Love Letters Michelle Janning, 2018-06-14 In today's world of Tinder and texting do we write and save love letters anymore Are we more likely to save a screenshot of a text exchange or a box of paper letters from a lover How might these different ways to store a love letter make us feel Sociologist Michelle Janning's Love Letters Saving Romance in the Digital Age offers a new twist on the study of love letters what people do with them and whether digital or paper format matters Through stories a rich review of past research and her own survey findings Janning uncovers whether and how people from different groups including gender and age approach their love letter curatorial practices in an era when digitization of communication is nearly ubiquitous She investigates the importance of space and time showing how our connection to the material world and our attraction to nostalgia matter in actions as seemingly small and private as saving storing stumbling upon or even burning a love letter Janning provides a framework for understanding why someone may prefer digital or paper love letters and what that preference says about a person's access and attachment to powerful cultural values such as individualization taking time in a hectic world longevity privacy and keeping cherished things in a safe place Ultimately Janning contends the cultural values that tell us how romantic love should be defined are more powerful than the format our love letters take

Real Estate, A Love Story Joshua Benaim, 2021-06-29 Real Estate A Love Story shows the next generation of entrepreneurs how to pursue profit while building a human-centered future for American cities. Growing up on New York's Upper West Side in a bustling family of Jewish immigrants, Joshua Benaim discovered the power of place as he learned from his grandfather the art of minimizing risk while pursuing value in the world's toughest business: New York City real estate. And when a chance encounter in a cab led him to study opera, Benaim's time as a touring baritone inspired him to bring the poetry, passion, and historical authenticity of music to the world of business. In urban real estate, Benaim sees unique opportunities: the chance for us to follow our dreams, find love, nurture one another, and experience art in the everyday. But when Covid-19 disrupted our lives, radically changing the way we use our private and public spaces, he faced a question: Are cities and the real estate industry that sustains them obsolete? Benaim says no. The city is not dead; it is being reborn. Guided by a set of traditional values that prize fairness, honor, beauty, and respect for the communities in which he works, Benaim shares his wisdom through this lyrical story in four parts: I How I Fell in Love with Real Estate, II Real Estate Investment and the Handshake Philosophy, III The Art of Real Estate Development, IV The Future of Real Estate. An intimate blend of memoir and business strategy, Real Estate A Love Story is a guide for those shaping their own paths and anyone who believes in human value-driven enterprise.

Love and Technology Fabian Broeker, 2023-12-22 Love and Technology: An Ethnography of Dating App Users in Berlin explores how dating apps fit into Berlin's unique dating culture and form a tangible nucleus around which users navigate dating rituals, romantic biographies, and digitally mediated intimacies within city space. Drawing on the field of digital anthropology, this book takes the form of an immersive ethnography resulting from 13 months of fieldwork with young dating app users across Tinder, Bumble, and OkCupid in Berlin. It argues that dating apps offer or impose, depending on their context of use, a series of affordances. These affordances and the technological devices they rely upon exist through the relation between users and their environment, both in terms of physical spaces and cultural frameworks. The book posits that dating apps are woven into spatial practices and self-narrativisation, constituting imagined communities for their users as well as a canvas alongside the city of Berlin against which to characterise romantic experiences. Scholars interested in digital anthropology, ethnography, dating, and regional Berlin will find that Love and Technology offers a vibrant springboard for thinking through both theoretical and methodological concerns.

On Love, Confession, Surrender and the Moral Self Ian Clausen, 2017-11-30 The Reading Augustine series presents concise personal readings of St. Augustine of Hippo from leading philosophers and religious scholars. Ian Clausen's On Love

Confession Surrender and the Moral Self describes Augustine's central ideas on morality and how he arrived at them. On Love, Confession, Surrender and the Moral Self offers a way of looking at Augustine's early writing career as an on-going developing process, a process whose chief result was to shape a conception of the moral self that has lasted and prospered to the present day.
