Mendelssohn Remembered:

Mendelssohn Remembered Roger Nichols, 1997 If Mendelssohn had known he would die before he was forty he could scarcely have filled his life with more activity and achievement His startling precocity is equalled perhaps only by Mozart though Mozart was never a skilled painter and caricaturist a subtle student of philosophy and literature or an admired musicologist and promoter of other people's music

The Cambridge History of Musical Performance Colin Lawson, Robin Stowell, 2012-02-16 The intricacies and challenges of musical performance have recently attracted the attention of writers and scholars to a greater extent than ever before Research into the performer's experience has begun to explore such areas as practice techniques performance anxiety and memorisation as well as many other professional issues Historical performance practice has been the subject of lively debate way beyond academic circles mirroring its high profile in the recording studio and the concert hall Reflecting the strong ongoing interest in the role of performers and performance this History brings together research from leading scholars and historians and importantly features contributions from accomplished performers whose practical experiences give the volume a unique vitality Moving the focus away from the composers and onto the musicians responsible for bringing the music to life this History presents a fresh integrated and innovative perspective on performance history and practice from the earliest times to today

The History of Mendelssohn's Oratorio 'Elijah' Frederick George Edwards, 1896

The Soul of the Journey Diana Ambache, 2021-10-07 Brother and sister Felix and Fanny Mendelssohn enjoyed a rare bond they were intimate companions and theirs was one of the most significant musical relationships of the 19th century They shared and commented on each other's compositions each highly appreciative of the other but also offering frank critical advice Their travels produced some great music Felix's best loved works the Hebrides Overture and the Scottish Symphony were inspired by his 1829 visit to Scotland whilst Fanny's innovative piano cycle Das Jahr was a musical response to the tour of Italy she made in 1839-40 Combining letters and sketches with an accompanying narrative describing their journeys this is a wonderful celebration of the two Mendelssohns and a portrait of Scotland and Italy of the time as seen through the eyes of two of the Romantic movement's most acclaimed composers

Moses Mendelssohn's Living Script Elias Sacks, 2016-12-12 Moses Mendelssohn 1729-1786 is often described as the founder of modern Jewish thought and as a leading philosopher of the late Enlightenment One of Mendelssohn's main concerns was how to conceive of the relationship between Judaism philosophy and the civic life of a modern state Elias Sacks explores Mendelssohn's landmark account of Jewish practice Judaism's living script to use his famous phrase to present a broader reading of Mendelssohn's writings and extend inquiry into conversations about modernity and religion By studying Mendelssohn's thought in these dimensions Sacks suggests that he shows a deep concern with history Sacks affords a view of a foundational moment in Jewish modernity and forwards new ways of thinking about ritual practice the development of traditions and the role of religion in society
