Mumford,2017-03-06 This book is based on EU funded project PLANTFOODSEC covering intentional and unintentional threats to plant biosecurity and to food safety areas Biosecurity is a strategic and integrated approach for analysing and managing relevant risks to human animal and plant life and health and associated risks to the environment Interest in biosecurity has risen considerably over the last decade in parallel with the increasing trade in food and plant and animal products higher levels of international travel new outbreaks of transboundary diseases Although most diseases outbreaks have natural causes or are the result of inadvertent introductions of pathogens through human activities the risk of a deliberate introduction of a high consequence plant pathogen cannot be excluded Vigilance is required to identify prevent and manage new and emerging issues that could impact on production capacity plant biosecurity or food safety and food chain resilience div Managing Discovery in the Life Sciences Philip A. Rea,Mark V. Pauly,Lawton R. Burns,2018-02-01 In this book distinguished scholars Philip A Rea Mark V Pauly and Lawton R Burns explore the science and management behind marketable biomedical innovations They look at how the science actually played out through the interplay of personalities the cultures within and between academic and corporate entities and the significance of serendipity not as a mysterious phenomenon but one intrinsic to the successes and failures of the experimental approach With newly aggregated data and case studies they consider the fundamental economic underpinnings of investor driven discovery management not as an obstacle or deficiency as its critics would contend or as something beyond reproach as some of its proponents might claim but as the only means by which scientists and managers can navigate the unknowable to discover new products and decide how to sell them so as to maximize the likelihood of establishing a sustainable pipeline for still more marketable biomedical innovations
