Self Help Housing The Poor And The State In The Caribbean:

Self-help Housing, the Poor, and the State in the Caribbean Robert B. Potter, Dennis Conway, 1997 This collection of essays represents the first in depth scholarly treatment of housing policies and conditions throughout the Caribbean The contributors consider both the performance of the state and the autonomous activities of the poor making this volume an invaluable contribution to future planning and debate The essays each dealing with a specific island or group of islands collectively address four main themes the history of housing provision since colonization current housing conditions state policies toward housing provision and the changing relationships between governments international funding agencies the private housing sector and the peoples responses These investigations not only highlight the often alarming problems that Caribbean nations face in providing adequate housing for the poor but also implicate governments in past and present failures and poor performances However the essays are also filled with useful insights about the ways in which progressive housing policies can be formulated and implemented For example the volume suggests that the Caribbean s rich heritage of folk and vernacular architectural styles should be taken into serious account in future planning efforts In a concluding synthesis chapter the volume editors argue that a more progressive future is attainable if all parties exhibit the political will that the poor have already demonstrated

Low-income Housing and the State in the Eastern Caribbean Robert B. Potter, 1994 The first comprehensive analysis of housing conditions and State policies in three countries of the eastern Caribbean Grenada St Lucia and St Vincent and the Grenadines The study focuses on the interrelationships between the poor low income housing and the policies of the State The author concludes that in the realm of State housing policy and provision the efforts of low income groups to house themselves have been almost totally neglected as a socio cultural resource of major importance Handbook of Latin American Studies v 57

Low-cost Housing in Barbados Mark R. Watson, Robert B. Potter, 2001 The Barbados Tenancies Programme provides an example of what can take place when the state elects to intervene in low income housing This work offers an empirical study of the plantation tenancies since the upgrading programme began in the 1980s examining different aspects of 150 tenancies

The Contemporary Caribbean Robert B. Potter, David Barker, Thomas Klak, Denis Conway, 2015-07-17 This text focuses on the contemporary economic social geographical environmental and political realities of the Caribbean region Historical aspects of the Caribbean such as slavery the plantation system and plantocracy are explored in order to explain the contemporary nature of and challenges faced by the Caribbean The book is divided into three parts dealing respectively with the foundations of the Caribbean rural and urban bases of the contemporary Caribbean and global restructuring and the Caribbean industry tourism and politics

Resource Sustainability and Caribbean Development Duncan F. M. McGregor, David Barker, Sally Lloyd-Evans, 1998 Resource Sustainability and Caribbean Development follows on from Barker and McGregor s earlier edited volume Environment and Development in the Caribbean Geographical Perspectives 1995 and aims to focus more specifically on the theme of sustainability and to examine research contributions of geographers to problems of sustainability in the Caribbean region. While the problems of environmental degradation have increased in recent decades, the ability of Caribbean governments to cope with the consequences appears to have been eroded. There is, however, a growing recognition within the region of the need for development strategies that focus on the social needs of the people yet simultaneously protect the fragile natural environment. It is hoped that the research presented here will serve to inform the wider research and decision-making community of the main problems associated with resource sustainability in the region and of some of the major research directions crucial to the alleviation of these problems.

Preface International Encyclopedia of Housing and Home, 2012-10-09 Available online via SciVerse ScienceDirect or in print for a limited time only. The International Encyclopedia of Housing and Home Seven Volume Set is the first international reference work for housing scholars and professionals that uses studies in economics and finance, psychology, social policy, sociology, anthropology, geography, architecture, law, and other disciplines to create an international portrait of housing in all its facets, from meanings of home at the microscale to impacts on macro economy. This comprehensive work is edited by distinguished housing expert Susan J. Smith together with Marja Elsinga, Ong Seow Eng, Lorna Fox O'Mahony, and Susan Wachter, and a multi-disciplinary editorial team of 20 world-class scholars in all. Working at the cutting edge of their subject, liaising with an expert editorial advisory board and engaging with policy makers and professionals, the editors have worked for almost five years to secure the quality, reach, relevance, and coherence of this work. A broad and inclusive table of contents signals or testifies to detailed investigation of historical and theoretical material as well as in-depth analysis of current issues. This seven-volume set contains over 500 entries listed alphabetically but grouped into seven thematic sections including methods and approaches, economics and finance, environments, home and homelessness, institutions, policy and welfare, and well-being. Housing professionals, both academics and practitioners, will find The International Encyclopedia of Housing and Home useful for teaching, discovery, and research needs. International in scope, engaging with trends in every world region, the editorial board and contributors are drawn from a wide constituency, collating expertise from academics, policy makers, professionals, and practitioners, and from every key center for housing research. Every entry stands alone on its merits and is accessed alphabetically, yet each is fully cross-referenced and attached to one of seven thematic categories whose wholes far exceed the sum of their parts.

Applied Geography Michael Pacione, 2002-03-11 Applied Geography offers an invaluable introduction to useful research in physical, environmental, and human geography and provides a new focus and reference point for investigating and understanding problem-oriented research. Forty-nine leading experts in the field introduce and explore research which crosses the traditional boundary between physical and human geography. A wide range of key issues and contemporary debates are within the book's main sections which cover natural and environmental hazards, environmental change, and management challenges of the human environment. Techniques of spatial analysis. Applied geography is the application of geographic knowledge and skills to identify the nature and causes of social economic and environmental problems and inform policies which lead to their resolution

Geographies of Development Robert Potter, Tony Binns, Jennifer Elliott, Etienne Nel, David Smith, 2019-03-07 Now in its fourth edition Geographies of Development An Introduction to Development Studies remains a core balanced and comprehensive introductory textbook for students of Development Studies Development Geography and related fields This clear and concise text encourages critical engagement by integrating theory alongside practice and related key topics throughout. It demonstrates informatively that ideas concerning development have been many and varied and highly contested, varying from time to time and from place to place. Clearly written and accessible for students who have no prior knowledge of development, the book provides the basics in terms of a geographical approach to development: what, where, when, and why. Over 200 maps, charts, tables, textboxes, and pictures break up the text and offer alternative ways of showing the information. The text is further enhanced by a range of pedagogical features: chapter outlines, case studies, key thinkers, critical reflections, key points, and summaries, discussion topics, and further reading.

Geographies of Development continues to be an invaluable introductory text not only for geography students but also anyone in area studies, international studies, and development studies.

Afro-Cuban Identity in Post-Revolutionary Novel and Film Andrea E. Morris, 2012

Afro-Cuban Identity in Post-Revolutionary Novel and Film examines the changing discourse on race as portrayed in Cuban novels and films produced after 1959. Andrea Easley Morris analyzes the artists' participation in and questioning of the revolutionary government's revision of national identity to include the unique experience and contributions of Cuban men and women of African descent. While the Cuban revolution brought sweeping changes that vastly improved the material condition of many Afro-Cubans at the time, overrepresented among Cuba's poor and marginalized, the government's official position was that racial inequities had been resolved as early as 1962. Although a more open dialogue on race was cut short, the work of several novelists and film directors from the late 1960s and 70s expresses the need to explore what was gained and lost by Afro-Cubans in the early years of the revolution among them Manuel Granados, Miguel Barnet, Nivia Tejera, Sara Gómez, Carlos Leante, Tomás Gutiérrez Alea, Sergio Giral, and Manuel Cofi. Their works participate in the process of redefining Cuban national identity that took place after the revolution, and more specifically, they explore the place of Afro-Cuban identity within a broader notion of revolutionary Cubaness. This occurs through an emphasis on Afro-Cuban cultural practices that have constituted forms of resistance to colonial and neo-colonial oppression. This book examines the identity conflicts portrayed in these works and takes into account the artists' negotiation of their own status within the revolutionary context by looking at the narrative strategies used to address racial issues within the constraints placed on cultural production in Cuba after 1962.

Abstract Barrios Johana Londoño, 2020-08-10

Abstract Barrios Johana Londoño examines how Latinized urban landscapes are made palatable for white Americans. Such Latinized urban landscapes, she observes, especially appear when whites feel threatened by concentrations of Latinx populations, commonly known as barrios. Drawing on archival research, interviews, and visual analysis of barrio built environments, Londoño shows how, over the past seventy years, urban planners, architects, designers, policy makers, business owners, and other brokers took abstracted elements from barrio design, such as spatial layouts or bright colors, to safely Latinize cities and manage a long-standing urban crisis of Latinx belonging. The built environments that resulted ranged from idealized notions of authentic Puerto Rican culture in the interior design of

New York City's public housing in the 1950s which sought to diminish concerns over Puerto Rican settlement to the Fiesta Marketplace in downtown Santa Ana California built to counteract white flight in the 1980s Ultimately Londo o demonstrates that abstracted barrio culture and aesthetics sustain the economic and cultural viability of normalized white and middle class urban spaces

Geography in America at the Dawn of the 21st Century Gary L. Gaile, Cort J. Willmott, 2005 Geography in America at the Dawn of the 21st Century surveys American geographers current research in their specialty areas and tracks trends and innovations in the many subfields of geography As such it is both a state of the discipline assessment and a topical reference It includes an introduction by the editors and 47 chapters each on a specific specialty The authors of each chapter were chosen by their specialty group of the American Association of Geographers AAG Based on a process of review and revision the chapters in this volume have become truly representative of the recent scholarship of American geographers While it focuses on work since 1990 it additionally includes related prior work and work by non American geographers The initial Geography in America was published in 1989 and has become a benchmark reference of American geographical research during the 1980s This latest volume is completely new and features a preface written by the eminent geographer Gilbert White

Linking Destinies Peter Boomgaard, Dick Kooiman, Henk Schulte Nordholt, 2008-01-01 Trade flows cities and kinship relations can all be seen as elements of complex networks In this collection of essays all of which deal with Asia we argue that there are good reasons to envisage them as various dimensions of the same networks Nevertheless it is fairly rare to find trade cities and kinship relations as intimately linked as we have portrayed them in this volume because they are usually classified within different sub disciplines of history whose practitioners are all too often not inclined to talk to people outside their own field The Australian born historian Heather Sutherland who recently retired from the VU university in Amsterdam is an exception in this respect because most of her work gravitates towards an approach which aims to integrate this trinity of topics This collection of essays written by a number of her students and close colleagues has taken its cue from her approach It is not the case that all the contributions deal with all three topics but they as a collective demonstrate how flows of trade cities both as urban centres and nodes in wider networks and kinship relations hang together and how the study of one topic opens new vistas on the other two revealing causal links that otherwise would have remained hidden Thus the essays in this collective volume support the idea that trade towns and kin although often dealt with quite separately can be viewed as various aspects of the same networks connecting people places and commodities
