Coral reefs are massive undersea communities. Almost one-quarter of all the plants and animals in the ocean live around coral reefs. The reef is like a huge underwater city. The coral is like the buildings and thousands of animals bustle around day and night just like people.

Coral may look like rocks or plants. They are actually made of tiny animals called polyps. Most polyps are only the size of a pin or pea. They have tiny tentacles that they catch tiny animals to eat.

There are hundreds of kinds of coral. Most of them are divided into two groups, stony and soft corals. Stony coral have a hard skeleton and do not move. Soft coral grow wood-like cores and can bend with the tide.

Almost a quarter of the world's coral reefs have been destroyed. It is up to all of us to help prevent reef destruction. Even if you don't live near the ocean, you can help by conserving water and recycling.
