Remaking Planning Politics Of Urban Change:

Remaking Planning Tim Brindley, 1996 Remaking Planning Tim Brindley, Yvonne Rydin, Gerry Stoker, 1989 This book challenges the view that planning under the Thatcher governments has simply been abandoned to market forces aiming to show that the interrelation of state and market is central to all current styles of planning Case studies ranging across the country are also presented The Politics and Ideology of Planning Tim Marshall, 2020-12-09 Planning is a battleground of ideas and interests perhaps more visibly and continuously than ever before in the UK These battles play out nationally and at every level from cities to the smallest neighbourhoods Marshall goes to the root of current planning models and exposes who is acting for what purposes across these battlegrounds He examines the ideological structuring of planning and the interplay of political forces which act out conflicting interest positions This book discusses how structures of planning can be improved and explores how we can generate more effective political engagements in the future Transforming Urban

Waterfronts Gene Desfor, Jennefer Laidley, Quentin Stevens, Dirk Schubert, 2010-10-04 The collection engages with major theoretical debates and empirical findings on how waterfronts transform and have been transformed in port cities in North and South America Europe and the Caribbean It brings together authors from a broad range of disciplinary backgrounds to tackle vital questions of waterfront development Urban Process and Power Peter Ambrose, 2002-06-01 Urban Process and Power has two chief aims Firstly it analyses and explains a century of the production and reproduction of the urban environment in which most of us live Secondly the book focuses on recent changes in the control of these processes and the ideology that has brought these changes about Immense disparities exist between the best and the worst urban areas in Britain Why do these differences arise and how are they perpetuated The author argues that the growth of such inequality is linked to questions of accountability and the increasing erosion of a democratic principle in the urban process Impacts of European Territorial Policies in the Baltic States Garri Raagmaa, Dominic Stead, 2017-10-02 Urban and regional development in the Baltic States and other Central and Eastern European countries has experienced rapid changes since their re independence at the beginning of the 1990s Meanwhile urban and regional planning institutions and organizational cultures in the Baltic States have only changed rather incrementally despite various national and European pressures for reform As a consequence the effects of European cohesion and structural policy measures have been quite modest and the ability of the planning systems in the Baltic states to manage contemporary trends in urban and regional development has become increasingly limited This book focuses on these issues and tensions of spatial planning and development in the Baltic States and their distinctiveness compared to other European countries It provides an overview of the historical and cultural context of spatial development a discussion of the processes of Europeanization of spatial planning in the specific context of the Baltic States and an analysis of whether these processes may be leading to policy convergence in the region This book was published as a special issue of European Planning Studies Delivering New Homes Matthew Carmona, Sarah

Carmona, Nick Gallent, 2003 This book examines the processes and relationships that underpin the delivery of new homes across the United Kingdom focussing primarily on the land use planning system in England the way that housing providers engage with that system and how the processes of engagement are changing or might change in the future Planning market and social house building the three key processes are first dissected and explored individually then brought together to study the key areas of interaction between planning and the providers of social and market housing by way of the range of tensions that have consistently dogged those interactions Extensive illustrative case study material provides a platform to the consideration of developing more integrated realistic and proactive approaches to planning Proposing evolutionary and sometimes radical proposals for change Delivering New Homes makes a bold contribution to finding a better way of delivering the new homes that the nation increasingly needs Contemporary British Fiction and the Cultural Politics of Disenfranchisement A. Beaumont, 2015-12-05 By examining the representation of urban space in contemporary British fiction this book argues that key to the political left's strategy was a model of action which folded politics into culture and elevated disenfranchisement to the status of a political principle Reconstituting Rurality Jonathan Murdoch, Terry Marsden, 2013-10-11 The second in the Restructuring Rural Areas series this work presents an examination of the way in which the rural and the concept of rurality is being reconstructed within urban regions It argues that the rural is not a fixed category but the outcome of political economic and socio cultural pressures These pressures are exacerbated in southeast England an area dominated by London and the patterns of growth associated with that city Through close analysis of key land development processes and a series of village studies the authors give a forceful demonstration of the way in which certain social groups are becoming increasingly influential in determining the material and social shape of rural areas in the United Kingdom The formation of class identity it is argued is closely bound up with the formation of certain local spaces class and space must be considered as combined elements in the development of rural locales To illustrate this the authors document in detail the means by which dominant groups represent themselves within the development process and show how the exclusion of certain kinds of development leads to the exclusion of certain social groups The Rise of Progressive Cities East and West Mike Douglass, Romain Garbaye, K. C. Ho, 2019-02-25 This book explores the leading role that cities can play in shaping progressive policies in collaboration with various stakeholders It examines the timing of such shifts to progressivity in cities the interactions that enable progressive actions to be developed and sustained and the challenges and constraints facing progressive cities The book approaches the themes using an array of methods to investigate how progressive city governments emerge what constitutes a progressive city in terms of governance institutions processes and outcomes and whether progressive cities are destined to be ephemeral or if they can be sustained over time With its focus on the emerging role of local governments in shaping city futures this book is useful for students academics government official and policy makers interested in geography sociology urban planning public policy political economy social movements
