Reflection And Action:

The Reflective Practitioner Donald A. Schon, 2008-08-06 A leading M I T social scientist and consultant examines five professions engineering architecture management psychotherapy and town planning to show how professionals really go about solving problems The best professionals Donald Schon maintains know more than they can put into words To meet the challenges of their work they rely less on formulas learned in graduate school than on the kind of improvisation learned in practice This unarticulated largely unexamined process is the subject of Schon s provocatively original book an effort to show precisely how reflection in action works and how this vital creativity might be fostered in future professionals Reflection in Action Bairbre Redmond, 2017-03-02 Newly available in paperback this original and informative volume outlines a new well designed reflective teaching and learning model that can be used with single or multi disciplinary groups of students and professionals It offers an overview of the origins of the different theories of reflection and explains how different levels of reflection can be understood and incorporated into everyday teaching and training Outlining specific teaching and learning techniques to be used in training situations it also includes examples of how these techniques have been successfully used with groups of professionals from health and social care areas This edition features a substantive new preface bringing the book up to date with recent developments in the field It is a well researched guide to both the theory and the practice of reflection and it also offers those who teach and train professionals a clearly delineated reflective model for use in the classroom or professional training environment Introduction to Critical Reflection and Action for Teacher

Researchers Bernie Sullivan, Máirín Glenn, Mary Roche, Caitriona McDonagh, 2016-04-28 Introduction to Critical Reflection and Action for Teacher Researchers provides crucial direction for educators looking to improve their teaching and maximise learning While many students can grasp the basic elements of researching their practice and can write about practitioner research some need guidance and assistance to reflect meaningfully on their teaching practice so as to articulate their educational values This book provides this guidance By exploring how to engage in an authentic practical and personalised framework the book encourages critical reflection and action on educational practice Moving through the process of reflecting on practice engaging in critical thinking and planning and taking action it helps the reader to subsequently generate educational theory from their own personal learning Examples from the authors experiences illustrate the issues raised in each section with Pause and Reflect activities guidelines for conducting a research project and annotated further reading available for every chapter Introduction to Critical Reflection and Action for Teacher Researchers is based on the idea that reflection is in itself a deliberate action and something we must live it is key to understanding our practice and is a core component of action research This book is a valuable guide for teachers trainee teachers and researchers interested in reflecting on and enhancing their teaching practice Action Research and Reflective Practice Paul McIntosh, 2010-01-21 The use of reflection as a tool to support and develop practice is becoming increasingly recognised across education healthcare and the social sciences Reflection is assumed to create depth of knowledge and meaning both for self and those practised upon Running alongside the use of reflection is the prevalent use of action research which some see as a way of approaching the study of human beings from a philosophical perspective in which sharing takes place within mutually supportive environments As a result many academics and practitioners suggest that one cannot improve the methodology of action research without considering philosophical reflection In Action Research and Reflective Practice the author argues that reflective practice and action research can become mechanistic in their use unless fresh creative approaches are employed Exploring the tension between the use of evidence based practice based upon solid objective research and reflection with its subjectivity and personal perception this book argues that reflection is research The author increases the use and effectiveness of both action research and reflection through the application of new creative and visual approaches Action Research and Reflective Practice demonstrates that creative approaches can be utilised effectively in critically reflexive ways creating a new style of action research that is both innovative and theoretically robust The resultant approach will improve evidence based research in education healthcare and other social sciences to enhance perception and understanding of events identity and self This book will be highly beneficial to undergraduate and postgraduate students as well as educational and social researchers across a broad range of subjects within the social sciences Critical
