Galdikas,1995-03-31 The Madame Curie Complex Julie Des Jardins,2010-10-06 Why are the fields of science and technology still considered to be predominantly male professions The Madame Curie Complex moves beyond the most common explanations limited access to professional training lack of resources exclusion from social networks of men to give historical context and unexpected revelations about women s contributions to the sciences Exploring the lives of Jane Goodall Rosalind Franklin Rosalyn Yalow Barbara McClintock Rachel Carson and the women of the Manhattan Project Julie Des Jardins considers their personal and professional stories in relation to their male counterparts Albert Einstein Robert Oppenheimer Enrico Fermi to demonstrate how the gendered culture of science molds the methods structure and experience of the work With lively anecdotes and vivid detail The Madame Curie Complex reveals how women scientists have often asked different questions used different methods come up with different explanations for phenomena in the natural world and how they have forever transformed a scientist s role Reflections from Eden II Theodore C. Clarke,2003-09

Storytelling Apes Mary Sanders Pollock,2015-05-04 The annals of field primatology are filled with stories about charismatic animals native to some of the most challenging and remote areas on earth There are for example the chimpanzees of Tanzania whose social and family interactions Jane Goodall has studied for decades the mountain gorillas of the Virungas chronicled first by George Schaller and then later more obsessively by Dian Fossey various species of monkeys Indian langurs Kenyan baboons and Brazilian spider monkeys studied by Sarah Hrdy Shirley Strum Robert Sapolsky Barbara Smuts and Karen Strier and finally the orangutans of the Bornean woodlands whom Birut Galdikas has observed passionately Humans are after all storytelling apes The narrative urge is encoded in our DNA along with large brains nimble fingers and color vision traits we share with lemurs monkeys and apes In Storytelling Apes Mary Sanders Pollock traces the development and evolution of primatology field narratives while reflecting upon the development of the discipline and the changing conditions within natural primate habitat Like almost every other field primatologist who followed her Jane Goodall recognized the individuality of her study animals defying formal scientific protocols she named her chimpanzee subjects instead of numbering them thereby establishing a trend For Goodall Fossey Sapolsky and numerous other scientists whose works are discussed in Storytelling Apes free living primates became fully realized characters in romances tragedies comedies and never ending soap operas With this work Pollock shows readers with a humanist perspective that science writing can have remarkable literary value encourages scientists to share their passions with the general public and inspires the conservation community New York Magazine ,1972-06-12 New York magazine was born in 1968 after a run as an insert of the New York Herald Tribune and quickly made a place for itself as the trusted resource for readers across the country With award winning writing and photography covering everything from politics and food to theater and fashion the magazine s consistent mission has been to reflect back to its audience the energy and excitement of the city itself while celebrating New York as both a place and an idea
