British Policy and Strategy towards Norway, 1941-45 C. Mann, 2012-11-19 After the German occupation of 1940 Britain was forced to reassess its relationship with Norway a country largely on the periphery of the main theatres of the Second World War Christopher Mann examines British military policy towards Norway concentrating on the commando raids deception planning and naval operations Wielding the Dagger Mark D. Karau, 2003-10-30 In August 1914 Admiral Alfred von Tirpitz convinced the German armed forces to create a new unit called the Marine Division Flanders to garrison the Belgian coastline and prepare naval bases in for the implementation of a naval guerrilla war against Great Britain The Germans called their strategy Kleinkrieg or little war and they intended to whittle away at British naval superiority by using their submarines and destroyers Later expanded into the MarineKorps the unit soon found itself in the middle of a land war as well What had been intended as a garrison unit found itself on the frontlines when the war stalemated The British had traditionally seen Belgium as a dagger pointed at the throat of England and the Royal Navy feared what use the Germans might make of the position The result was an active naval campaign in the English Channel Karau brings to light the contributions of the MarineKorps Flanders a force often neglected by historians He examines the role of the MarineKorps in both land and naval wars and reaffirms the increasingly important role played by aircraft in the Flanders theater If Belgium was a weapon pointed at the British throat were the Germans properly equipped to wield the dagger

St Nazaire Raid, 1942 Stephen Wynn, 2022-04-21 The raid on St Nazaire has gone down in history as one of the most daring commando raids of all time Given the code name of Operation Chariot it took place in the early hours of Saturday 28 March 1942 and was a joint undertaking by the Royal Navy and British Commando units The port at St Nazaire which sits on the Loire estuary and the Atlantic Ocean has a dry dock that was capable of accommodating some of Germany's biggest naval vessels such as the Bismarck or the Tirpitz By putting the port out of action any repairs or maintenance work that needed to be carried out would instead have to be undertaken back home at the German port of Bremerhaven To do this the German vessels would either have to navigate the waters of the English Channel or the North Sea with both journeys potentially bringing them to the attention of the Home Fleet of the Royal Navy A raiding force of 612 officers and men were assembled and dispatched from Falmouth to carry out the raid sailing on board the obsolete British destroyer HMS Campbeltown along with 18 Motor Launches The idea was to ram the destroyer in to the outer gates of the dry dock at St Nazaire and put it out of action for as long as possible The raid was a success but came at a price of those who set out 169 were killed whilst a further 215 were captured Only 3 Motor Launches and 228 men escaped and made the return journey back to the UK Many brave men gave it their all during the action at St Nazaire to such an extent that 89 of those who took part in the raid were awarded decorations for bravery including 5 who were awarded the Victoria Cross

The Mountbatten Report, New Edition John Ainsworth-Davis, Ami de Creighton, 2014-12-29 John Ainsworth Davis JAD was a British WWII Naval agent Spy Assassin working directly for Prime Minister Winston Churchill Commissioned by Lord Louis Mountbatten this report is JAD's very personal account of his growing up on the Chartwell estate as Desmond Morton's Godson and his subsequent grooming to become one of WWII's most controversial secret agents. It also touches on JAD's introduction into privileged British and German society through his father Jack, a British Olympic Gold medalist, and his father's close friend, the German Ambassador to London, Joachim von Ribbentrop. Ribbentrop later became Hitler's trusted Foreign Minister and was one of the first Nazis to be hanged at Nuremberg in 1946. JAD speaks candidly of his experiences of love, war, and betrayal up to early 1945. The Mountbatten Report is the prelude to Operation JAMES BOND (OPJB), a highly covert 1945 British op in which JAD assisted Commander Ian Fleming RNVR in the rescue of Hitler's handler and money man, Martin Bormann.

Churchill and Fisher Barry Gough, 2017-10-06

A vivid study of the politics and stress of high command, this book describes the decisive roles of young Winston Churchill as political head of the Admiralty during the First World War. Churchill was locked together in a perilous destiny with the ageing British Admiral Jacky Fisher, the professional master of the British Navy and the creator of the enormous battleships known as Dreadnoughts. Upon these Titans at the Admiralty rested British command of the sea at the moment of its supreme test: the challenge presented by the Kaiser's navy under the dangerous Admiral Alfred von Tirpitz. Churchill and Fisher had vision, genius, and energy, but the war unfolded in unexpected ways. There were no Trafalgars, no Nelsons. Press and Parliament became battlegrounds for a public expecting decisive victory at sea. An ill-fated Dardanelles adventure by ships alone as Churchill determined on top of the Zeppelin raids on Britain brought about Fisher's departure from the Admiralty in turn bringing down Churchill. They spent the balance of the war in the virtual wilderness. This dual biography, based on fresh and thorough appraisal of the Churchill and Fisher papers, is a story for any military history buff. It is about Churchill's and Fisher's war: how each fought it, how they waged it together, and how they fought against each other, face to face or behind the scenes. It reveals a strange and unique pairing of sea lords who found themselves facing Armageddon and seeking to maintain the primacy of the Royal Navy, the guardian of trade, the succour of the British peoples, and the shield of Empire.
