Religion Rationality:

Faith, Rationality and the Passions Sarah Coakley, 2012-07-20 Faith Rationality and the Passions presents a fresh and original examination of the relation of religious faith philosophical rationality and the passions Contributions see leading scholars refute the widely held belief that religious Enlightenment forced passion and reason apart Leading Philosophical experts offer new research on the relation of faith reason and the passions in classic and Enlightenment figures Overturns the widely held presumption that the Enlightenment was responsible for creating a gulf between reason and passion Presents original and innovative research on the importance of the late 19th century creation of the category of emotion and its striking difference from classic ideas of passion Brings together secular science and philosophy of emotion with philosophical theology to seek a new integration of belief emotion and reason Religion, Rationality and Community Robert Gascoigne, 2012-12-06 This study is an attempt to examine the relationships between religious belief and the humanism of the Enlightenment in the philosophy of Hegel and of a group of thinkers who related to his thought in various ways during the 1840 s It begins with a study of the ways in which Hegel attempted to evolve a genuinely Christian humanism by his demonstration that the modern understanding of man as a free and rational subject derived its strength and validity from the union of God and human existence in the incarnation The rest of this study is concerned with two different forms of opposition to Hegel first the critical discipleship of the Young Hegelians and Moses Hess who insisted that Hegel's notion of Christian humanism was false because religious belief was necessarily inimical to a clear consciousness of social evil and the determination to abolish it second the religious opposition to the Enlightenment in the thought of Schelling and Kierkegaard which emphasized God's transcendence to human reason and the insignificance of secular history In the years leading up to the revolution of 1848 Hegel's synthesis was rejected in favour of the assertion of atheistic humanism or religious otherworldliness Chapter One after discussing the young Hegel's critique of the social and political effects of Christianity examines the union of religious belief speculative philosophy and the rational state in Hegel's mature system

Rationality and Religious Theism Joshua L. Golding, 2017-11-22 Throughout the ages one of the central topics in philosophy of religion has been the rationality of theistic belief This book proposes that parties on both sides of this debate might shift their attention in a different direction by focusing on the question of whether it is rational to be a religious theist Explaining that having theistic beliefs is primarily a cognitive affair but being a religious theist involves a whole way of life that includes one's beliefs Golding argues that it can be pragmatically rational to be a religious theist even if the evidence for God's existence is minimal The argument is applied to the case of Judaism articulating what is involved in religious Judaism and arguing that it is rationally defensible to be a religious Jew The book concludes with a discussion of whether a similar argument might be constructed for other versions of religious theism such as Christianity or Islam and for non theistic religions such as Taoism or Buddhism Joshua Golding offers a carefully wrought explanation of how it can be rational for

The Rationality of Belief and the Plurality of Faith Thomas D.
