Renaissance Society And Culture Essays In Honor Of Eugene F Rice Jr:

Renaissance Society and Culture John Monfasani, Ronald G. Musto, 1991 Renaissance Society and Culture John Monfasani, Ronald G. Musto, 1991 Studies in Renaissance Thought and Letters, vol. IV, Cultural Exchange in Early Modern Europe Robert Muchembled, William Monter, 2006 This 2007 volume reveals how a first European identity was forged from the fifteenth to the seventeenth centuries Cultural exchange played a central role in the elites fashioning of self The cultures they exchanged and often integrated with included palaces dresses and jewellery but also gestures and dances

The Idea of the Library in the Ancient World Yun Lee Too, 2010-01-07 In The Idea of the Library in the Ancient World Yun Lee Too argues that the ancient library was much more than its incarnation at Alexandria which has been the focus for students of the subject up till now In fact the library is a complex institution with many different forms It can be a building with books but it can also be individual people or the individual books themselves In antiquity the library's functions are numerous as an instrument of power of memory of which it has various modes as an articulation of a political ideal an art gallery a place for sociality Too indirectly raises important conceptual questions about the contemporary library bringing to these the insights that a study of antiquity can offer The Envy of Angels C. Stephen Jaeger, 2013-08-31 Before the rise of universities cathedral schools educated students in a course of studies aimed at perfecting their physical presence their manners and their eloquence The formula of cathedral schools was letters and manners litterae et mores which asserts a pedagogic program as broad as the modern letters and science The main instrument of what C Stephen Jaeger calls charismatic pedagogy was the master's personality his physical presence radiating a transforming force to his students In The Envy of Angels Jaeger explores this intriguing chapter in the history of ideas and higher learning and opens a new view of intellectual and social life in eleventh and early twelfth century Europe The Origins of the State in Italy, 1300-1600 Julius Kirshner, 2009-05-15 The beginnings of the state in Europe is a central topic of contemporary historical research The making of such early modern Italian regional states as Florence the kingdom of Naples Milan and Venice exemplifies a decisive turn in the state tradition of Western Europe The Origins of the State in Italy 1300 1600 represents the best in American British and Italian scholarship and offers a valuable and critical overview of the key problems of the emergence of the state in Europe Some of the topics covered include the political legitimacy of the aborning regional states the changing legal culture the conflict between church and state the forces shaping public finances and the creation of the Italian League The eight essays in this collection originally appeared in the Journal of Modern History Contributors include Roberto Bizzocchi Giorgio Chittolini Trevor Dean Riccardo Fubini Elena Fasano Guarini Aldo Mazzacane Anthony Molho and Pierangelo Schiera This volume will appeal to historians historical sociologists and historians of political thought The Cambridge Critical Guide to Latin Literature Roy Gibson, Christopher Whitton, 2024-01-18 The Cambridge Critical Guide to Latin Literature offers a critical overview of work on Latin literature Where are we How did we get here Where to next Fifteen commissioned chapters along with an extensive introduction and Mary Beard's postscript approach these questions from a range of angles. They aim not to codify the field but to give snapshots of the discipline from different perspectives and to offer provocations for future development. The Critical Guide aims to stimulate reflection on how we engage with Latin literature. Texts, tools, and territories are the three areas of focus. The Guide situates the study of classical Latin literature within its global context from late antiquity to Neo Latin, moving away from an exclusive focus on the pre-200 CE corpus. It recalibrates links with adjoining disciplines: history, philosophy, material culture, linguistics, political thought, Greek, and takes a fresh look at key tools: editing, reception, intertextuality, theory.

Re-membering Masculinity in Early Modern Florence

Allison Levy, 2017-03-02. From Pliny to Petrarch to Pope Hennessy and beyond, many have understood the obvious connection between portraiture and commemorative practice. This book expands and nuances our understanding of Renaissance portraiture; the author shows it to be complexly generated within a discourse of male anxiety and pre-mortuary mourning. She argues that portraiture could defer memory loss or, at the very least, pictorially console the subject against his own potentially unmourned death. This book recognizes a socio-cultural anxiety, the fear not merely of death but also of being forgotten, and identifies a set of pictorial, literary, and theoretical strategies consequently formulated to ensure memory. To explore this phenomenon, this interdisciplinary but fundamentally art-historical project merges early modern visual culture and critical theories of the body. The author examines an extensive selection of fifteenth and sixteenth-century male and female portraits primarily associated with the Medici family circle and court, in and against both historical writings and contemporary discourses including literary and cultural theory, psychoanalysis, feminism, and gender studies, and critical theories of race and disability. Re-membering Masculinity generates new ideas about both male and female portraiture in early modern Florence, raises even more questions about the experiences and representations of widowhood and mourning, and reconfigures our understanding of masculinity from the early modern male body to Renaissance Man to postmodern manhood.

Impagination - Layout and Materiality of Writing and Publication

Ku-ming (Kevin) Chang, Anthony Grafton, Glenn Warren Most, 2021-01-18. This volume is the first comparative history that studies the practice of impagination across different ages and civilizations. By impagination, we mean the act of placing and arranging spatially textual and other information onto a material bearer that could be made of a variety of materials: papyrus, bamboo, slips, palm leaf, parchment, paper, and the computer screen. This volume investigates three levels of impagination: what is the page or other unit of the material bearer; what is written or printed on it; and how is writing or print placed on it. It also examines the interrelations of two or all three of these levels. Collectively, it examines the material and materiality of the page, the variety of imprints, cultural and historical conventions for impagination, interlinguistic encounters, the control of editors, scribes, publishers, and readers over the page, inheritance, borrowing, and innovation, economics, aesthetics, and socialities of imprints, and impagination and the relationship of impagination to philology. This volume supplements studies on mise en page and layout.

an important subject of codicology first by including non codex writings second by taking a closer look at the page or other unit than at the codex or book and third by its aspiration to adopt a globally comparative approach This volume brings together for comparison vast geographical realms of learning including Europe China Tibet Korea Japan and the Near Eastern and European communities in which the Hebrew Bible was transmitted This comparison is significant for Europe China and India all developed great traditions of learning which came into intensive contact The contributions to this volume are firmly rooted in local cultures and together address global comparative themes that are significant for multiple disciplines such as intellectual and cultural history of knowledge both humanistic and scientific global history literary and media studies aesthetics and studies of material culture among other fields
