isolated phenomena nor separated from the overall socioeconomic and political structure of society. In fact, these two disciplines interact with the surrounding conditions: either socioeconomic and political changes of the society or technological changes in symbiotic and mutually influential forms. An understanding of how financial management disciplines and accounting practices change and evolve is necessary to enable both of their current practices to be understood for their origins and their relevance to the past. This need can only be met through a historical approach by examining past events and evidence based on clues in the form of archive documents, cross-sectional studies on comparative research, reasoning processes based on theoretical formulas and the like. An explanation of related past phenomena will enable current practices of financial management and accounting practices to be understood and appreciated more. History can explain the origins of current phenomena, especially to the new generation who need to understand their identity and appreciate the contributions of past society. This book offers an explanation of the past regarding financial management practices and accounting practices in North Borneo, now known as the state of Sabah. As a branch of knowledge and practice of society which is more inclined to analyze the current situation and explore the future through economic models, mathematical formulas and statistical forecasts, historical perspectives on financial management practices and accounting practices represent an outlook that is very rarely explored by researchers of accounting practices nor is it a popular choice among historical writers. This book, which chose North Borneo during the colonial era 1881-1963 as the study background, is very useful as reference material by researchers and students as well as reading material to the public, especially those interested in understanding the development of past financial management practices and accounting practices and their association to current practices. The coverage of this book is very comprehensive, covering 83 years period and presents reviews of the socioeconomic and political development of North Borneo related to the development of financial management practices and accounting practices.

Accounting From the Outside (RLE Accounting) Tony Hopwood, 2013-11-26. The 43 papers in this collection, originally published from 1972 to 1987, delve into accounting, observing and exploring its functioning. They construct a basis for interrogating it in use and indeed they attempt to account for accounting. The author seeks to understand accounting to appreciate what it is, what it does, and how it does it, examining it from without rather than from within.

Creating The "Big Mess": A Marxist History Of American Accounting Theory, C.1900-1929 Rob Bryer, 2021-07-15. Creating the Big Mess and its sequel Accounting for Crises use Marx's theory of capitalism to explain why there is no generally accepted theory of financial accounting and explore the consequences by studying the history of American accounting theory from c. 1900 to 2007. The answer, Creating the Big Mess, is first that while late 19th century British accounting principles, founded on the going concern concept, provided an objective basis for holding management accountable to shareholders for its stewardship of capital and were accepted by the nascent American profession, they are inchoate. Second, Irving Fisher's economic theory of accounting, based on the assertion that present value is the accountants' measurement ideal, which is subjective, framed early 20th century American accounting theory which undermined British principles making them incoherent In an unregulated pro business environment leading theorists particularly Henry Rand Hatfield and William A Paton Jr became authorities for management discretion creating the big mess Hatfield saw in late 1920s American accounting Accounting for Crises examines the roles of Fisher s theory in promoting the speculation leading to the 1929 Great Crash aggravating the Great Depression hindering accounting regulation from the 1930s producing the Financial Accounting Standard Board s conceptual framework and facilitating the 2007 2008 Global Financial Crisis
