Religion And Society A Text For Africa:

Religion and Society M. F. C. Bourdillon, 1991

Religion and Society in Sub-Saharan Africa and Southern Asia

Carole Rakodi, 2019-03-18 This book analyses how religion is entangled in people's lives in Sub-Saharan Africa and southern Asia. It provides an introduction to the teachings, practices and values promoted by the main religious traditions in these regions and an overview of the evidence on what religion means to people in terms of their beliefs and religious practices and how it influences their values, attitudes and day-to-day relationships with others, especially their families. Over the course of the book, Carole Rakodi explores similarities and differences between and within religious traditions and identifies some of the key factors that influence and explain the roles played by religion in people's personal lives and social relationships. A separate companion volume will go on to focus on the social and political roles and relationships of religious groups and organisations. This book will be of great interest to academics and students working in a range of disciplines, especially sociology, religious studies and development studies, but also anthropology, geography and area studies.

Law and Religion in Africa Pieter Coertzen, M. Christiaan Green, Len Hansen, 2015-05-01 In our time, the study of law and religion is emerging as a wide-ranging and vital academic discipline with increasingly urgent implications for society at large. Lying at the intersection of a variety of other disciplines—law, theology, religious studies, political science, sociology and anthropology—to name only the most obvious, the field of law and religion is generating a burgeoning volume of interdisciplinary and transdisciplinary research and study. The current volume is proof of this. The discussion of the relationship between law and religion, as seen from a variety of perspectives in Africa, underscores the critical importance of the issues involved in the everyday life of all citizens. It is accordingly vital for governments to take note of the scholarly results that are produced. We hope that this volume will contribute to this aim.

Dreaming, Religion and Society in Africa M.C. Jedrej, Rosalind

Shaw, 2023-11-20 The contributors to this investigation of dreaming in a diversity of African cultures and settings have each approached the matter with a respect for an indigenous discourse which does not necessarily subscribe to Western evaluations of the objective and subjective. The matter of dreaming is not so much a psychological constant as ultimately sociological and historical. Dream discourse as a strategy deploys contingencies in the elaboration of social relationships and the defence, restoration and promotion of identities. Dreaming is therefore prominent in such critical settings as sickness and healing, artistic inspiration and craftwork, election to religious office, conversion to Islam or Christianity.

Religious Freedom and Religious Pluralism in Africa Pieter Coertzen, M. Christian Green, Len Hansen, 2016-05-22 Africa continues to be a region with strong commitments to religious freedom and religious pluralism. These, however, are rarely mere facts on the ground; they are legal, political, social and theological projects that require considerable effort to realise. This volume, compiling the proceedings of the third annual conference of the African Consortium for Law and Religion Studies, focuses on various issues which vastly effect the understanding of religious pluralism in Africa. These include, amongst others, religious freedom as a human right the importance of managing religious pluralism and the permissibility of religious practice and observance in South African public schools

Africa's Social and Religious Quest Randee Ijatuyi-Morphé, 2014-01-30 This well crafted book probes the key dimensions of Africa's existential predicament. It constitutes an intellectual response to a gnawing African situation, the starting point for grasping Africa's social and religious quest. Beyond split explanations of external versus internal factors (e.g. colonization, slavery vs. leadership, cultural values), this study accounts more comprehensively for emergent issues shaping this situation. The situation reflects a gamut of problems in traditional African religion and material culture which hitherto defines African communality, politics and destinies vis-à-vis the cosmos and nature. Thus African religion and communities, each with its own attendant values, do not operate by critical engagement with larger issues of society and civilization, especially those shaped by the advent of post-modernity. Rather, they operate via adaptation. The communal drive for natural and social harmony inevitably produces a preservationist view of culture, leaving things as they are. This study takes an integrative approach to religion, society and civilization, eschews dichotomies and broadly defines and re-signifies life and wholeness as a true end of Africa's quest today.

Jewish Culture and Society in North Africa Emily Benichou Gottreich, Daniel J. Schroeter, 2011-07-01 With only a small remnant of Jews still living in the Maghrib at the beginning of the 21st century, the vast majority of today's inhabitants of North Africa have never met a Jew. Yet, as this volume reveals, Jews were an integral part of the North African landscape from antiquity. Scholars from Morocco, Algeria, Tunisia, Israel and the United States shed new light on Jewish life and Muslim-Jewish relations in North Africa through the lenses of history, anthropology, language and literature. The history and life stories told in this book illuminate the close cultural affinities and poignant relationships between Muslims and Jews and the uneasy coexistence that both united and divided them throughout the history of the Maghrib.

Religion and Social Development in Post-apartheid South Africa Ignatius Swart, Hermann Rocher, Sulina Green, Johannes Erasmus, 2010-10-01 It reflects original research and contributes to new developments in the field of theology and religion with regard to its developmental role within a transformation context. The book may easily stand out in future as seminal in the way that it promoted the social development debate of the church and its organisational structures from an interdisciplinary focus. Prof. Antoinette Lombard, Department of Social Work and Criminology, University of Pretoria.
