Politics And Practices Of Intergovernmental Evaluation:

Politics and Practices of Inter-Governmental Evaluation Olaf Rieper, Jacques Toulemonde, 1997-01-01 To understand local responsibilities and requirements one must also understand the role that regional and national governmental agencies and administrations play Politics and Practices of Intergovernmental Evaluation is a landmark work in the area of the evaluation of intergovernmental policies programs and projects Comparative and cross national in its perspective the material presented here not only provides a systematic theoretical and empirical treatment of intergovernmental evaluation but does so with case material from seven nations and the European Union No other such comparative work exists on this topic Politics and Practices of Intergovernmental Evaluation will be of interest to political theorists policy makers and scholars and students of government and the evaluation community

Politics and Practices of Intergovernmental Evaluation Brian Crozier, Ray C. Rist, 2018-02-05 Great intellectual effort has gone into the development of sophisticated designs and methodologies to study individual policies programs and projects Costly efforts to find the smallest evidence of a policy or program impact have been undertaken in the presumption that such data are central to policy decision making Meanwhile the intergovernmental nature of political and policy governance has been ignored Whether it is Canada the United States England Denmark Sweden Germany Japan or any other industrial country the governmental structure is essentially a web of interrelated policies programs and projects To understand local responsibilities and requirements one must also understand the role that regional and national governmental agencies and administrations play Politics and Practice of Intergovernmental Evaluation is a landmark work in the area of the evaluation of intergovernmental policies programs and projects Comparative and cross national in its perspective the material presented here not only provides a systematic theoretical and empirical treatment of intergovernmental evaluation but does so with case material from seven nations and the European Union No other such comparative work exists on this topic Contributors include Jan Eric Furubo Mary Henkel Linda G Morra Robert V Segsworth and Dale H Poel and Willi Zimmermann and Peter Knoepfel The Politics and Practice of Intergovernmental Evaluation will be of interest to political theorists policymakers and scholars and students of government and the evaluation community

Mind the Gap

Phillip Allman, Jos Vaessen, 2017-07-28 Over the past twenty to thirty years evaluation has become increasingly important to the field of public policy. The number of people involved and specializing in evaluation has also increased markedly. Evidence of this trend can be found in the International Atlas of Evaluation, the establishment of new journals and evaluation societies, and the increase in systems of evaluation. Increasingly, the main reference point has become an assessment of the merit and value of interventions as such, rather than the evaluator's disciplinary background. This growing importance of evaluation as an activity has also led to an increasing demand for the type of competencies evaluators should have. Evaluation began as a niche area within the social and behavioral sciences. It subsequently became linked to policy research and analysis and has more recently become transdisciplinary. This volume demonstrates an association between the evaluation tradition in a particular country or policy field and the nature of the relationship between social and behavioral science research and evaluative practice. This book seeks to offer comprehensive data which lead to conclusions about patterns that transcend the gap between evaluation and the social scientific disciplines. Mind the Gap has a twofold aim. The first is to highlight and characterize the gap between evaluation practices and debates and the substantive knowledge debates within the social and behavioral sciences. The second is to show why this gap is problematic for the practice of evaluation while at the same time illustrating possible ways to build bridges. The book is centered on the value of producing useful evaluations grounded in social science theory and research. Local Economic and Employment Development (LEED) Evaluating Local Economic and Employment Development How to Assess What Works among Programmes and Policies OECD, 2004-11-30 This book examines best practices in evaluating programmes for local and regional economic and employment development.

Collaboration in Public Services Andrew Gray, 2003 The International Group for Policy and Program Evaluation INTEVAL serves as a forum for scholars and practitioners of public policy to discuss ideas and developments as a community dedicated to enhancing the contribution of evaluation to government. From the group's studies has emerged a concern with the impact of public management reforms. Collaboration in Public Services examines collaboration in the delivery of public policies and identifies the challenges for policy and program evaluation. Written by a mix of academics, program managers, evaluators, and auditors, this volume explores the forms and challenges of collaboration in different national contexts. Chapter 1 introduces the notion and manifestations of collaboration and discusses emerging issues. Chapter 2 examines partnerships and networks of public service delivery. Chapter 3, drawing on Dutch and British data, reveals the QUANGO as both a collaborative end and means. Chapter 4 analyzes Israel's push to enhance collaboration with voluntary organizations. Chapter 5 examines the Canadian and Danish experiences. Chapter 6 suggests that the creation of markets to improve quality has not been totally successful at least in Nordic countries. Chapter 7 suggests that traditional service values such as trust and parliamentary accountability are challenged by the complexity of collaboration but, using illustrations from Canada and other OECD countries, argues that results-based governance can increase trust, flexibility, and empowerment. Chapter 8 demonstrates from

Dutch and Canadian experiences that auditor responses to collaborative delivery tend to overlook traditional roles as guardians of accountability on behalf of parliaments Chapter 9 deliberates the efficacy of programs involving multiple partners Chapter 10 discusses the lessons and challenges of evaluation and collaborative government Andrew Gray is emeritus professor of public sector management University of Durham and deputy editor of Public Money and Management Bill Jenkins is professor of public policy and management at The University of Kent and deputy editor of Public Administration Frans Leeuw is chief review officer the Netherlands Inspectorate for Education and professor of sociology at Utrecht University John Mayne is a principal with the Office of the Auditor General of Canada Public Management Reform Christopher Pollitt, Geert Bouckaert, 2004 This is a comprehensive integrated analysis of the wave of management reforms which have swept through many countries including Australia Belgium Canada Finland France Germany Italy the Netherlands New Zealand Sweden the UK the USA and the European Commission MEANS Collection: Evaluation design and management ,1999
