The Reproduction of Life Death Dawne McCance, 2019-07-02 During the 1975-76 academic year Jacques Derrida delivered a seminar La vie la mort Life Death at the cole normale sup rieure in Paris Based on archival translations of this untapped but soon to be published seminar The Reproduction of Life Death offers an unprecedented study of Derrida's engagement with molecular biology and genetics particularly the work of the biologist Francois Jacob Structured as an itinerary of three rings each departing from and coming back to Nietzsche Derrida's seminar ties Jacob's logocentric account of reproduction to the reproductive program of teaching that characterizes the academic institution challenging this mode of teaching as auto reproduction along with the concept of academic freedom on which it is based McCance also brings Derrida's critique of Jacob's theory of auto reproduction together with his reading of reproductivity the tendency to repeat reproduce that is theorized and enacted in Freud's Beyond the Pleasure Principle The book further shows how Derrida's account of life death relates to his writings on autobiography and the signature and to such later concerns as the question of the animal McCance brings extensive archival research together with a deep knowledge of Derrida's work a background in genetics to offer a fascinating new account of an encounter between philosophy and the hard sciences that will be of interest to theorists in a wide range of disciplines concerned with the question of life

Foreign Burial of American War Dead Chris Dickon, 2011-09-29 Normandy Flanders Field and other overseas cemeteries of the American Battle Monument Commission ABMC are well known. However, lesser known burial sites of American war dead exist all over the world in Australia and across the Pacific Rim in Canada and Mexico, Libya and Spain, most of Europe and as far north as the Russian Arctic. This is the history of American soldiers buried abroad since the American Revolution. It traces the evolution of American attitudes and practices about war dead and provides the names and locations of those still buried abroad in non ABMC locations.

Wisdom and Apocalypticism in the Dead Sea Scrolls and in the Biblical Tradition Florentino García Martínez, 2003. The volume contains the papers read at the 51st Colloquium Biblicum Lovaniense, July 31–August 2, 2002, dedicated to the study of the theme of Wisdom and Apocalypticism in the Dead Sea Scrolls and in the biblical tradition in general. The main papers and some of the offered papers have been thematically grouped in four parts. Part I comprises four articles dealing with the relationship between wisdom and apocalypticism in the Scrolls compared to the biblical tradition. Part II includes five papers which focus on specific wisdom compositions from Qumran such as 1Q4QMysteries, 4QInstruction, 4QTime of Righteousness or the Tractate of the Two Spirits from the Rule of the Community. The nine contributions of Part III analyse different aspects of biblical Wisdom compositions in Qohelet, Sirach and the Wisdom of Solomon or of apocalyptic writings in 1 Enoch and 4 Ezra in the light of the Qumran Wisdom texts. Part IV groups six studies on several aspects of the Wisdom compositions from Qumran: messianic ideas, ecstatic worship, the beatitudes or the fate of the righteous which are directly relevant for the study of the New Testament. The articles are written in English (14), French (6) and German (4). Among the contributors are specialists of the Dead Sea Scrolls: Jean Duhaime, Torleif Elgvin, Armin Lange, Hermann Lichtenberger, Emile Puech, Eibert Tigchelaar and of Early Judaism: e.g. John J. Collins, Daniel Harrington, Michael Knibb as well as Old Testament scholars: e.g. Hainz Josef Fabry, Maurice Gilbert, Klaus Koch.

Death in Fifteenth Century Castile Laura Vivanco, 2004. Differences in attitudes to death and dying in two distinct social classes: the ecclesiastics and the nobility. The theory of the three estates made clear distinctions between the functions of the two estates which comprised the elite of medieval society: the oratores (ecclesiastics) and the defensores (warriors or nobility). They had different lifestyles, clothing and ways of thinking about life. With regard to death, the responses dictated by Christian theology conflicted with the demands of the defensor ideology based on the defence of individual honour, the pursuit of fama and the display of earthly power. This book charts the progress of the dying from their preparations for death through their good or bad deaths to their burials and otherworldly fates and also analyses the responses of the bereaved. Through the use of pre-fifteenth century texts it is possible to demonstrate that the conflict between the orator and defensor ideologies did not begin in the fifteenth century but rather had a much older origin and it is suggested that the conflict continued after 1500. Textual sources include the Siete partidas, wills, chronicles, religious works such as the Arte de bien morir and literary works such as Crucel de Amor and Celestina.

Ethics and Experience Lloyd Steffen, 2012-08-09. Ethics and Experience introduces students to the key topics in moral theory through provocative moral issues just war abortion physician assisted suicide the death penalty and more Steffen helps students bridge the gap between ethical theory and experience through developing a common agreement ethical system that is applicable to a variety of moral problems and issues with clear language and real life examples The Century Dictionary and Cyclopedia: The century cyclopedia of names, 1901 The Deaths of Louis XVI Susan Dunn, 2021-02-09 The public beheading of Louis XVI was a unique and troubling event that scarred French collective memory for two centuries To Jacobins the king's decapitation was the people's coronation To royalists it was deicide Nineteenth century historians considered it an alarming miscalculation a symbol of the Terror and the moral bankruptcy of the Revolution By the twentieth century Camus judged that the killing stood at the crux of our contemporary history In this book Susan Dunn investigates the regicide's pivotal role in French intellectual history and political mythology She examines how thinkers on the right and left repudiated regicide and terror while articulating a compassionate humanitarian vision which became the moral basis for the modern French nation Their credo of fraternity and unity however strangely depoliticized this supremely political act of regicide Using theoretical insights from Tocqueville Arendt Rawls Walzer and others Dunn explores the transformation of violent regicidal politics into an apolitical cult of ethical purity and an antidemocratic nationalist religion Her book focuses on the fluidity of political myths The figure of Louis XVI was transmuted into a Joan of Arc and a deified nation and the notion of his sacrifice contributed to the disquieting myth of a mystical community of self-sacrificing citizens The Anticipatory Corpse Jeffrey P. Bishop, 2011-09-19 In this original and compelling book Jeffrey P. Bishop a philosopher ethicist and physician argues that something has gone sadly amiss in the care of the dying by contemporary medicine and in our social and political views of death as shaped by our scientific successes and ongoing debates about euthanasia and the right to die or to live The Anticipatory Corpse: Medicine, Power, and the Care of the Dying informed by Foucault's genealogy of medicine and power as well as by a thorough grasp of current medical practices and medical ethics argues that a view of people as machines in motion people as in effect temporarily animated corpses with interchangeable parts has become epistemologically normative for medicine The dead body is subtly anticipated in our practices of exercising control over the suffering person whether through technological mastery in the intensive care unit or through the impersonal quasi-scientific assessments of psychological and spiritual medicine The result is a kind of nihilistic attitude toward the dying and troubling contradictions and absurdities in our practices Wide-ranging in its examples from organ donation rules in the United States to ICU medicine to spiritual surveys to presidential bioethics commissions attempting to define death and to high-profile cases such as Terri Schiavo's The Anticipatory Corpse explores the historical political and philosophical underpinnings of our care of the dying and finally the possibilities of change This book is a ground-breaking work in bioethics It will provoke thought and argument for all those engaged in medicine philosophy theology and health policy The Review of Reviews William Thomas Stead, 1902 Euthanasia and Physician-Assisted Suicide Gerald Dworkin, R.
