Tramps Like Us Daniel Cavicchi,1998-10-29 As rock critics have noted in the past Bruce Springsteen s songs exist in a world of their own they have their own settings characters words and images It is a world that even those who know only a handful of Springsteen s lyrics can instantly recognize a world of highways and factories loners and underdogs hot rods and patrol cars And it is a world that stretches far beyond the New Jersey state line Indeed Springsteen s attention to the ideals and struggles of ordinary Americans has significantly influenced American popular culture and public debate As a rock and roll troubadour the Boss speaks not only for his many fans but to them and often with a directness or sincerity that no other performer can match But what can be said of the fans themselves Why and how do they relate to Springsteen s words and music Based on three years of ethnographic research amid Springsteen s fans and Association 2009 CHOICE Outstanding Academic Title In The Politics of Inquiry Benjamin Baez and Deron Boyles critique recent trends in education research to argue against the culture of science Using the National Research Council's 2002 report Scientific Research in Education as a point of departure they contend that the entire discourse on education science reflects a number of distinct but mutually constitutive political forces or movements that use science and education to shape what we can think and thus what we can become These forces include the attempts to restrict democracy via scientism the uses of academic classifications for organizing the world into social groups the imperatives of the informational society which seek precision in order to convert the world into data for easy governing and the effects of transnational capitalist exchanges which convert everything into a cost benefit analysis and which make us all complicit in ways we do not fully grasp Baez and Boyles examine these forces and offer an alternative to the current pushes to make educational inquiry scientific Giroux Reader Henry A.
