Dreaming the Rational City M. Christine Boyer, 1986 Dreaming the Rational City is both a history of the city planning profession in the United States and a major polemical statement about the effort to plan and reform the American city Boyer shows why city planning which had so much promise at the outset for making cities more liveable largely failed She reveals planning's real responsibilities and goals including the kind of rational order that was actually foreseen by the planning mentality and concludes that the planners have continuously served the needs of the dominant capitalist economy

Making Space in the Works of James Joyce Valerie Benejam, John Bishop, 2012-05-23 James Joyce's preoccupation with space be it urban geographic stellar geometrical or optical is a central and idiosyncratic feature of his work In Making Space in the Works of James Joyce some of the most esteemed scholars in Joyce studies have come together to evaluate the perception and mental construction of space as it is evoked through Joyce's writing The aim is to bring together several recent trends of literary research and criticism to bear on the notion of space in its most concrete sense The essays move dialectically out of an immediate focus on the phenomenological and intra psychic into broader and wider meditations on the social urban and collective As Joyce's formal experiments appear the response to the difficulty of enunciating truly the experience of lived space this eventually leads us to textual and linguistic space The final contribution evokes the space with which Joyce worked daily that of his manuscripts or what he called paperspace With essays addressing all of Joyce's major works this volume is a critical contribution to our understanding of modernism as well as of the relationship between space language and literature

Modern City Revisited Thomas Deckker, 2005-08-12 The second in a series of titles published to address issues relating to the conservation of the Modern Movement this is a key publication for architects planners and all those with a specific interest in modernism and modern planning

Early Planning Utopias Dorina Pojani, Cathy Keys, Rory Little, 2025-07-15 There is little doubt that urban planning has historically failed women To liberate the profession from patriarchal influences it is necessary to revisit the preconceptions that shaped early efforts to design new cities or improve existing ones This book critiques the work of twenty male planning luminaries who proposed urban models interventions and approaches on both sides of the North Atlantic during the Second Industrial Revolution These early visions often presented as emancipatory or utopian set European and North American cities as well as their colonial counterparts on an inexorable masculinist path The grand urban plans and projects of the late 19th and early 20th centuries were largely bankrolled by wealth extracted from colonial enterprises in Africa Asia and Latin America A reverence for geometry order and standardization alongside a monumental scale reflected a hegemonic and monolithic vision of the city with little tolerance for cultural or physical difference Limitless urban growth and the rapid effortless movement of people were valorised and for the first time in history roads became more important than homes Many of these same planners indifferent to cultural and physical differences readily accepted the continuation of class divisions in cities Comprehensive plans for both small and large settlements were hierarchical with the wealthiest or most powerful occupying central positions of power Functional segregation later institutionalized as zoning enforced spatial divisions between the public male and private female spheres Even as the planning agenda prioritized men s issues related to industry and commerce domestic ideology was promoted during this period The book also highlights the work of several female activists and reformers from the same era Although these women rarely envisioned full blown urban utopias or produced extensive writings on planning they worked to improve built environments for all Female reformers were more attuned to the lived experiences of city dwellers than male planners architects and engineers While men focused on structures and infrastructure women were concerned with the human condition Rather than expanding or clearing out the existing urban fabric women sought to restore it Practically women extended their reproductive duties from the home to the entire city envisioning it as a collective living space where everyone shared responsibility for one another s daily welfare This book calls for a return to that planning philosophy at a time when numerous techno utopias are being imagined and built often backed by major private corporations or individual male billionaires

Michael Hays,1998 In its eleven year history Oppositions the journal of the New York based Institute for Architecture and Urban Studies IAUS had an impact far beyond what its modest cover might suggest Indeed Oppositions set the agenda introduced the key players and published the seminal pieces in the theorization of architecture in the last twenty years It is a testament to the enduring importance of the journal that its issues are still highly sought after today prized and priced as collector s items and found behind the desk at virtually every architectural library Oppositions Reader collects the most important essays from 26 issues of Oppositions Essays from the editors of the series Peter Eisenman Kenneth Frampton Mario Gandelsonas Anthony Vidler and Kurt Forster are included along with texts by such noted architects theorists and historians as Aldo Rossi Alan Colquhoun Leon Krier Denise Scott Brown Bernard Tschumi Rem Koolhaas Mary McLeod Giorgio Ciucci and Rafael Moneo The page design by Massimo Vignelli has been faithfully reproduced Harvard Professor K Michael Hays has selected the writings for inclusion Contributors include Diana Agrest Stanford Anderson Giorgio Ciucci Stuart Cohen Alan Colquhoun Francesco Dal Co Peter Eisenman William Ellis Kurt W Forster Kenneth Frampton Mario Gandelsonas Giorgio Grassi Fred Koetter Rem Koolhaas Leon Krier Mary McLeod Rafael Moneo Joan Ockman Martin Pawley Aldo Rossi Colin Rowe Denise Scott Brown Jorge Silvetti Ignasi de Sol Morales Manfredo Tafuri Bernard Tschumi Anthony Vidler and Hajime Yatsuka It is an understatement to say that this volume is indispensable for any scholar or student interested in contemporary architectural theory

Le Corbusier's Venice Hospital Project Mahnaz Shah,2017-05-15 While Le Corbusier s urban projects are generally considered confrontational in their relationship to the traditional urban fabric his proposal for the Venice hospital project remained an exercise in preserving the medieval fabric of the city of Venice through a systemic replication of its urban tissue This book offers a detailed study of Le Corbusier s Venice hospital project as a plausible built entity In addition it analyses it in the light of its supposed affinity with the medieval urban configuration of the city of Venice No formal attempt to date has been made to critically analyse the hospital project's design considerations in comparison to the medieval urban configuration of the city of Venice. Using a range of methodologies including those from architectural theory and history, using archival resources on site analysis and interviews with important resource persons, this book is an interpretation of the conceptual basis for Le Corbusier's understanding of the structural formulation of the city of Venice as mentioned in The Radiant City 1935. In doing so, it deciphers the diagrammatic analysis of the city structure found in this work into a set of coherent design modules that were applied in the hospital project and that could become a point of further investigation. Architects and other architecturally interested laypeople with an interest in Venice will find the book a valuable addition to their knowledge. For architectural historians, the book makes an important link between modernism and the historically grown Venice. Carbon Neutral City Jun Wang, 2025-08-22. This book introduces the ecological low carbon and sustainable concept of ideal cities from different views. With beliefs and practices of scholars in the past in pursuit of ideal cities, it is written with historical events in the development of low carbon cities. In this way, activities about carbon peaking and carbon neutrality happening worldwide at present can be shown and efforts various countries have paid off can be exhibited. Besides, as for the centralized and the distributed space structure in urban evolution, the book discusses their trends and comes up with an ideal model: the distributed city to realize carbon neutrality based on the distributed structure. Therefore, with a practical example in planning, the feasibility of the distributed city is analyzed in several fields including space, energy, traffic, water, waste disposal, etc. The book can be used as materials for professionals in city planning and construction, low carbon development and other fields, as well as a way for ordinary people to learn about the complex city. Violent Acts and Urban Space in Contemporary Tel Aviv Tali Hatuka, 2010-05-01. In this ethnographic study of time, place and memory, Aseel Sawalha offers a fresh perspective on the rebuilding efforts of this city, Beirut, and explains how the residents of Beirut used individual and collective memories of their celebrated architectural past to compete and negotiate for the reinstatement of municipal services and the reconstruction of their environment. Page 2 of cover. Urban Design Reader Steve Tiesdell, Matthew Carmona, 2007-02-07. Essential reading for students and practitioners of urban design, this collection of essays introduces the 6 dimensions of urban design through a range of the most important classic and contemporary key texts. Urban design as a form of place making has become an increasingly significant area of academic endeavour, of public policy and professional practice. Compiled by the authors of the best-selling Public Places, Urban Spaces, this indispensable guide includes all the crucial definitions and various understandings of the subject, as well as a practical look at how to implement urban design that readers will need to refer to time and time again. Uniquely, the selections of essays that include the works of Gehl, Jacobs and Cullen are presented substantially in their original form, and the truly accessible dip-in-and-out format will enable readers to form a deeper practical understanding of urban design. Rationalist Traces Andrew Peckham, Torsten Schmiedeknecht, Charles Rattray, 2007-10-22. Modern European architecture has been characterised by a strong undercurrent of rationalist thought.

Rationalist Traces aims to examine this legacy by establishing a cross section of contemporary European architecture placed in selected national contexts by critics including Kos Moravnszky and Josep Maria Montaner. Subsequent interviews discuss the theoretical contributions of Giorgio Grassi and OM Ungers and a survey of Max Dudler and De Architekten Cie's work sets out a consistency at one remove from avant garde spectacle or everyday expediency. In Germany Rationalism offers a considered representation of state institutions while elsewhere outstanding work reveals different approaches to rationality in architecture often recalling canonical Modernism or the Rational Architecture of the later postwar period. Whether evident in patterns of thinking, a particular formal repertoire, a prevailing consistency or exemplified in individual buildings, this relationship informs the mature work of Patrick Berger, Claus en Kaan, Architecten, Carlos Ferrater, Cino Zucchi or Hans Kollhoff. The buildings and projects of a younger generation, Javier Garcá Solera, GWJ Architekten AG, biq, Andrea Bassi or Beniamino Servino, present a Rationalism less conditioned by a concern to promote a unifying aesthetic. While often sharing a deliberate economy of means or a sensual sobriety, they present a more oblique or distanced relationship with the defining work of the 20th century.
