Q & A Queer And Asian David L. Eng, Alice Y. Hom, 1998-08-24 What does it mean to be queer and Asian American at the turn of the century The writers activists essayists and artists who contribute to this volume consider how Asian American racial identity and queer sexuality interconnect in mutually shaping and complicating ways Their collective aim in the words of the editors is to articulate a new conception of Asian American racial identity its heterogeneity hybridity and multiplicity concepts that after all underpinned the Asian American moniker from its very inception Q A approaches matters of identity from a variety of points of view and academic disciplines in order to explore the multiple crossings of race and ethnicity with sexuality and gender Drawing together the work of visual artists fiction writers community organizers scholars and participants in roundtable discussions the collection gathers an array of voices and experiences that represent the emerging communities of a queer Asian America Collectively these contributors contend that Asian American studies needs to be more attentive to issues of sexuality and that queer studies needs to be more attentive to other aspects of difference especially race and ethnicity Vigorously rejecting the notion that a symmetrical relationship between race and homosexuality would weaken lesbian gay and queer movements the editors refuse to believe that a desirably queer world is one in which we remain perpetual aliens queer houseguests in a queer nation

Asian Translation Traditions Eva Tsoi Hung Hung, Judy Wakabayashi, 2014-07-16 Translation Studies one of the fastest developing fields in the humanities since the early 1980s has so far been Euro centric both in its theoretical explorations and in its historical grounding One of the major reasons for this is the unavailability of reliable data and systematic analysis of translation activities in non European cultures While a number of scholars in the Western tradition of translation studies have become increasingly aware of this bias and its problems practically indicates that the burden of addressing such deficiencies and imbalances should be on the shoulders of scholars who are conversant with the non Western translation traditions and capable of engaging in much needed basic research This book brings together eleven scholars with expertise in different Asian translation traditions who highlight language and cultural environments as well as perceptions and modes of operation often different from those in the Western tradition Their contributions enhance our understanding of the various elements that influence the transfer of knowledge across cultures and provide invaluable data for the study of translation as a force for cultural development and cultural planning Contributors include Eva Hung Judy Wakabayashi Lawrence Wong Yoshihiro Osawa Teresa Hyun Keith Taylor Rita Kothari Doris Jedamski Raniela Barbaza and Bill Cummings

Ames,1998-04-30 This is the third in a series dealing with the concept of self and its importance in understanding Chinese Japanese and Indian cultures The authors examine the relationship between self and image and its significance in attaining a deeper knowledge of Chinese Japanese and Indian cultures The relationship between self and image is as complex as it is fascinating It takes on different meanings and significances in diverse cultures In this volume the focus of attention is largely on representational practices and symbolic media such as literature cinema art and dance By examining both classical and contemporary works associated with China India and Japan the authors seek on the one hand to demonstrate the intricate relationship between self and image and on the other to make use of that relationship to further our understanding of these cultures Ecologies in Southeast Asian Literatures: Histories, Myths and Societies Chi P. Pham,Chitra Sankaran,Gurpreet Kaur,2019-09-09 Ecocriticism in relation to the Southeast Asian region is relatively new So far John Charles Ryan's Ecocriticism in Southeast Asia is the first book of its kind to focus on the region and its literature to give an ecocritical analysis that volume compiles analyses of the eco literatures from most of the Southeast Asian region providing a broad insight into the ecological concerns of the region as depicted in its literatures and other cultural texts This edited volume furthers the study of Southeast Asian ecocriticism focusing specifically on prominent myths and histories and the myriad ways in which they connect to the social fabric of the region Our book is an original contribution to the expanding field of ecocriticism as it highlights the mytho historical basis of many of the region s literatures and their relationship to the environment The varied articles in this volume together explore the idea of nature and its relationship with humans The always problematic questions that surround such explorations such as why do we regard nature as external or how is humankind a continuum with nature emerge throughout the volume either overtly or implicitly As Pepper 1993 points out what Karl Marx referenced as first or external nature gave rise to humankind But humanity worked on this first nature to produce a second nature the material creations of society plus its institutions ideas and values Pepper 108 Thus our volume constantly negotiates this field of ideas and belief systems in diverse ways and in various cultures attempting to relate them to the current ecological predicaments of ASEAN It will likely prove an invaluable resource for scholars and students of ecocriticism and more broadly of Southeast Asian cultures and literatures
