Remembering Forgetting:

Complexities and Dangers of Remembering and Forgetting in Rwanda Olivier Nyirubugara, 2013 Can a society a culture a country be trapped by its own memories The question is not easy to answer but it would not be a bad idea to cautiously say It depends This book is about one society Rwanda and its culture traditions identities and memories More specifically it discusses some of the ways in which ethnic identities and related memories constitute a deadly trap that needs to be torn apart if mass violence is to be eradicated in that country It looks into everyday cultural practices such as child naming and oral traditions myths and tales proverbs war poetry etc and into political practices that govern the ways in which citizens conceptualise the past Rwanda was engulfed in a bloody war from 1990 until 1994 the last episode of which was a genocide that claimed about a million lives amongst the Tutsi minority This book the first in the Memory Traps series provides a new understanding of how a seemingly quiet society can suddenly turn into a scene of the most horrible inter ethnic crimes It offers an analysis of the complexities and dangers resulting from the ways in which memories are managed both at a personal level and at a collective level The main point is that Rwandans have become hostages of their memories of the long gone and the recent past The book shows how these memories follow ethnic lines and lead to a state of cultural hypocrisy on the one hand and to permanent conflict either open and brutal or latent and beneath the surface on the other hand Written from a memory studies perspective and informed by critical theory philosophy literature oral history and psychology amongst others this book deals with some controversial subjects and deconstructs some of the received ideas about the recent and the long gone past of Rwanda About the author Olivier Nyirubugara is a lecturer of New Media and Online Journalism at the Erasmus School of History Culture and Communication Erasmus University Rotterdam In 2011 he completed a PhD in Media Studies at the University of Amsterdam with a dissertation entitled Surfing the Past Digital Learners in the History Class in which he empirically explored ways in which pupils use the Web to find historical information Nyirubugara has also been practicing journalism since 2002 and has been training and coaching journalists in mobile reporting in Africa since 2007

The Memory Illusion Dr Julia Shaw, 2016-06-16 THE INTERNATIONAL BESTSELLER Truly fascinating Steve Wright BBC Radio 2 Have you ever forgotten the name of someone you've met dozens of times Or discovered that your memory of an important event was completely different from everyone else's Or vividly recalled being in a particular place at a particular time only to discover later that you couldn't possibly have been We rely on our memories every day of our lives They make us who we are And yet the truth is they are far from being the accurate record of the past we like to think they are In The Memory Illusion forensic psychologist and memory expert Dr Julia Shaw draws on the latest research to show why our memories so often play tricks on us and how if we understand their fallibility we can actually improve their accuracy The result is an exploration of our minds that both fascinating and unnerving and that will make you question how much you can ever truly know about yourself Think you have a good memory Think again A spryly paced fun sometimes frightening exploration of how we remember and why everyone remembers things that never truly happened Pacific Standard The Feeling of Forgetting John Corrigan, 2023-07-06 A provocative examination of how religious practices of forgetting drive white Christian nationalism The dual traumas of colonialism and slavery are still felt by Native Americans and African Americans as victims of ongoing violence toward people of color today In The Feeling of Forgetting John Corrigan calls attention to the trauma experienced by white Americans as perpetrators of this violence By tracing memory's role in American Christianity Corrigan shows how contemporary white Christian nationalism is motivated by a widespread effort to forget the role race plays in American society White trauma Corrigan argues courses through American culture like an underground river that sometimes bursts forth into brutality terrorism and insurrection Tracing the river to its source is a necessary first step toward healing Forgetting to Remember Jenna Kemp, 2025-09-22 at Columbia University he focuses largely on patients who experience pathological forgetting and it is in contrast to their suffering that normal forgetting which we experience every day appears in sharp relief Until recently most everyone memory scientists included believed that forgetting served no purpose But new research in psychology neurobiology medicine and computer science tells a different story Forgetting is not a failure of our minds It s not even a benign glitch It is in fact good for us and alongside memory it is a required function for our minds to work best Forgetting benefits our cognitive and creative abilities emotional well being and even our personal and societal health As frustrating as a typical lapse can be it s precisely what opens up our minds to making better decisions experiencing joy and relationships and flourishing artistically From studies of bonobos in the wild to visits with the iconic painter Jasper Johns and the renowned decision making expert Daniel Kahneman Small looks across disciplines to put new scientific findings into illuminating context while also revealing groundbreaking developments about Alzheimer s disease The next time you forget where you left your keys remember that a little forgetting does a lot of good
