

Theater Attendance Reflection

For my theater attendance, I went to see the production of Legally Blonde at Reynolds Theater in the Bryan Center. I really enjoyed this rendition of the classic show, largely because of the musical numbers and festive costumes. Legally Blonde is based off of the movie about a stereotypical “dumb blonde” who spends all of her time shopping and primping. When her longtime boyfriend, Warren, breaks up with her to go to Harvard Law School and be with someone more “serious”, Elle decides she’s going to become the type of woman Warren left her for and get admitted into Harvard Law School to become an attorney. By the end, she changes everyone’s perception of her and discovers her new passion while realizing she deserves so much better than Warren.

I most thoroughly enjoyed Elle’s performance and I was intrigued by her take on the well known character. It is often difficult to play characters that the audience recognizes because there is already an expectation for you to perform or act a certain way that corresponds to the versions they’ve seen. This can make it difficult for an actor to make a character their own, but Elle did a really nice job of personalizing her character. She definitely pushed the boundaries of her character and performed the archetype of a “dumb blonde” very dramatically but not over the top. It was done in a way that only emphasized her transformation by the end and I admire how an actress can embody those dynamics on stage. I also liked watching the actor who played Warren perform because you could tell he was a beginner and took his role very seriously, which I appreciated as both an audience and someone who recognizes the effort that goes into performing.
