Religious Conversion: An African Perspective Carmody, Brendan, 2018-09-17 Religious Conversion An African Perspective includes a selection of key texts which are not easily accessible elsewhere Most of the chapters discuss the long standing thesis of Robin Horton who argues that religious change results from social transformation The contributors provide different perspectives on what remains an ongoing provocative though inconclusive debate The book has chapters on conversion in Africa from such authorities as Robin Horton Humphrey Fisher and Richard Gray It also contains chapters on Zambia by Elizaebeth Colson Brendan Carmody Austin Cheyeka Felix Phiri and W Van Binsbergen This collection of chapters provides an introduction to the discussion surrounding the query Did the Christian and Muslim messages bring something fundamentally new to the African religious horizon What has indigenisation meant What is the role of traditional religion

Religion and Anthropology Brian Morris, 2006 This important textbook provides a critical introduction to the social anthropology of religion focusing on more recent classical ethnographies Comprehensive free of scholastic jargon engaging and comparative in approach it covers all the major religious traditions that have been studied concretely by anthropologists Shamanism Buddhism Islam Hinduism Christianity and its relation to African and Melanesian religions and contemporary Neopaganism Eschewing a thematic approach and treating religion as a social institution and not simply as an ideology or symbolic system the book follows the dual heritage of social anthropology in combining an interpretative understanding and sociological analysis The book will appeal to all students of anthropology whether established scholars or initiates to the discipline as well as to students of the social sciences and religious studies and for all those interested in comparative religion

African Perspectives on Religion and Climate Change Ezra Chitando, Ernst M. Conradie, Susan M. Kilonzo, 2022-05-12 This book interrogates the contributions that religious traditions have made to climate change discussions within Africa whether positive or negative Drawing on a range of African contexts and religious traditions the book provides concrete suggestions on how individuals and communities of faith must act in order to address the challenge of climate change Despite the fact that Africa has contributed relatively little to historic carbon emissions the continent will be affected disproportionately by the increasing impact of anthropogenic climate change Contributors to this book provide a range of rich case studies to investigate how religious traditions such as Christianity Hinduism Islam and indigenous faiths influence the worldviews and actions of their adherents The chapters also interrogate how the moral authority and leadership provided by religion can be used to respond and adapt to the challenges posed by climate change Topics covered include risk reduction and resilience youth movements indigenous knowledge systems environmental degradation gender perspectives ecological theories and climate change financing This book will be of interest to scholars in diverse fields including religious studies sociology political science climate change and environmental humanities It may also benefit practitioners involved in solving community challenges related to climate change The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license

Ideologies and Infrastructures of Religious Urbanization in Africa David Garbin, Simon Coleman, Gareth Millington, 2022-11-17 How do urbanization and development intersect with religious dynamics to shape contemporary African cityscapes To answer this timely question contributors from across Europe North America and Africa are brought together to explore mega cities including Lagos Cape Town Dar es Salaam and Kinshasa as powerful venues for the creation and implementation of religious models of urbanization and development This book interrogates how religious socio spatial models and strategies engage with challenges of infrastructural development urban social cohesion inequalities and inclusion Chapters explore how faith based practices of urban and infrastructural development link moral subjectivities with individual and wider aspirations for modernization change deliverance and prosperity The volume brings together ethnographically rich and theoretically grounded case studies of religious urbanization across the African continent It advances discussions of the ambivalent role of urban religion in development and documents the complex multifaceted socio cultural and political dynamics associated with religious urbanization in Africa

Culture and Customs of Zambia Scott D. Taylor, 2006-10-30 Zambia stands out in Africa as one of the continent's most peaceful countries In its early years as an independent state Zambia became a regional bulwark against imperialism and colonial domination and South African apartheid Today it stands out as an important example of Africa's recent democratization experiencing both incredible success as well as some notable setbacks The country is also one of the most urbanized in Sub Saharan Africa As a result of this urban influx Zambia's diverse ethno linguistic groups interact regularly Moreover many contemporary Zambian households especially those in cities are also exposed to the media technology and influences of western urbanized cultures from Internet cafes to hip hop music The interesting ways that tradition and modernity conflict and combine in contemporary Zambia are prime considerations in this book This book explores Zambia's culture with an eye toward its historical experiences and its particular endowments It focuses on how traditional and modern interact and sometimes collide in the country through topics such as religion gender roles and family cuisine the arts literature and more The major groups are examined to give the reader an idea about how many Zambians live

Tonga Religious Life in the Twentieth Century Elizabeth Colson, 2007-10-15 The religious life of the Tonga speaking peoples of southern Zambia is examined over the last century in the sense of how they have thought about the nature of their world the meaning of their own lives and the sources of good and evil in which their cosmology and society have been transformed The twelve chapters cover Time Space and Language Basic Themes Tonga Religious Vocabulary and its Referents the Vocabulary of Shrines and Substance Homestead and Bush Ritual Communities and Actors Rituals of the Life Course Death and its Rituals Evil and Witchcraft and Christianity and Tonga Experience The author has drawn on dairies by research assistants and field notes and research of fellow anthropologists but above all from her own interaction with Tonga people since 1946 The older people gave first hand memories of Ndebele and Lozi raids David Livingstone encamped near their villages in 1856 and 1862 the arrival of colonial administrators traders missionaries and European and Indian settlers and in some cases the end of colonial rule Their experience and that of their children grandchildren and great grandchildren provides the basis for understanding Tonga religious experience Elizabeth Colson is an American anthropologist who is widely published on the Tonga Her research interests have particularly concentrated on the Gwembe Valley
