Lourdes Portillo:

Lourdes Portillo Rosa Linda Fregoso, 2014-02-19 Filmmaker Lourdes Portillo sees her mission as channeling the hopes and dreams of a people. Clearly political commitment has inspired her choice of subjects. With themes ranging from state repression to AIDS, Portillo's films include Después del Terremoto (the Oscar-nominated Las Madres), The Mothers of the Plaza de Mayo, La Ofrenda, The Days of the Dead, The Devil Never Sleeps, and Corpus A Home Movie for Selena. The first study of Portillo and her films, this collection is collaborative and multifaceted in approach, emphasizing aspects of authorial creativity, audience reception, and production processes typically hidden from view. Rosa Linda Fregoso, the volume editor, has organized the book into three parts: interviews by Fregoso and Kathleen Newman and B. Ruby Rich; critical perspectives; essays by Fregoso, Yvonne Yarbro Bejarano, Sylvie Thouard, Norma Iglesias, and Barbara McBane; and production materials: screenplays, script notes, storyboards, etc. This innovative collection provides inside information on the challenges of making independent films. By describing the production constraints Portillo has surmounted, Fregoso deepens our appreciation of this gifted filmmaker's life, her struggles, and the evolution of her art.

The Force of Witness Rosa-Linda Fregoso, 2023-02-27 In The Force of Witness, Rosa-Linda Fregoso examines the contra feminicide movement in Mexico and other feminist efforts to eradicate gender violence. Drawing on interviews, art, documentaries, and her years of activism, Fregoso traces the micro and macro scales of misogyny and the patterns of state complicity with gender violence. She shows how different forms of witnessing—from activist mothers bearing witness to the memories of their daughters and expert witnesses in court cases to communal witnessing and a scholar-activist citizen witnessing her own actions—are key to resisting feminicidal violence. Fregoso situates these forms of witness in the histories, contexts, structures, bodies, and intersectional struggles they emerge from. By outlining the complexities of feminicidal violence in relation to witnessing processes, Fregoso challenges the notion of witness as an individual or autonomous subject inscribed solely in the legal or religious arenas. Rather, she theorizes witness as a force of collectivity and a constellation of multiple social locations and intersectional practices that work together to abolish feminicidal violence.

Border Cinema Monica Hanna, Rebecca A. Sheehan, 2019-04-15 The rise of digital media and globalization's intensification since the 1990s have significantly refigured global cinema's form and content. The coincidence of digitalization and globalization has produced what this book helps to define and describe as a flourishing border cinema whose aesthetics reflect, construct, intervene in, denature, and reconfigure geopolitical borders. This collection demonstrates how border cinema resists contemporary border fortification processes, showing how cinematic media have functioned technologically and aesthetically to engender contemporary shifts in national and individual identities while proposing alternative conceptions of these identities to those promulgated by the often restrictive current political rhetoric and ideologies that represent a backlash to globalization.

Spilling the Beans in Chicanolandia Frederick Luis Aldama, 2010-01-01 Since the 1980s, a prolific second wave of Chicano writers and artists has tremendously expanded the range of genres and subject matter in Chicano literature and art Building on the pioneering work of their predecessors whose artistic creations were often tied to political activism and the civil rights struggle today's Chicano writers and artists feel free to focus as much on the aesthetic quality of their work as on its social content They use novels short stories poetry drama documentary films and comic books to shape the raw materials of life into art objects that cause us to participate empathetically in an increasingly complex Chicano identity and experience This book presents far ranging interviews with twenty one second wave Chicano poets fiction writers dramatists documentary filmmakers and playwrights Some are mainstream widely recognized creators while others work from the margins because of their sexual orientations or their controversial positions Frederick Luis Aldama draws out the artists and authors on both the aesthetic and the sociopolitical concerns that animate their work Their conversations delve into such areas as how the artists or writers life experiences have molded their work why they choose to work in certain genres and how they have transformed them what it means to be Chicano in today's pluralistic society and how Chicano identity influences and is influenced by contact with ethnic and racial identities from around the world

Anderson, Wendee Kubik, Mary Rucklos Hampton, 2010 More than 300 women and men gathered in August 2008 at a conference entitled Missing Women Decolonization Third Wave Feminisms and Indigenous People of Canada and Mexico Here personal stories and theoretical tools were brought together as academics activists family members of missing and murdered women police media policy makers justice workers and members of faith communities offered their perspectives on the issue of racialized sexualized violence Back cover The Latin American Road Movie Verónica Garibotto, Jorge Pérez, 2016-07-28 This volume explores the ways films made by Latin American directors and or co produced in Latin American countries have employed the road movie genre to address the reconfiguration of the geographical sociopolitical economic and cultural landscape of Latin America The Bronze Screen Rosa Linda Fregoso, 1993 Explores Chicana and Chicano popular culture through contemporary representations in both Hollywood commercial and independent cinema Rosa Linda Fregoso's The Bronze Screen opens the way for international debate on the new critical field of Chicano cinema. Fregoso provides an incisive articulation of the ways in which narrative codes in film can telescope complex versions of Mexican and American culture and history. The often violent impact of first U.S. and third Mexico world cultures and geographies is channeled through the very term Chicano as well as its cinematic representation. Fregoso's masterful critique brings out with great clarity the irony, paradox, and contradictions of such historical collisions.

Latino Images in Film Charles Ramírez Berg, 2009-09-15

The bandido, the harlot, the male buffoon, the female clown, the Latin lover, and the dark lady: these have been the defining and demeaning images of Latinos in U.S. cinema for more than a century. In this book, Charles Ramírez Berg develops an innovative theory of stereotyping that accounts for the persistence of such images in U.S. popular culture. He also explores how Latino actors and filmmakers have actively subverted and resisted such stereotyping. In the first part of the book, Berg sets forth his theory of stereotyping, defines the classic stereotypes, and investigates how actors such as Raúl Julia, Rosie Perez, Jos Ferrer, Lupe Vélez, and Gilbert Roland have subverted stereotypical roles. In the second part, he analyzes Hollywood's portrayal of Latinos in three genres: social problem films, John Ford westerns, and science fiction films. In the concluding section, Berg looks at Latino self-representation and anti-stereotyping in Mexican American border documentaries and in the feature films of Robert Rodríguez. He also presents an exclusive interview in which Rodríguez talks about his entire career from Bedhead to Spy Kids and comments on the role of a Latino filmmaker in Hollywood and how he tries to subvert the system.

Latin American Documentary Filmmaking David William Foster, 2013-05-02

Latin American Documentary Filmmaking is the first volume written in English to explore Latin American documentary filmmaking with extensive and intelligent analysis. David William Foster, the leading authority on Latin American urban cultural production, provides rich new interpretations on the production of gender, political persecution, historical conflicts, and exclusion from the mainstream in many of Latin America's most important documentary films. Foster provides a series of detailed examinations of major texts of Latin American filmmaking, discussing their textual production and processes of meaning. His analysis delves deeply into the world of Latin American film and brings forth a discourse of structure that has previously been absent from the fields of filmmaking and Latin American studies. This volume provides perspective on diverse and methodological approaches, pulling from a wide scope of cinematic traditions. Using his own critical readings and research, Foster presents his findings in terms that are accessible to non-Spanish speakers and Latin American film enthusiasts. A much-needed contribution to the field of Latin American documentary film, Foster's research and perspective will be a valuable source for those interested in film studies, gender studies, and culture.
