Ancient Hebrew Periodization and the

Language of the Book of Jeremiah Aaron Hornkohl, 2014-04-24 In Ancient Hebrew Periodization and the Language of the Book of Jeremiah Aaron Hornkohl defends the diachronic approach to Biblical Hebrew and the linguistic dating of biblical texts. Applying the standard methodologies to the Masoretic version of the biblical book of Jeremiah, he seeks to date the work on the basis of its linguistic profile, determining that though composite, Jeremiah is likely a product of the transitional time between the First and Second Temple Periods. Hornkohl also contributes to unraveling Jeremiah's complicated literary development, arguing on the basis of language that its short edition as reflected in the book's Old Greek translation predates that supplementary material preserved in the Masoretic edition but unparalleled in the Greek. Nevertheless, he concludes that neither is written in Late Biblical Hebrew proper.

Le-ma'an Ziony Frederick E. Greenspahn, Gary A.

Rendsburg, 2017-03-02 An international array of twenty-six scholars contributes twenty-one essays to honor Ziony Zevit, American Jewish University, one of the foremost biblical scholars of his generation. The breadth of the honoree is indicated by the breadth of coverage in these twenty-one articles, with seven each in the categories of history and archaeology, Bible and Hebrew, and Aramaic language.

Job 1 - 21 C. L. Seow, 2013-07-04 The Hebrew book of Job is by all accounts an exquisite piece of literary art that holds its rightful place among the most outstanding compositions in world literature. Yet it is also widely recognized as an immensely difficult text to understand. In elucidating that ancient text, this inaugural Illuminations commentary by C. L. Seow pays close attention to the reception history of Job, including Jewish, Muslim, Christian, and Western secular interpretations as expressed in theological, philosophical, and literary writings and in the visual and performing arts. Seow offers a primarily literary-theological interpretation of Job, a new translation, and detailed commentary.

In the Beginning Joel Hoffman, 2006-03 Written in language simple enough for everyone to learn, this sweeping history traces the Hebrew language's development and covers the dramatic story of the rebirth of Hebrew as a modern spoken language.

Studies in Semitic Vocalisation and Reading Traditions Aaron Hornkohl, Geoffrey Khan, 2020-06-01 This volume brings together papers relating to the pronunciation of Semitic languages and the representation of their pronunciation in written form. The papers focus on sources representative of a period that stretches from late antiquity until the Middle Ages. A large proportion of them concern reading traditions of Biblical Hebrew, especially the vocalisation notation systems used to represent them. Also discussed are orthography and the written representation of prosody. Beyond Biblical Hebrew, there are studies concerning Punic, Biblical Aramaic, Syriac, and Arabic, as well as post-biblical traditions of Hebrew, such as piyyu and medieval Hebrew poetry. There were many parallels and interactions between these various language traditions, and the volume demonstrates that important insights can be gained from such a wide range of perspectives across different historical periods.

Text and History Jens Bruun Kofoed, 2005-06-30 During the past two or three decades the value of the text of the Hebrew Bible as a testimony to the history of Israel has come under siege As the date of the final form of the text has been pushed later and later often into the Hellenistic era the text has been devalued accordingly what is late is viewed as having less value At the same time the connection between the text and extratextual information particularly from archaeology has been rendered less and less clear by both archaeological investigation itself and an increasing inability to connect text and artifact or to do so compellingly Some of the foremost scholars who have argued that the biblical text contributes little to historical research have come from Copenhagen Now from Copenhagen Jens Bruun Kofoed steps forward to address the methodological issues that must lie behind the use of the biblical text and its validation as a source for historical information In this volume he sets out the methodological stepping stones necessary to an honest use of the biblical text and through discussion of presuppositions underlying various methodologies and by evaluating specific test cases shows among other things that lateness of the extant text by itself is not a charge that reduces the text's value as a source of historical information that taking modern genre research and authorial intent into account opens new vistas for evaluating the historiographical reliability of ancient texts and that a way forward from the current impasse is possible
