Nurse and Spy in the Union Army During the American Civil War Sarah Emma Evelyn Edmunds, 2010-10-01 Soldier nurse and spy for the Republic This is an extraordinary book by any standards and no short description of it could possibly do justice to its author or her book Sarah Edmunds was a lady from the northern states of America who when the great Civil War broke out between the Union and the Confederacy decided that being one who waits was definitely not her style Disguised as a man a talent she had developed since childhood she successfully enlisted in the 2nd Michigan Regiment and served in several campaigns including the battles at Bull Run Antietam and Fredericksburg without ever revealing her gender In common with many women from both sides of the conflict she later performed with distinction as a nurse to wounded troops in the field Though this was noteworthy and frequently dangerous work it was insufficient for Sarah both as a contribution to the Union war effort and for her own spirit of adventure so she embarked on a career in the Union Army Secret Service as a spy This dangerous occupation where the penalty for detection and capture was summary execution propelled her into many perilous adventures behind enemy lines often disguised as a man in a variety of personas including Confederate soldier negro labourer and Irish tinker Sarah Edmunds story is an absolutely gripping personal account of an exceptional woman s experience of war which will fascinate anyone interested in the Civil War and dauntless women in particular Available in softcover and hard back with dust jacket

Nurse and Spy in the Union Army S. Emma E. Edmunds, 2015-05-14 In her 1865 autobiography Canadian born Sarah Emma Evelyn Edmunds recounts her awe inspiring life on the front lines of the American Civil War As a young woman Emma Edmonds ran away from home escaping an abusive father and an enforced prearranged marriage To avoid being discovered she dressed in men s clothes and cut her hair and eventually assumed the full time identity of a man taking the name Franklin Frank Thompson Frank worked for a time as a Bible salesman but in 1865 joined the Second Michigan Volunteers as a nurse Frank already a master of disguise eventually volunteered to be a spy and penetrated the enemy lines multiple times in various forms as a slave with silver nitrate painted skin to appear Black and curiously as a woman Anticipating being discovered after convalescing from falling off a horse Frank eventually deserted the army and Sarah Emma Edmonds returned enlisting in the army as a nurse In 1867 Emma Edmonds married Mr L H Seeey a fellow Canadian and eventually the two settled in La Porte Texas where they raised three children In 1884 she attended a regimental reunion as herself without her disguise as Frank Urged by her fellow soldiers she filed for a full army pension In 1885 she was awarded a pension from the army for both of her identities Sarah Emma Evelyn Edmonds was the only recognized woman in the Grand Army of the Republic This is her incredible story

Emma E. Edmonds,2016-05-31 From an early age Sarah Edmonds longed for high adventure During the Civil War she permitted her wanderlust and daring to come to the fore and leveraged it to assist the Union Army in their fight against the Confederacy Dressing as a man Franklin Flint Thompson Edmonds was admitted into the 2nd Michigan Infantry where she nobly served her country as a field nurse Edmonds took her feats of daring cunning and skill further on a number of occasions when she imposed herself into enemy positions and territories She did so in various roles disguises and personas in an effort to learn all she could about the Confederacy s impending actions Written from a singularly unique perspective this book almost seems a work of fiction rather than a genuine accounting of the wartime life and exploits of a truly amazing and heroic woman Nurse and Spy
