Orientalism and Turkey Semra Germaner, Zeynep İnankur, 1989 Orientalism, Masquerade and Mozart's Turkish Music Matthew Head, 2018-12-13 Matthew Head explores the cultural meanings of Mozart's Turkish music in the composer's 18th century context in subsequent discourses of Mozart's significance for Western culture and in today's not entirely post colonial world Unpacking the ideological content of Mozart's numerous representations of Turkey and Turkish music Head locates the composer's exoticisms in shifting power relations between the Austrian and Ottoman Empires and in an emerging orientalist project At the same time Head complicates a presentist post colonial critique by exploring commercial stimuli to Mozart's turquerie and by embedding the composer's orientalism in practices of self disguise epitomised by masquerade and carnival In this context Mozart's Turkish music offered fleeting liberation from official and proscribed identities of the bourgeois Enlightenment

Frontier Orientalism and the Turkish Image in Central European Literature Charles D. Sabatos, 2020-01-02 This comparative study analyzes the ways that Central European writers used stereotypes of the Turks to develop their national identities from the early modern period to the present Charles D Sabatos uses Andre Gingrich's concept of frontier Orientalism to foreground his analysis of Central European Orientalism designating the nations of the former Habsburg Empire as the occident and the Turks as the oriental Other This study applies theoretical approaches to literary history as developed by scholars such as Stephen Greenblatt and Linda Hutcheon to a range of texts from the early modern period the nineteenth century national revivals interwar independence and the communist and postsocialist regimes By following these depictions across literatures and over an extensive historical period this study illustrates how the Turkish stereotype evolved from a menace to a more abstract yet still powerful metaphor of resistance and finally to a mythical figure that evoked humor as often as fear

After Orientalism, 2014-11-27 The debate on Orientalism began some fifty years ago in the wake of decolonization While initially considered a turning point Edward Said's Orientalism 1978 was in fact part of a larger academic endeavor the political critique of colonial science that had already significantly impacted the humanities and social sciences In a recent attempt to broaden the debate the papers collected in this volume offered at various seminars and an international symposium held in Paris in 2010 2011 critically examine whether Orientalism as knowledge and as creative expression was in fact fundamentally subservient to Western domination By raising new issues the papers shift the focus from the center to the peripheries thus analyzing the impact on local societies of a major intellectual and institutional movement that necessarily changed not only their world but the ways in which they represented their world World history which assumes a plurality of perspectives leads us to observe that the Saidian critique applies to powers other than Western European ones three case studies are considered here the Ottoman Russian and Soviet and Chinese empires Other essays in this volume proceed to analyze how post independence states have made use of the tremendous accumulation of knowledge and representations inherited from previous colonial regimes for the sake of national identity as well as how scholars change and adapt what was once a hegemonic discourse for their own purposes What emerges is a new landscape in which to situate research on non Western cultures and societies and a road map leading readers beyond the restrictive dichotomy of a confrontation between West and East With contributions by Elisabeth All s L on Buskens St phane A Dudoignon Baudouin Dupret Edhem Eldem Olivier Herrenschmidt Nicholas S Hopkins Robert Irwin Mouldi Lahmar Sylvette Larzul Jean Gabriel Leturcq Jessica Marglin Claire Nicholas Emmanuelle Perrin Alain de Pommereau Fran ois Pouillon Zakaria Rhani Emmanuel Szurek Jean Claude Vatin Mercedes Volait The Routledge Handbook of Heritage and Gender Jenna C.

Varisco,2017-04-11 The late Edward Said remains one of the most influential critics and public intellectuals of our time with lasting contributions to many disciplines Much of his reputation derives from the phenomenal multidisciplinary influence of his 1978 book Orientalism Said s seminal polemic analyzes novels travelogues and academic texts to argue that a dominant discourse of West over East has warped virtually all past European and American representation of the Near East But despite the book s wide acclaim no systematic critical survey of the rhetoric in Said s representation of Orientalism and the resulting impact on intellectual culture has appeared until today Drawing on the extensive discussion of Said s work in more than 600 bibliographic entries Daniel Martin Varisco has written an ambitious intellectual history of the debates that Said s work has sparked in several disciplines highlighting in particular its reception among Arab and European scholars While pointing out Said s tendency to essentialize and privilege certain texts at the expense of those that do not comfortably fit his theoretical framework Varisco analyzes the extensive commentary the book has engendered in Oriental studies literary and cultural studies feminist scholarship history political science and anthropology He employs critical satire to parody the exaggerated and pedantic aspects of post colonial discourse including Said s profound underappreciation of the role of irony and reform in many of the texts he cites The end result is a companion volume to Orientalism and the vast research it inspired Rather than contribute to dueling essentialisms Varisco provides a path to move beyond the binary of East versus West and the polemics of blame Reading Orientalism is the most comprehensive survey of Said's writing and thinking to date It will be of strong interest to scholars of Middle East studies anthropology history cultural studies post colonial studies and literary studies
