instead of time sequence and he has followed the reinterpretation of Etruscan art begun in recent years by German and English art historians With a truly humanist approach this book gives written and visual meaning to the captivating story of what artists have tried to express and why for more than 30 000 years Centre and Periphery in the Ancient World Michael J. Rowlands, Mogens Larsen, Kristian Kristiansen, 1987-10-22 This collaborative volume is concerned with long term social change Envisaging individual societies as interlinked and interdependent parts of a global social system the aim of the contributors is to determine the extent to which ancient societies were shaped over time by their incorporation in or resistance to the larger system Their particular concern is the dependent relationship between technically and socially more developed societies with a strong state ideology at the centre and the simpler societies that functioned principally as sources of raw materials and manpower on the periphery of the system The papers in the first part of the book are all concerned with political developments in the Ancient Near East and the notion of a regional system as a framework for analysis Part 2 examines the problems of conceptualising local societies as discrete centres of development in the context of both the Near East and prehistoric Europe during the second millennium BC Part 3 then presents a comprehensive analytical study of the Roman Empire as a single system showing how its component parts often relate to each other in uneven even contradictory ways Light as Experience and Imagination from Paleolithic to Roman Times David S. Herrstrom, 2017-09-26 This book is an interdisciplinary synthesis and interpretation about the experience of light as revealed in a wide range of art and literature from Paleolithic to Roman times Humanistic in spirit and in its handling of facts it marshals a substantial body of scholarship to develop an explication of light as a central even dramatic reality of human existence and experience in diverse cultural settings David S Herrstrom underscores our intimacy with light not only its constant presence in our life but its insinuating character Focusing on our encounters with light and ways of making sense of these this book is concerned with the personal and cultural impact of light exploring our resistance to and acceptance of light Its approach is unique The book s true subject is the individual s relationship with light rather than the investigation of light s essential nature It tells the story of light seducing individuals down through the ages Consequently it is not concerned with the progress of scientific inquiries into the physical properties and behavior of light optical science but rather with subjective reactions to it as reflected in art Paleolithic through Roman architecture Egyptian Grecian Roman mythology and religion Paleolithic Egyptian and literature e g Akhenaten Plato Aeschylus Lucretius John the Evangelist Plotinus and Augustine This book celebrates the complexity of our relation to light s character No individual experience of light is truer than any other none improves on any previous experience of light s tidal pull on us And the wondrous variety of these encounters has yielded a richly layered tapestry of human experience By its broad scope and interdisciplinary approach this pioneering book is without precedent Gardner's Art Through the Ages: Renaissance and modern art Helen

Garnett, 2005 Firmly grounded in the structure and engravings of Newgrange this book offers several revolutionary insights into both its science and its religious faith Forty carved motifs are explained as emblems of site features which the builders provided to ensure an afterlife for the dead including the nine carved rungs in the passage the leak that delivered water to the chamber bowl and slab the two round sockets in the rim of the bowl the stone marbles found in the chamber and the starry outviews originally possible through the chamber vault The author argues that some of Michael O Kelly s discoveries suggest Newgrange may have been retooled when precession displaced the targets of those outviews The book explores the builders competent astronomical and mathematical skills and shows how these were combined with an afterlife faith capable of engaging both mind and spirit A radical analysis of five related motifs exposes unexpectedly sophisticated characteristics of the Newgrangemen s mode of expression The rich cluster of afterlife agencies identifiable at Newgrange unique as a fingerprint can also be recognized in certain myths fairytales religious traditions and superstitious observances Mrs Garnett shows how these resources may shed light on the heretofore almost completely unknown afterlife faith and practice of these stone age people

History of Art H.W. Janson, Identity Re-creation in Global African Encounters John Ayotunde Isola Bewaji, Adedoyin Aguoru, 2019-08-07 Identity Re creation in Global African Encounters explores race racial politics and racial transformation in the context of Africa s encounters with non African communities through various perspectives including oppression racialization of ethnic difference and identity deconstruction While the contributors recognize that ethnicity has long been a staple analytical category of engagements between African and non African communities they present a holistic view of the continent and its diaspora through race outside of both colonial and neocolonial binaries allowing for a more nuanced study of Africa and its diaspora

Entangled Art Histories in Ukraine Stefaniia Demchuk, Illia Levchenko, 2024-11-29 This book explores ideologies conflicts and ideas that underpinned art historical writing in Ukraine in the 20th century Disciplinary beginnings testify both to its deep connection to Krakow Saint Petersburg and especially Vienna with its school of art history and originality of theoretical thought Art history started as another imperial project in Ukraine but ultimately transformed into the means of assertion of national identity The volume looks closely at the continuity and ruptures in scholarship caused by the establishment of Soviet power and challenges a number of existing stereotypes like total isolation under Communist rule and strict adherence to a Marxist Leninist methodology It showcases intellectual exchanges through published work personal contacts and ways to resist the politically enforced methodology Despite keeping the focus on one country it contributes to understanding the development of art history as an academic discipline in Europe more generally It also uncovers unknown or little researched personal and academic connections between art historians from Ukraine and their peers abroad Starting with the 19th century quest for the method and proceeding by disentangling the complexities of the 20th century the authors move on to the specifics of historiography after the formal collapse of the USSR The volume transgresses purely academic boundaries and tackles the development of the discourse in periodicals exhibition spaces and public discussions Thus the findings will be pertinent to all interested in politics art history museum studies intellectual history historiography and Eastern European studies
