Permaculture 1 B. C. Mollison, David Holmgren, 1978      Routledge Handbook of Landscape and Food Joshua Zeunert, Tim Waterman, 2018-02-02 Since the turn of the millennium there has been a burgeoning interest in and literature of both landscape studies and food studies Landscape describes places as relationships and processes Landscapes create people's identities and guide their actions and their preferences while at the same time are shaped by the actions and forces of people Food as currency medium and sustenance is a fundamental part of those landscape relationships This volume brings together over fifty contributors from around the world in forty profoundly interdisciplinary chapters Chapter authors represent an astonishing range of disciplines from agronomy anthropology archaeology conservation countryside management cultural studies ecology ethics geography heritage studies landscape architecture landscape management and planning literature urban design and architecture Both food studies and landscape studies defy comprehension from the perspective of a single discipline and thus such a range is both necessary and enriching The Routledge Handbook of Landscape and Food is intended as a first port of call for scholars and researchers seeking to undertake new work at the many intersections of landscape and food Each chapter provides an authoritative overview a broad range of pertinent readings and references and seeks to identify areas where new research is needed though these may also be identified in the many fertile areas in which subjects and chapters overlap within the book      Food for Degrowth Anitra Nelson, Ferne Edwards, 2020-11-22 This collection breaks new ground by investigating applications of degrowth in a range of geographic practical and theoretical contexts along the food chain Degrowth challenges growth and advocates for everyday practices that limit socio metabolic energy and material flows within planetary constraints As such the editors intend to map possibilities for food for degrowth to become established as a field of study International contributors offer a range of examples and possibilities to develop more sustainable localised resilient and healthy food systems using degrowth principles of sufficiency frugal abundance security autonomy and conviviality Chapters are clustered in parts that critically examine food for degrowth in spheres of the household collectives networks and narratives of broader activism and discourses Themes include broadening and deepening concepts of care in food provisioning and social contexts critically applying appropriate technologies appreciating and integrating indigenous perspectives challenging notions of waste circular economies and commodification and addressing the ever present impacts of market logic framed by growth This book will be of greatest interest to students and scholars of critical food studies sustainability studies urban political ecology geography environmental studies such as environmental sociology anthropology ethnography ecological economics and urban design and planning      Cities as Sustainable Ecosystems Peter Newman, Isabella Jennings, 2012-09-26 Modern city dwellers are largely detached from the environmental effects of their daily lives The sources of the water they drink the food they eat and the energy they consume are all but invisible often coming from other continents and their waste ends up in places beyond their city boundaries Cities as Sustainable Ecosystems shows how cities and their residents can begin to reintegrate into their bioregional environment and how cities themselves can be planned with nature's organizing principles in mind Taking cues from living systems for sustainability strategies Newman and Jennings reassess urban design by exploring flows of energy materials and information along with the interactions between human and non human parts of the system Drawing on examples from all corners of the world the authors explore natural patterns and processes that cities can emulate in order to move toward sustainability Some cities have adopted simple strategies such as harvesting rainwater greening roofs and producing renewable energy Others have created biodiversity parks for endangered species community gardens that support a connection to their foodshed and pedestrian friendly spaces that encourage walking and cycling A powerful model for urban redevelopment Cities as Sustainable Ecosystems describes aspects of urban ecosystems from the visioning process to achieving economic security to fostering a sense of place Sustainable Agriculture Reviews 27 Eric Lichtfouse, 2018-05-08

This book deals with a rapidly growing field aiming at producing food and energy in a sustainable way for humans and their children It is a discipline that addresses current issues climate change increasing food and fuel prices poor nation starvation rich nation obesity water pollution soil erosion fertility loss pest control and biodiversity depletion This series gathers review articles that analyze current agricultural issues and knowledge then proposes alternative solutions Sustainable

Agriculture Reviews 58 Asif Iqbal, Mazhar Iqbal, Madeeha Alamzeb, Song Meizhen, Zhang Xiling, Muhammad Arif, Xiongming Du, Eric Lichtfouse, 2022-11-15 This book presents recently developed crop soil and management practices that can be used to improve phosphorous use efficiency in agriculture Food security highly depends on the availability of plant nutrients such as phosphorus yet rock phosphate reserves are expected to be exhausted in the next 50 100 years Moreover about 80% of the phosphorous fertilizers applied to soils become unavailable to plants due to phosphorous fixation in iron and aluminum oxides in acidic soils and with carbonates in alkaline soils As a consequence only 10 15% of applied phosphorous is up taken by crops Therefore there is a need for advanced practices for improving phosphorus use efficiency Occupy the Earth Liam

Leonard, Sya B. Kedzior, 2014-12-03 Concerns about environmental risks have focused the minds of a generation New movements are emerging to challenge those who would put profits before the planet This volume represents the cutting edge of international research on global environmental movements and contributes to the on going debates which may shape our future Food Chains and Human Nutrition Kenneth L. The Terrestrial Biosphere S.T. Trudgill,2014-09-25 Terrestrial Biosphere tries to pose the questions which underlie the many sided debate of how to respond to and influence change How should we view nature What do we do for the best how should we act what are we trying to achieve and what should we be guided by In doing so the book introduces and attempts to analyse not only scientific aspects of the debate but also cultural attitudes and values the notions of ecosystem stability are now challenged and it is also clear that ecosystems are renewable but not repeatable It finds that prescriptive solutions based on current constructs may not be adequate Feeling that analysis should lead to advocacy the author believes that if we can t improve predictability we have to increase adaptability which means that ecological and social capacity building should be advocated This is seen in terms of concepts institutions attitudes and values which allow for a plurality of meanings and which can cope with surprise and unforeseen change and which also facilitates responses to change
