Louisiana Survivor:

Survivor Nora Horton Green, 2012-11-21 This is a clear depiction of how devastating a hurricane can be. A hurricane of any magnitude should never be taken lightly. Unfortunately for New Orleans and the surrounding areas, Hurricane Katrina wasn't taken seriously enough because of the many hurricanes that had previously gone through the city. New Orleans has survived many of them, but this time the city was completely destroyed. This horrific storm claimed more than 1800 lives. Some say unnecessarily. Many families are still separated. I'm still displaced myself. Politicians play the blame game, but the outcome speaks for itself. Many lessons have been learned, not just to the ones who run the city but also to many citizens. Are homes or possessions or positions more important than lives? Will more women and children and the elderly and the indigent suffer again while their men in the family stand by helplessly again? Hopefully not. When did being poor start being a crime? When will just being human be enough? New Orleans is so small compared to other cities you can ride around the whole city about 3 times and still be home before dark. I miss New Orleans so much. There will never be another city like the one we had already. I don't care how new it gets. That wanted to see what it felt like to just be you. They couldn't wait to get in that French Quarter or the Jazz Festival at the Fair Grounds or Mardi Gras time. Oh boy. There was not a lot of need of a car in New Orleans unless you were a contractor or something like that. There were bus stops on almost every corner of the streets all over the city. They ran almost 5 to 10 minutes apart. Even on Sunday. So you could still go to church. Or sometimes we just walked. Where in the world do you know of a place with a church on one corner and a liquor store on the other and then a funeral home or bar room a few feet away? There were a lot of corner grocery stores in case you didn't feel like going all the way to the big stores just get a loaf of bread and some sandwich meat and a cold drink. It was so very unique. I loved it. I loved living there too. The people were so much more personable than anywhere in the world. Why would you buy a car if you didn't really need one or couldn't afford one? Unless you were white or wealthy. Damn near every black person was on low income wages if you were lucky enough to have a job. Other than that you were on welfare and food stamps. The white and wealthy didn't really want to get rid of all the blacks. What would they do without us? Somebody told me that you have to have a certain percentage of poor people living in the city in order to receive government funds. We knew where the money was. We just couldn't get our hands on any of it. Can you guess why? We made the City of New Orleans what it was. There was no way for the citizens without transportation to leave the city. Mandatory or not. This was a very well known fact by everyone in City Hall and Baton Rouge, Louisiana. So why wasn't transportation provided sooner? Yes, I feel that a lot of this tragedy could have been avoided. It still hurts to know that so many people lost their loved ones. It's a terrible feeling to know that you can't even go home to the Lower Ninth Ward because the Mighty Muddy Dirty Nasty Mississippi River was allowed to infest your town with debris and raw sewer matter. We had sense enough to think that there were still some people in the United States of America in the year of 2005 with their noses stuck up so far in the air that they couldn't see themselves coming down far enough just to help.
