peculiar to myself I think he will be mistaken That science has long been neglected and declining in England is not an opinion originating with me but is shared by many and has been expressed by higher authority than mine I shall offer a few notices on this subject which from their scattered position are unlikely to have met the reader s attention and which when combined with the facts I have detailed in subsequent pages will be admitted to deserve considerable attention The following extract from the article Chemistry in the Encyclopaedia Metropolitana is from the pen of a gentleman equally qualified by his extensive reading and from his acquaintance with foreign nations to form an opinion entitled to respect Differing from him widely as to the cause I may be permitted to cite him as high authority for the fact Reflections on the Decline of Science in England Charles Babbage, Gerard Moll, 2015-08-08 This work has been selected by scholars as being culturally important and is part of the knowledge base of civilization as we know it This work was reproduced from the original artifact and remains as true to the original work as possible Therefore you will see the original copyright references library stamps as most of these works have been housed in our most important libraries around the world and other notations in the work This work is in the public domain in the United States of America and possibly other nations Within the United States you may freely copy and distribute this work as no entity individual or corporate has a copyright on the body of the work As a reproduction of a historical artifact this work may contain missing or blurred pages poor pictures errant marks etc Scholars believe and we concur that this work is important enough to be preserved reproduced and made generally available to the public We appreciate your support of the preservation process and thank you for being an important part of keeping this knowledge alive and relevant
