in their proper comparative and historical framework Islands of Hope Paul D'Arcy, Daya Dakasi Da-Wei Kuan, 2023-05-25 In the Pacific as elsewhere indigenous communities live with the consequences of environmental mismanagement and over exploitation but rarely benefit from the short term economic profits such actions may generate within the global system National and international policy frameworks ultimately rely on local community assent Without effective local participation and partnership these extremely imposed frameworks miss out on millennia of local observation and understanding and seldom deliver viable and sustained environmental cultural and economic benefits at the local level This collection argues that environmental sustainability indigenous political empowerment and economic viability will succeed only by taking account of distinct local contexts and cultures In this regard these Pacific indigenous case studies offer islands of hope for all communities marginalised by increasingly intrusive and increasingly rapid technological changes and by global dietary economic political and military forces with whom they have no direct contact or influence Dealing with Inequality Marilyn Strathern, 1987-12-10 This 1987 volume comprises ten essays by anthropologists who interrogate the nature of social inequality between the sexes in societies mostly in Melanesia Schooling, Conflict and Peace in the Southwestern Pacific David Oakeshott, 2024-11-27 Bringing concepts from critical transitional justice and peacebuilding into dialogue with education this book examines the challenges youth and their teachers face in the post conflict settings of Bougainville and Solomon Islands Youth in these places must reconcile with the violent past of their parents generation while also learning how to live with people once on opposing sides This book traces how students and their teachers form connections to the past and each other that cut through the forces that might divide them The findings illustrate novel ways to think about the potential for education to assist post conflict recovery The Anthropology of Moralities Monica Heintz, 2009-08-01 Anthropologists have been keenly aware of the tension between cultural relativism and absolute norms and nowhere has this been more acute than with regards to moral values Can we study the Other's morality without applying our own normative judgments How do social anthropologists keep both the distance required by science and the empathy required for the analysis of lived experiences The plurality of moralities has not received an explicit and focused attention until recently when accelerated globalization often resulted in the collision of different value systems Observing describing and assessing values cross culturally the authors propose various methodological approaches to the study of moralities illustrated with rich ethnographic accounts thus offering a valuable guide for students of anthropology sociology and cultural studies and for professionals concerned with the empirical and cross cultural study of values
