The Modernist Response to Chinese Art Zhaoming Qian, 2003 The Modernist Response to Chinese Art is a work of both erudition and sympathy that reveals the root of modernist poets' otherwise baffling interest in and use of Chinese art Most impressive perhaps is the depth of their embrace of it as Qian has so convincingly documented Patricia C Williams

The Great Chinese Art Transfer Michael St. Clair, 2016-04-01 This book tells the story of how and why millions of Chinese works of art got exported to collectors and institutions in the West in particular to the United States As China's last dynasty was weakening and collapsing from 1860 into the early years of the twentieth century China's internal chaos allowed imperial and private Chinese collections to be scattered looted and sold A remarkable and varied group of Westerners entered the country had their eyes opened to centuries of Chinese creativity and gathered up paintings bronzes and ceramics as well as sculptures jades and bronzes The migration to America and Europe of China's art is one of the greatest outflows of a culture's artistic heritage in human history A good deal of the art procured by collectors and dealers some famous and others little known but all remarkable in individual ways eventually wound up in American and European museums Today some of the art still in private hands is returning to China via international auctions and aggressive purchases by Chinese millionaires

Xingjian and Transcultural Chinese Theater Sy Ren Quah, 2004-04-30 A reclusive painter living in exile in Paris Gao Xingjian found himself instantly famous when he became the first Chinese language writer to receive the Nobel Prize for Literature 2000 The author of the novel Soul Mountain Gao is best known in his native country not as a visual artist or novelist but as a playwright and theater director This important yet rarely studied figure is the focus of Sy Ren Quah's rich account appraising his contributions to contemporary Chinese and World Theater over the past two decades A playwright himself Quah provides an in depth analysis of the literary dramatic intellectual and technical aspects of Gao's plays and theatrical concepts treating Gao's theater not only as an art form but with Gao himself as a significant cultural phenomenon The Bus Stop Wild Man and other early works are examined in the context of 1980s China Influenced by Stanislavsky Brecht and Beckett as well as traditional Chinese theater arts and philosophies Gao refused to conform to the dominant realist conventions of the time and made a conscious effort to renovate Chinese theater The young playwright sought to create a Modern Eastern Theater that was neither a vague generalization nor a nationalistic declaration but a challenge to orthodox ideologies After fleeing China Gao was free to experiment openly with theatrical forms Quah examines his post exile plays in a context of performance theory and philosophical concerns such as the real versus the unreal and the Self versus the Other The image conveyed of Gao is not of an activist but of an intellectual committed to maintaining his artistic independence who continues to voice his opinion on political matters
