

Philosophical Skepticism (Dialogues Part I)

The Dialogues begin precisely where the Enquiry ends: with a discussion of skepticism.

Unless “total” or “absolute” skepticism is dismissed from the start, the discussion cannot even get underway.

None of the participants (not even Philo) wish to embrace total skepticism.

So the discussion of the power of human reason and experience to know the nature of God can proceed.

Power And Value Of Philosophical Skepticism:

The Power and Value of Philosophical Skepticism Jeffrey Paul Whitman, 1991 The Power and Value of Philosophical Skepticism Jeffrey P. Whitman, 1996-07-25 How should we react to philosophical skepticism Whitman answers this question by examining analytic and post analytic responses to the problem He tests analytic theories of knowledge foundationalism coherentism and reliabilism and the post analytic responses of Donald Davidson and Richard Rorty against skeptical arguments Whitman concludes that embracing a theoretical version of philosophical skepticism has advantages over post analytic responses both in the realm of philosophical inquiry and in everyday life Nietzsche and Adorno on Philosophical Praxis, Language, and Reconciliation Paolo A. Bolaños, 2021-01-12 Nietzsche and Adorno on Philosophical Praxis Language and Reconciliation Towards an Ethics of Thinking offers a philosophical notion of an ethics of thinking a kind of thinking that is receptive to the non identical character of the world of human and non human objects Paolo A Bola os experiments with the ideas of Friedrich Nietzsche and Theodor W Adorno who are presented as contemporary proponents of the Fr hromantik tradition Bola os offers a reconstruction of the respective philosophies of language of Nietzsche and Adorno as well as a rehearsal of their critique of metaphysics and identity thinking in order to develop a notion of philosophical praxis that is grounded in the ethical dimension of thinking Via Nietzsche and Adorno Bola os argues that thinking s performative participation in uncertainty broadens the domain of reason thereby also broadening our conceptual capacities and our receptivity to new possibilities of thinking As an ethical praxis thinking guards itself from the error of solidification thereby opening philosophy to a reconciliatory as opposed to domineering reception of the world The Oxford Handbook of German Philosophy in the Nineteenth Century Michael N. Forster, Kristin Gjesdal, 2015 The Oxford Handbook of German Philosophy in the Nineteenth Century is the first collective critical study of this important period in intellectual history The volume is divided into four parts The first part explores individual philosophers including Fichte Hegel Schopenhauer Marx and Nietzsche amongst other great thinkers of the period The second addresses key philosophical movements Idealism Romanticism Neo Kantianism and Existentialism The essays in the third part engage with different areas of philosophy that received particular attention at this time including philosophy of nature philosophy of mind philosophy of language philosophy of history and hermeneutics Finally the contributors turn to discuss central philosophical topics from skepticism to mat erialism from dialectics to ideas of historical and cultural Otherness and from the reception of antiquity to atheism Written by a team of leading experts this Handbook will be an essential resource for anyone working in the area and will lead the direction of future research Powers and Capacities in Philosophy John Greco, Ruth Groff, 2013-01-25 Powers and Capacities in Philosophy is designed to stake out an emerging discipline spanning neo Aristotelian framework grounded in realism about causal powers The volume brings together for the first time original essays by leading philosophers working on powers in relation to metaphysics philosophy of natural and social science philosophy of mind and action epistemology ethics and social and political philosophy In each area the concern is to show how a commitment to real causal powers affects discussion at the level in question In metaphysics for example realism about powers is now recognized as providing an alternative to orthodox accounts of causation modality properties and laws Dispositional realist philosophers of science meanwhile argue that a powers ontology allows for a proper account of the nature of scientific explanation In the philosophy of mind there is the suggestion that agency is best understood in terms of the distinctive powers of human beings Those who take virtue theoretic approaches in epistemology and ethics have long been interested in the powers that allow for knowledge and or moral excellence In social and political philosophy finally powers theorists are interested in the powers of sociological phenomena such as collectivities institutions roles and or social relations but also in the conditions of possibility for the cultivation of the powers of individuals The book will be of interest to philosophers working in any of these areas as well as to historians of philosophy political theorists and critical realists A Philosophy of Life and Its Spiritual Values Alfred Wilhelm Martin,1923 Powers and Abilities in Early Modern Philosophy Sebastian Bender,Dominik Perler,2024-06-28 This book explores different accounts of powers and abilities in early modern philosophy It analyzes powers and abilities as a package hopefully enabling us to better understand them both and to see similarities as well as dissimilarities While some prominent early modern accounts of power have been studied in detail this volume also covers lesser known thinkers and several early modern women philosophers The volume also investigates early modern accounts of powers and abilities in a more systematic fashion than has been previously done By broadening its scope in these ways the volume uncovers trends and tendencies in early modern thinking about powers and abilities that are easy to miss Chapters in this book explore how 22 early modern thinkers approached the following questions What kind of entities are powers and abilities Are they reducible to something categorical or not What is the relation between powers and abilities Is there a fundamental metaphysical difference between them or not How do we know what powers objects have and what abilities agents have Are human abilities in any way special How do they relate to the abilities non human animals have And how do they relate to the powers of inanimate objects Powers and Abilities in Early Modern Philosophy will appeal to scholars and advanced students working in the history of early modern philosophy in metaphysics and in the history of science The Tanner Lectures on Human Values Sterling M.
