Remaking The Global Economy Economic Geographical Perspectives

James H. Mittelman

Remaking The Global Economy Economic Geographical Perspectives:

Remaking The Global Economy, 2003 Remaking the Global Economy offers a state of the art survey of geographical perspectives on the restructuring and reorganization of the global economy With contributions from leading figures in the globalization debate the book explores the latest thinking and research as well as the enduring controversies across a range of interrelated issues including firm strategies and business knowledge interactions between firms and nation states production and innovation systems transnationalism and labour markets state restructuring Each of the specially commissioned chapters presents interdisciplinary insights into the complex processes of economic globalization and their impact on the organization of firms markets industries regions and institutions An integrated and comprehensive account this is a resume of the latest work in the literature on globalization that will provide a detailed map of the geography of the global economy

Hegemony John Agnew, 2005-04-08 Hegemony tells the story of the drive to create consumer capitalism abroad through political pressure and the promise of goods for mass consumption In contrast to the recent literature on America as empire it explains that the primary goal of the foreign and economic policies of the United States is a world which increasingly reflects the American way of doing business not the formation or management of an empire Contextualizing both the Iraq war and recent plant closings in the U S noted author John Agnew shows how American hegemony has created a world in which power is no longer only shaped territorially He argues in a sobering conclusion that we are consequently entering a new era of global power one in which the world the US has made no longer works to its singular advantage

Globalization: The Key Concepts Annabelle Mooney, Betsy Evans, 2007-03-12 Viewed as a destructive force or an inevitability of modern society globalization is the focus of a multitude of disciplines A clear understanding of its processes and terminology is imperative for anyone engaging with this ubiquitous topic Globalization the Key Concepts offers a comprehensive guide to this cross disciplinary subject and covers concepts such as homogenization neo Liberalism risk knowledge society time space compression reflexivity With extensive cross referencing and suggestions for further reading this book is an essential resource for students and interested readers alike as they navigate the literature on globalization studies

Geographies of Globalization Warwick E. Murray, 2006-05-05 This informative text offers a geographical perspective on globalization It provides a lively exploration of its spatial impacts and the distinctive contribution of human geography to studies and debates in this field Fully up to date and engaging this work critically appraises the concept and processes of globalization from a geographical perspective debates the historical evolution of globalized society illustrates how the core principles of human geography such as space and scale lead to a better understanding of the phenomenon analyzes the interconnected economic political and cultural geographies of globalization examines the impact of global transformations on the ground using examples from six continents discusses the challenges for the environment and the Third World created by globalizing processes articulates a human geographical framework for progressive globalization

Throughout boxed sections highlight and clearly explain key concepts and showcase classic and innovative work Highly illustrated with figures photographs and maps this book also includes chapter summaries and annotated further reading It will be indispensable for human geography sociology political science and development studies undergraduates and postgraduates studying the phenomenon on both dedicated and linked courses Contesting Global Order James H. Mittelman, 2011-02-25 Contesting Global Order traces dominant values and patterns on a world level over the last half century Including a framing introduction written for the volume this book presents James H Mittelman's most influential essays It offers cross regional analysis drawing on his fieldwork in nine countries in Africa and Asia This research explores mechanisms by which prevailing knowledge about global order is implicated in its deep tensions chiefly the impetus for development and global governance embodies aspirations for attaining wellbeing and upholding human dignity yet market and state driven globalization embraces basic ideas inscribed in power thus increasing vulnerability and making the world more insecure Rather than exalt one element in this quandary over another Mittelman shows how different aspects of the relationship collide Examining cases of specific localities international organizations and social movements this grounded study unveils evolving structures that shape our times It projects scenarios for future global order and how to make it work for the have nots Mittelman consistently forges a critical perspective throughout this collection His reflections cut against conventions in international studies and more generally global order This volume will be of great interest to all students and practitioners of development global governance and globalization conceptual and theoretical approaches and future developments in local and regional development Critical Globalization Studies Richard P. Appelbaum, William I. Robinson, 2005 First Published in 2005 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Globalizing Regional Development in East Asia Henry Wai-chung Yeung, 2013-09-13 Significant historical and geographical differences account for the many processes and trajectories of regional development in East Asia These historical and geographical specificities in East Asia have prompted serious re examination of existing theories in regional development and in particular the new regionalism approach associated with such ideas as the learning region institutional thickness relational assets and regional innovation system This book brings together a group of leading researchers specializing in local and regional development in East Asian economies Through in depth empirical studies of specific regions and localities these authors offer fresh and innovative perspectives on how regions evolve and develop over time in the world s most dynamic macro regional economy In particular their work points to the critical importance of local and trans local processes in shaping regional development trajectories The book is timely given that the debate on the nature and dynamics of regional development in both academic and policy circles has now moved on From the earlier focus on endogenous regional assets such as localized networks of association and trust scholars and policymakers are now analyzing the complex relationship between economic globalization and regional change This high calibre collection makes a significant contribution to the literature on local and regional development in Asia and provides an important resource for researchers students and policy makers interested in East Asia This book was published as a special issue of Regional Studies De Gruyter Handbook of Media Economics Ulrike Rohn, M. Bjørn Rimscha, Tim Raats, 2024-05-20 The handbook presents key contributions from scholars worldwide providing a comprehensive exploration of current trends in media industries from diverse perspectives Within the framework of understanding contemporary and future trajectories in media markets and industries the volume delves into their influence on media organization and delivery along with broader societal and market implications Encompassing research at the crossroads of economics management political economy and production studies the handbook emphasizes the necessity for a robust interdisciplinary dialogue Beyond scrutinizing present and forthcoming industry developments the handbook addresses pivotal issues pertaining to media economics research methods and pedagogy It serves as a valuable resource for scholars students and media professionals providing insights into media economics as an academic field and delving into the multifaceted dynamics that shape the media landscape Doing this it contributes to the ongoing discourse on the evolving nature of media markets and their profound impact on society

Residential Segregation in Comparative Perspective Kuniko Fujita, 2016-04-08 We know very little about variations in urban class and ethnic segregation among nations and even less about differences among cities in different regions of the world Spatial organization places and neighbourhoods matters significantly in some cities in reproducing class relations and ethno racial hierarchies but may be much less important in others The degree and the impact of segregation depend upon contextual diversity By emphasizing the importance of contextual diversity in the study of urban residential segregation the book questions currently popular urban theories such as global city neoliberal urbanism and gentrification These theories tend to dissociate cities from their national and regional context and thus ignore their history culture politics and institutions The aim of this book is to introduce the significantly different urban experiences in social and spatial segregation patterns and rationales which exist among the world's regions and to demonstrate that urban theory needs to draw systematically upon this wide range of experiences The cities selected Athens Beijing Budapest Copenhagen Hong Kong Madrid Paris São Paulo Taipei and Tokyo were chosen in order to achieve geographical spread to maximise the diversity of types of socioeconomic regulation This volume is thus able to avoid the interpretative limitations and misconstructions resulting from universalizing the Anglo American experience
