Heirs of Oppression Angelo J. Corlett, 2010-11-16. Packing his case with moral argument and relevant facts, Angelo Corlett offers the most comprehensive defense to date in favor of reparations for African Americans and American Indians. As Corlett sees it, the heirs of oppression are both the descendants of the oppressors and the descendants of their victims. Corlett delves deeply into the philosophically related issues of collective responsibility, forgiveness, and apology, and reparations as a human right in ways that no other book or article to date has done. He recommends specific policies and tests the basic arguments of this book with a lengthy chapter considering several objections to the line of reasoning grounding the project.

Arguments and Fists Mika LaVaque-Manty, 2002-03-22. Many theorists have addressed a central concern of current political theory by contending that the dithering intellectualism of left politics prevents genuine political action. Arguments and Fists confronts this concern by refuting these arguments and reconciling philosophical debates with the realities of current activism. By looking at theorists such as Montesquieu, Kant, Rousseau, the book contradicts current academic debates and also goes against contemporary theory's image of the liberal political agent as a narrowly rational abstraction. Mika LaVaque-Manty also argues that progressive political philosophy and political action go hand in hand. He then ventures past Kant and Rousseau to talk about specific environmental activism, finding middle ground between the two while asserting that the liberal urge for political reform stems from sound philosophical considerations about the nature of politics and isn't the cowardly afterthoughts some theorists have called it Arguments and Fists then puts these theoretical insights to use examining environmental justice movements and varieties of environmental radicalism showing how liberal theory illuminates concrete contemporary political practices Language in Interaction Inbal Arnon, Marisa Casillas, Chigusa Kurumada, Bruno Estigarribia, 2014-07-17 Understanding how communicative goals impact and drive the learning process has been a long standing issue in the field of language acquisition Recent years have seen renewed interest in the social and pragmatic aspects of language learning the way interaction shapes what and how children learn In this volume we bring together researchers working on interaction in different domains to present a cohesive overview of ongoing interactional research The studies address the diversity of the environments children learn in the role of para linguistic information the pragmatic forces driving language learning and the way communicative pressures impact language use and change Using observational empirical and computational findings this volume highlights the effect of interpersonal communication on what children hear and what they learn This anthology is inspired by and dedicated to Prof Eve V Clark a pioneer in all matters related to language acquisition and a major force in establishing interaction and communication as crucial aspects of language learning The Oxford Handbook of Business Ethics George G. Brenkert, Tom L. Beauchamp, 2010 The Oxford Handbook of Business Ethics is a comprehensive treatment of business ethics from a philosophical approach Each chapter is written by an accomplished philosopher who surveys a major ethical issue in business offers his or her own contribution to the issues that define that topic and provides a bibliography that identifies key works in the field Management and Administration, 1923 Management Challenges for Africa in the Twenty-First Century Felix M. Edoho, 2000-12-30 Edoho and his contributors examine the management challenges facing African governments and businesses on the eve of a new millennium As the authors make clear Africa's future is defined by how Africa does in the 21st century For Africa a major challenge is how to effectively and efficiently manage its vast wealth Africa is not poor because it is poor it is poor because it cannot manage its development process The shortages of managerial knowledge skills and talents are pervasive Consequently the region lacks the ability to organize production and run operations effectively and efficiently The task of developing managerial manpower in Africa is not only imperative it is urgent After outlining theoretical and applied perspectives on management the volume examines the public and private sector planning and management It then explores the globalization of management technology provides case studies of African management dilemmas looks at management ethics and morality and concludes with an analysis of the role of management in African national development As the authors make clear abundant resources will not of themselves usher in an African economic renaissance Africa needs skills to identify and analyze its resources to undertake investment and to establish and run all kinds of organizations Until Africa develops its indigenous managerial talents development will continue to be elusive and the process traumatizing An important resource for scholars students and policy makers involved with African economic development

Basic Equality and Discrimination Dr Nicholas Mark Smith, 2013-02-28 The focus of this book is the idea of equality as a moral political and jurisprudential concept The author is motivated primarily by a concern to better understand conundrums in the justification interpretation and application of discrimination law Nicholas Smith aims to provide a clearer understanding of the nature of the value that the law is trying to uphold equality He rejects the notion that the concept of equality is vacuous and defends the idea as the proper range of moral concern After discussing the general characteristics of the denial of equality and some types of discrimination Smith considers prominent views on the point of equality law He argues that human rights lawyers should step back from the business of trying to steer courts towards vague equality goals informed by conceptions of equality that are either empty or even more abstract than the notion of equality itself If they do Smith thinks that the meaning of equality will be apparent though abstract and our difficulties will be shown to be in the first instance moral ones These moral issues will require more rigorous attention before we can draft discrimination law which gives clear effect to a widely legitimate understanding of what it means to uphold and promote equality This book will be a valuable resource for students and researchers working in the areas of legal philosophy political theory public law and human rights law

Autonomy and Self-Respect Thomas E. Hill, 1991-07-26 This stimulating collection of essays in ethics eschews the simple exposition and refinement of abstract theories Rather the author focuses on everyday moral issues often neglected by philosophers and explores the deeper theoretical questions which they raise Such issues are Is it wrong to tell a lie to protect someone from a painful truth Should one commit a lesser evil to prevent another from doing something worse Can one be both autonomous and compassionate Other topics discussed are servility weakness of will suicide obligations to oneself snobbery and environmental concerns A feature of the collection is the contrast of Kantian and utilitarian answers to these problems The essays are crisply and lucidly written and will appeal to both teachers and students of philosophy

State Punishment Nicola Lacey, 2012-10-12 Nicola Lacey presents a new approach to the question of the moral justification of punishment by the State She focuses on the theory of punishments in context of other political questions such as the nature of political obligation and the function and scope of criminal law Arguing that no convincing set of justifying reasons has so far been produced she puts forward a theory of punishments which places the values of the community at its centre
