The Nutrition Transition, 2002-08-30 This book deals with the dramatic changes in diet and lifestyle that are occurring in the developing world as a result of globalization and their impact on human health The Editors have assembled a leading group of scientists in the fields of economics population sciences international health medicine nutrition and food sciences to address each of the key issues related to the changes in demographic trends food production and marketing and disease patterns in the developing world The Nutrition Transition provides essential information to understand the far reaching effects that global economic social and cultural trends are having on diet related disease patterns in countries of transition Contains numerous illustrative figures and tables Two case studies included on China and Brazil Foreword written by Nevin Scrimshaw recipient of the World Food Prize

Case Studies in Food Policy for Developing Countries Per Pinstrup-Andersen, Fuzhi Cheng, 2018-07-05 The food problems now facing the world scarcity and starvation contamination and illness overabundance and obesity are both diverse and complex What are their causes How severe are they Why do they persist What are the solutions In three volumes that serve as valuable teaching tools and have been designed to complement the textbook Food Policy for Developing Countries by Per Pinstrup Andersen and Derrill D Watson II they call upon the wisdom of disciplines including economics nutrition sociology anthropology environmental science medicine and geography to create a holistic picture of the state of the world's food systems today Volume I of the Case Studies addresses policies related to health nutrition food consumption and poverty

Case Studies in Food Policy for Developing Countries: Institutions and international trade policies Per Pinstrup-Andersen, 2009 The food problems now facing the world scarcity and starvation contamination and illness overabundance and obesity are both diverse and complex What are their causes How severe are they Why do they persist What are the solutions The authors of the more than sixty international case studies contained in these books approach the food system with a multidisciplinary perspective In three volumes that serve as valuable teaching tools they call upon the wisdom of disciplines including economics nutrition sociology anthropology environmental science medicine and geography to create a holistic picture of the state of the world's food systems today The authors focus in on specific cases from all corners of the globe to cover topics including drought and soil conservation land allocation and cooperative marketing efforts and food safety measures and advertising policies In documenting past successes and failures these case studies provide a valuable foundation for future research and efforts to create truly successful and sustainable food policy Pub desc

Food Practices in Transition Gert Spaargaren, Peter

Oosterveer, Anne Loeber, 2013-06-17 This edited volume presents and reflects upon empirical evidence of sustainability induced and related transition in food practices The material collected in the various chapters contributes to our understanding of the ways in which ideas and preferences sociotechnological developments and changes in the governance of food interact and become visible in practices of consumption retail and production Food Policy Tim Lang, David

Barling, Martin Caraher, 2009-03-19 For over half a century food policy has mapped a path for progress based upon a belief that the right mix of investment scientific input and human skills could unleash a surge in productive capacity which would resolve humanity's food related health and welfare problems It assumed that more food would yield greater health and happiness by driving down prices increasing availability and feeding more mouths In the 21st century this policy mix is quietly becoming unstuck In a world marred by obesity alongside malnutrition climate change alongside fuel and energy crises water stress alongside more mouths to feed and social inequalities alongside unprecedented accumulation of wealth the old rubric of food policy needs re evaluation This book explores the enormity of what the new policy mix must address taking the approach that food policy must be inextricably linked with public health environmental damage and social inequalities to be effective Written by three authors with differing backgrounds one in political science another in environmental health and health promotion and the third in social psychology this book reflects the myriad of perspectives essential to a comprehensive view of modern food policy It attempts to make sense of what is meant by food policy explores whether the term has any currency in current policy discourse assesses whether current policies help or hinder what happens judges whether consensus can triumph in the face of competing bids for understanding looks at all levels of governance across the range of actors in the food system from companies and the state to civil society and science considers what direction food policies are taking not just in the UK but internationally assesses who and what gains or loses in the making of these food policies and identifies a modern framework for judging how good or limited processes of policy making are This book provides a major comprehensive review of current and past food policy thinking and proposing the need for what the authors call an ecological public health approach to food policy Nothing less will be fit for the 21st century A

Modern Guide to Food Economics Roosen, Jutta, Hobbs, Jill E., 2022-03-17 This Modern Guide provides detailed theoretical and empirical insights into key areas of research in food economics It takes a forward looking perspective on how different actors in the food system shape the sustainability of food production distribution and consumption as well as on major challenges to efficient and inclusive food systems Public Health Nutrition Natalie Stein, 2014 Issues related to nutrition are among the most pressing public health concerns in modern times Worldwide malnutrition affects nearly 1 billion individuals or more than one in seven people Many Protein energy malnutrition and micronutrient deficiencies play roles in more than half of all childhood deaths Effects of malnutrition include mortality decreased economic productivity morbidities such as blindness and stunting and development of chronic diseases With a unique focus on Global Health this book is a

Food Wars Tim Lang, Michael Heasman, 2015-10-16 In the years since publication of the first edition of Food Wars much has happened in the world of food policy This new edition brings these developments fully up to date within the original analytical framework of competing paradigms or worldviews shaping the direction and decision making within food politics and policy The key theme of the importance of integrating human and environmental health has become even more pressing In the first edition the authors set out and brought together the different strands of emerging agendas and competing narratives The second edition retains the same core structure and includes updated examples case studies and the new issues which show how these conflicting tendencies have played out in practice over recent years and what this tells us about the way the global food system is heading Examples of key issues given increased attention include nutrition including the global rise in obesity as well as chronic conditions hunger and under nutrition the environment particularly the challenges of climate change biodiversity loss water stress and food security food industry concentration and market power volatility and uncertainty over food prices and policy responses tensions over food democracy and citizenship social and cultural aspects impacting food and nutrition policies

Urban Food Planning Rositsa T. Ilieva, 2016-09-13 This highly original work examines the rise of the urban food planning movement in the Global North and provides insights into the new relationship between cities and food which has started developing over the past decade It sheds light on cities as new spaces for food system innovation and on food as a tool for sustainable urban development Drawing insights from the literature on socio technical transitions the book presents examples of pioneering urban food planning endeavours from North America and Western Europe especially the Netherlands and the UK These are integrated into a single mosaic helping to uncover the conceptual analytical design and organizational innovations emerging at the interface of food and urban policy and planning The author shows how promising seeds of transition to a shared urban food planning agenda are in the making though the urban food planning niche as a whole still lacks the necessary maturity to lastingly influence mainstream planning practices and the dominant agri food system regime Some of the strategic levers to cope with the current instability and limitations of urban food planning and effectively transition it from a marginal novelty to a normalized domain of policy research and practice are systematically examined to this end The conclusions and recommendations put forward have major implications for scholars activists and public officials seeking to radically transform the co evolution of food cities and the environment

Health Transitions and the Double Disease Burden in Asia and the Pacific Milton James Lewis, Kerrie L. Macpherson, 2013 With in depth analysis of more than fifteen countries this volume examines the impact of the double disease burden on health care regimes resource allocation strategies for prevention and control on the wealthiest nations in the region as well as the smallest Pacific islands Milton Lewis University of Sydney

Food Wars Michael Heasman, Tim Lang, 2004-04-26 Food Wars is a heartening book which calls for a radical change in the way the world feeds itself It offers a blueprint for a future where nobody goes to bed hungry Derek Cooper founder presenter of the BBC s Food Programme An important book that should be read by everyone who cares about how the way food is produced affects our own health as well as that of the environment and our national economies Marion Nestle author of Food Politics and Paulette Goddard Professor of Nutrition Food Studies and Public Health New York University The emergence of global markets has a far reaching impact on what we eat and on health food security social justice and quality of life What matters now is not just what we eat but how and where it has been produced distributed and processed and the assumptions upon which this production is based a global politics of food and health Food Wars argues that two conflicting paradigms one developing food through integrating the life sciences the other though ecology are battling to replace the dominant industrial productionist model of the 20th century both grappling to attract investment public support and policy legitimacy over the appropriate use of biology and food technologies

Agrifood Transitions in the Anthropocene Allison M. Loconto, Douglas H. Constance, 2024-02-01 The greatest challenges of the twenty first century stem from the fact that we are now living in a new epoch the Anthropocene The human footprint on the planet can no longer be denied One of the greatest and most essential human innovations agriculture is being increasingly recognised as a leading contributor to climate change According to global governance bodies the world will need to feed a predicted nine billion people by 2050 However in this Anthropocene we must address the environmental inequalities in how these people will be fed This book explores our current societal struggles to transition towards more sustainable agrifood systems It suggests that debates around sustainable agriculture must be social as well as technical exploring the growth of social movements campaigning for more democratic food systems However as each chapter demonstrates both the problems and the solutions in sustainable agriculture are highly contested Using the term agrifood to capture the nexus between research governance and the environment knowledge environment governance this book provides an in depth and wide ranging account of current research around agricultural production and food consumption The book introduces the Anthropocene along with the fundamental question that it poses about human nature interactions It outlines the core concerns related to agriculture and food and the debates around the need for agrifood system transitions Each chapter investigates controversies in the field through case studies These contributions offer a call for sociologists of agriculture and food to engage with the controversies unfolding in the Anthropocene

Social

Innovation and Sustainability Transition Geoff Desa,Xiangping Jia,2022-11-09 This book uses a historical and modern lens to reimagine the role that Extension could potentially play in catalyzing reciprocal co learning relationships between Land Grant Universities and their diverse local constituencies The establishment of statewide extension systems was once seen as a way to ensure that Land Grant Universities would be accessible and responsive to all of a state s residents Extension systems continue to offer a front door to a major public university in almost every county of the United States but they tend to be viewed primarily as a way to translate science or distribute information from the university to the public This books argues for the importance of Extension and shows that we are conceiving of this system too narrowly Only by retelling the stories of the Extension and getting people to see themselves as part of the story can we imagine a different future in which state universities and land grant colleges engage more authentically and equitably in two way relationships with their local constituents in catalyzing reciprocal co learning relationships between Land Grant Universities and their diverse local constituencies Chapter Palatable disruption the politics of plant milk chapter Feeding the melting pot inclusive strategies for the multi ethnic city chapter A carrot isn t a carrot isn t a carrot tracing value in alternative practices of food exchange chapter Virtualizing the good life reworking narratives of agrarianism and the rural idyll in a computer game and chapter Workable utopias for social change through inclusion and empowerment Community supported agriculture CSA in Wales as social innovation are available open access under a Creative Commons Attribution 4 0 International license via link springer.com

Livestock in a Changing Landscape, Volume 1 Henning Steinfeld,Harold A. Mooney,Fritz Schneider,Laurie E. Neville,2013-03-06 The rapidly changing nature of animal production systems especially increasing intensification and globalization is playing out in complex ways around the world Over the last century livestock keeping evolved from a means of harnessing marginal resources to produce items for local consumption to a key component of global food chains Livestock in a Changing Landscape offers a comprehensive examination of these important and far reaching trends The books are an outgrowth of a collaborative effort involving international nongovernmental organizations including the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization UN FAO the International Livestock Research Institute ILRI the Swiss College of Agriculture SHL the French Agricultural Research Centre for International Development CIRAD and the Scientific Committee for Problems of the Environment SCOPE Volume 1 examines the forces shaping change in livestock production and management the resulting impacts on landscapes land use and social systems and potential policy and management responses Volume 2 explores needs and draws experience from region specific contexts and detailed case studies The case studies describe how drivers and consequences of change play out in specific geographical areas and how public and private responses are shaped and implemented Together the volumes present new sustainable approaches to the challenges created by fundamental shifts in livestock management and production and represent an essential resource for policy makers industry managers and academics involved with this issue

Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, United Nations Children's Fund, World Food Programme, World Health Organization, 2023-03-10 This is the fifth edition of the Asia and the Pacific Regional Overview of Food Security and Nutrition annual report This publication is led by FAO's Regional Office for Asia and the Pacific RAP and jointly contributed to by United Nations partner agencies UNICEF WFP WHO on the region's progress or lack thereof to achieve the Sustainable Development Goals in particular SDG 2 Ending Hunger and the World Health Assembly WHA 2030 targets on food security and nutrition In recent years previous editions reported that progress was stalling then regressing and then more recently pushing us further off track This reverse was evident even before the COVID 19 pandemic took hold in 2020 The decline continued and worsened during the pandemic and the data is captured in this report Updated estimates on the cost and affordability of a healthy diet show that nearly 45 percent of the region's population cannot afford one Reducing the cost of a healthy diet and making it more affordable is a critical element for achieving ending hunger SDG2 and also the other SDGs This year's report also looks closely at food security and nutrition in urban areas which will increasingly contribute to the progress in SDG indicators as the proportion of the urban population across the region is set to cross 50 percent in this decade

The Politics of Potential Michelle Pentecost, 2024-01-12 The first one thousand days of human life or the period between conception and age two is one of the most pivotal periods of human development Optimizing nutrition during this time not only prevents childhood malnutrition but also determines future health and potential The Politics of Potential examines early life interventions in the first one thousand days of life in South Africa drawing on fieldwork from international conferences government offices health care facilities and the everyday lives of fifteen women and their families in Cape Town Michelle Pentecost explores various aspects of a politics of potential a term that underlines the first one thousand days concept and its effects on clinical care and the lives of childbearing women in South Africa Why was the First One Thousand Days project so readily adopted by South Africa and many other countries Pentecost not only explores this question but also discusses the science of intergenerational transmissions of health disease and human capital and how this constitutes new forms of intergenerational responsibility The women who are the target of first one thousand days interventions are cast as both vulnerable and responsible for the health of future generations such that despite its history intergenerational responsibility in South Africa remains entrenched in powerfully gendered and racialized ways

Routledge Handbook of Global Public Health in Asia Siân M. Griffiths, Jin Ling Tang, Eng Kiong Yeoh, 2014-04-16 Global public health is of growing concern to most governments and populations nowhere more so than in Asia the world's largest and most populous continent Whilst major advances have been made in controlling infectious diseases through public health measures as well as clinical medical treatments the world now faces other challenges including ageing populations and the epidemic crisis of obesity and non communicable diseases New emerging infections continue to develop and the growing threats to health due to environmental pollution and climate change increase the need for resilience and sustainability These threats to health are global in nature and this Handbook will explore perspectives on current public health issues in South Southeast and East Asia informing global as well as regional debate Whilst many books cite Western examples of the development of global public health this Handbook brings together both Western and Eastern scholarship creating a new global public health perspective suitable to face modern challenges in promoting the population's health This Handbook is essential reading not only for students professionals and scholars of global public health and related fields but is also written to be accessible to those with a general interest in the health of Asia
