Power Of News The History Of Reuters:

The Power of News Donald Read,1999 Completely rewritten this is the story of Reuters the international news agency In 1851 Julius Reuter set up the London organisation which was eventually to extend itself its influence throughout most of the world The Power of News Donald Read,1993 A history of Reuters The Power of News Donald Read,1992 The Americanization of the British Press, 1830s-1914 J. Wiener,2011-10-03 The first book to compare and contrast the rise of mass circulation press in Britain and America It provides insights into the origins of tabloid journalism and explores a range of cross cultural and literary issues tracing the history of key newspapers and the careers of influential journalists such as Bennett Russell Harmsworth and Pulitzer International Bibliography of Business History Francis Goodall, Terence Richard Gourvish, Steven Tolliday,1997 Covers the depth and breadth of research in business history The Handbook of Global Media Research Ingrid Volkmer,2015-07-07 The Handbook of Global Media Research Ingrid Volkmer has collected an admirably rich thought provoking and diverse collection of views to guide critical scholarship as our topic the media and media cultures methods which must now be comparative and the knowledge we produce are all transformed by globalization Sonia Livingstone author of Media Regulation Governance and the Interests of Citizens and Consumers In this handbook leading academic and practitioner analysts give us valuable insight into globalized forms of communication their diversity the global local dialectic and the challenges of critical historical and comparative study of transnational media and communication Robin Mansell author of Imagining the Internet Communication Innovation and Governance With a stellar list of contributors and an engagement with the global that both traces and transcends its boundaries Ingrid Volkmer's volume is the cardinal chart of our media worlds Mark Deuze author of Media Life and Media Works This is a long overdue volume The distinguished contributors to The Handbook of Global Media Research have produced a challenging and authoritative guide to understanding the latest developments in global media Thomas R Lindlof University of Kentucky As new forms of media proliferate and communication becomes ever more global transnational media is increasingly capable of both enhancing political cultural and economic globalization and shaping worldviews and civic identity Research into the development of transnational media is therefore an essential element of understanding the changes created by advanced globalization The Handbook of Global Media Research explores and articulates the key themes and competing approaches of this dynamic and developing field Bringing together the ideas of more than 40 internationally respected authors from around the world it provides valuable and varied insights into a globalized media landscape setting the agenda for the future of transnational media and communications research International News in the Digital Age Judith Clarke, Michael Bromley,2012-01-25 The new research presented in this volume suggests that general perceptions cultural psychological geographical allied to the customs and values of journalism and underpinned by the uses of technology significantly shape international news This gives rise to a blend of the old and the new traditions of cultural centredness and innovative practices anchorages of place and the rootlessness of globalization Technology per se has not swept all before it On the other hand its uses have altered the means and methods of international news sourcing construction and dissemination Consequently the uptake of technology has contributed to fundamental changes in style and form and has greatly facilitated cross cultural exchanges The category international news is now more of a hybrid as recognized by the BBC and others The chapters in this book demonstrate that this hybridity is unevenly distributed across geo political domains and often across time Nevertheless as the contributors to this volume show the concept of international news relies on tightly interwoven elements of orthodox journalism social media civic expression and public assembly

British Propaganda and News Media in the Cold War John Jenks, 2006-04-19

This is a study of the British state's generation suppression and manipulation of news to further foreign policy goals during the early Cold War Bribing editors blackballing unreliable journalists creating instant media experts through provision of carefully edited inside information and exploiting the global media system to plant propaganda disguised as news around the world these were all methods used by the British to try to convince the international public of Soviet deceit and criminality and thus gain support for anti Soviet policies at home and abroad Britain's shaky international position heightened the importance of propaganda The Soviets and Americans were investing heavily in propaganda to win the hearts and minds of the world and substitute for increasingly unthinkable nuclear war The British exploited and enhanced their media power and propaganda expertise to keep up with the superpowers and preserve their own global influence at a time when British economic political and military power was sharply declining This activity directly influenced domestic media relations as officials used British media to launder foreign bound propaganda and to create the desired images of British public opinion for foreign audiences By the early 1950s censorship waned but covert propaganda had become addictive The endless tension of the Cold War normalized what had previously been abnormal state involvement in the media and led it to use similar tools against Egyptian nationalists Irish republicans and British leftists Much more recently official manipulation of news about Iraq indicates that a behind the scenes examination of state propaganda's earlier days is highly relevant John Jenks draws heavily on recently declassified archival material for this book especially files of the Foreign Office's anti Communist Information Research Department IRD propaganda agency and the papers of key media organisations journalists politicians and officials Readers will therefore gain a greater understanding of the depth of the state's power with the media at a time when concerns about propaganda and media manipulation are once again at the fore

News and the British World Simon James Potter,2003 Revealed to contemporaries by the South African War the basis on which the system would develop soon became the focus for debate Commercial organizations including newspaper combinations and news agencies such as Reuters fought to protect their interests while constructive imperialists attempted to enlist the power of the state to strengthen the system Debate culminated in fierce controversies over state censorship and propaganda during and after World War I Based on extensive archival research this study addresses crucial themes including the impact of empire on the press Britain's imperial experience and the idea of a British world Making News Richard R. John,Jonathan Silberstein-Loeb,2015-09-24 How can the news business be re envisioned in a rapidly changing world Can market incentives and technological imperatives provide a way forward How important have been the institutional arrangements that protected the production and distribution of news in the past Making News charts the institutional arrangements that news providers in Britain and America have relied on since the late seventeenth century to facilitate the production and distribution of news It is organized around eight original essays each written by a distinguished specialist and each explicitly comparative Seven chapters survey the shifting institutional arrangements that facilitated the production and distribution of news in Britain and America in the period between 1688 and 1995 An eighth chapter surveys the news business following the commercialization of the Internet while the epilogue links past present and future Its theme is the indispensability in both Great Britain and the United States of non market institutional arrangements in the provisioning of news Only rarely has advertising revenue and direct sales covered costs Almost never has the demand for news generated the revenue necessary for its supply The presumption that the news business can flourish in a marketplace of ideas has long been a civic ideal In practice however the emergence of a genuinely competitive marketplace for the production and distribution of news has limited the resources for high quality news reporting For the production of high quality journalism is a byproduct less of the market than of its supersession And in particular it has long depended on the acquiescence of lawmakers in market limiting business strategies that have transformed journalism in the past and that will in all likelihood transform it once again in the future News Agencies Stephen Jukes,2022-02-23 This book explores the role of international news agencies and investigates whether they have been able to adapt to the contemporary media landscape following the disruption wrought by fake news social media and an increasingly polarised public discourse News Agencies addresses the key players in the industry beginning with the big three Reuters The Associated Press and Agence France Presse and then moving on to the newest global player Bloomberg It also explores the role of alternative providers of international news which are seeking to challenge the Western centric perspective of the agencies Drawing on interviews with senior editors Jukes investigates the challenges agencies face in terms of their editorial strategy and business models in today's social media context At a time when there is widespread distrust in the media and agencies are relying increasingly on user generated content as a source for news Jukes critically explores the role of these agencies in the debate over fake news and policies on objectivity impartiality and verification Shedding light on a sector of the news industry that has steadfastly remained out of the public spotlight this book will be of interest to students and academics in the fields of journalism and media studies

Imperial Co-histories Julie F. Codell, 2003 This book explores the creation of imperial identities in Britain and several of its colonies South Africa India Australia Wales and the ways in which the Victorian press around the world shaped and reflected these identities The concept of co histories borrowed from Edward Said and Frantz Fanon helps explain how the press shaped the imperial and national identities of Britain and of the colonies into co histories that were thoroughly intertwined and symbiotic Exploring a variety of press media this book argues that the press was a site of resistance and revision by colonized authors and publishers as well as a force of colonial authority for the British government editors and publishers who projected a view of the empire to their British colonial and colonized readers Topics include The Journal of Indian Art and Industry produced by the British art schools in India women's periodicals Indian writers in the British press The Imperial Gazetteer published in Scotland the rise of telegraphic news agencies the British press's images of China seen through exhibitions of its art the Tory periodical Blackwood's Magazine and the Imperial Press Conference of 1909 University

News Agencies from Pigeon to Internet K. M. Shrivastava, 2007 Deals with a very important business in global communication of news the news agencies The first news agencies started their business when the fastest technology was a combination of telegraph and carrier pigeon They have survived several technological developments since then and have used these technologies for further diversification of services and revenues The Internet some thought will make the news agencies extinct like dinosaurs But well run news agencies found a new opportunity in this threat Though there have been some corporate biographies of news agencies there has not been any comprehensive analytical work in the past 25 years on this business This book is an attempt to fill this void in the global literature on journalism media studies international communication and business management studies Besides the students of these academic disciplines diplomats policymakers and all types of communication professionals will find this book useful It will also be a good read for lay persons who unconsciously consume the products of news agencies through all types of media from newspapers to mobile phones

Connecting the Nineteenth-Century World Roland Wenzlhuemer,2013 A revealing insight into the links between globalization and the technological advances in communication brought about by the telegraph network Anglo-American Media Interactions, 1850-2000 Joel H. Wiener,Mark Hampton,2007-07-11 This volume reveals the complicated ways in which British and American media have influenced each other over the past two centuries In doing so it adds an important transatlantic dimension to media scholarship while demonstrating the crucial and varied ways in which media have helped build an Anglo American special relationship News with a View Burton St. John III,Kirsten A. Johnson,2014-01-10 Modern mainstream journalism faces a very real disturbance of its foundational premise that credible news is gathered and articulated from an objective stance This volume offers new examinations of how the traditional notion of objectivity is changing as professional journalists grapple with a rapidly evolving news terrain one that has become increasingly crowded by those with no journalistic credentials Examining historical antecedents current dilemmas international aspects and theoretical considerations contributors make the case that the journalist s impulse to hold onto objectivity and to ignore the increasing subjectivities to which citizens are attuned actually contributes to the news media s disconnect from today s news consumer Revealing how traditional journalism needs to incorporate post objective stances these essays stimulate further thought and conversation about news with a view in both theory and practice Defining Management Lars Engwall,Matthias Kipping,Behlül Üsdiken,2016-06-10 Defining Management charts the expansion of management as an idea and practice from a time when it was limited to churches and households to its current ubiquity focusing in particular on the role of business schools consultants and business media in this process How did an entire industry develop around business schools consultants and business media who are now widely considered the authorities regarding best management practice This book shows how these actors on their own and in interaction became taken for granted and gained such definitional power over management and managers expanded across the globe from often modest and not always respected origins and impacted and continue to impact businesses and increasingly the broader economic and social context Building on extant and some new research the book is unique in bringing together issues and actors that have been examined elsewhere separately Any student or professional of management interested in the evolution of their field or the rise of business schools consultants and business media will find this book both novel and thought provoking
