Pearce, 2015-07-04 Excerpt from Love Besieged A Romance of the Defense of Lucknow More than half a century has passed since the Mutiny of 1857 shook the structure of our supremacy in India to its very foundations The causes of the disaffection the identity of the actual leaders the methods of organisation are as mysterious now as they were then Time has done little to add to our knowledge of the native of India He moves slowly and silently he goes about his avocation apparently contented he pays his taxes and probably grumbles less than the average Englishman So long as all is quiet his rulers do not trouble they are satisfied everything is well if nothing is seen But the Eastern nature never changes It is as it has ever been subtle secret patient No one at the time of the Mutiny was able to penetrate below the surface The episode of the greased cartridges was but the spark which ignited the fuse The fuse itself was invisible the hands that laid it unknown Unrest in India the words might almost be stereotyped From time to time a mist of doubt has arisen has floated across the horizon has melted away About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works Imperialism as Diaspora Ralph Crane, Radhika Mohanram, 2013-08-31 Imperialism as Diaspora reassesses the important years of the British Raj in India and the diasporic position of Anglo Indians who while neither quite British nor Indian were simultaneously both and who were instrumental in the construction of the Empire in India Love Besieged Charles E. Pearce, 1909 The Oxford History of the Novel in English Patrick Parrinder, 2011 This series presents a comprehensive global and up to date history of English language prose fiction and written by a international team of scholars dust jacket Red Revenge Charles E. Pearce, 1912 Bulletin Johnson Public Library (Hackensack, N.J.), 1908 Classified Catalogue East St. Louis. Public Library, 1922 Cambridge Public Library Bulletin Cambridge Public Library (Cambridge, Mass.), 1911 Writing, Travel and Empire Peter Hulme, Russell McDougall, 2007-08-29 The British Empire drew on the talents of many remarkable figures whose lives reveal a wonderfully rich involvement with the crucial issues of the period. In many cases they left a legacy of travel writing, novels, biography and ethnography which made important contributions to our knowledge of other cultures. Writing Travel and Empire explores the lives and writings of eight such figures including Sir George Grey, Gertrude Bell, Sir Hugh Clifford and Roger Casement. All travelled the Empire from Grey, the renowned colonial governor who undertook dangerous journeys to the interior of Australia, to Tom Harrisson, the emaciated polymath war hero and Arctic explorer whose time in the New Hebrides embraced both cannibalistic rituals and a meeting with film legend Douglas Fairbanks Sr who sought Harrisson out for a Hollywood feature about savage life. All saw themselves as writers despite their very different approaches and interests and each was writing against a backdrop of the impending disappearance of indigenous cultures around the world. Writing from the margins of what was shortly to become the more formalised discipline of anthropology, their work yields interesting insights into both the issues of empire and the ways in which academic disciplines define the boundaries of their subject. Embracing themes such as gender and travel, racial science, the globalisation of native management and the internal colonies and with a geographical coverage that extends from South America to Russia via Africa and the South Seas, Writing Travel and Empire will engage all those with an interest in cultural geography, anthropology, history, postcolonial studies, biography and travel writing.
