"Shared Joy is Double Joy ..." Carla Grey,1988      Shared Joy is Double Joy Joyce Simmons,1985      Escape from Grief Prison Gail Norwood,2022-04-19 In the prison of your soul Fear and grief may take control Oppressive as they both may be Allow the truth to set you free A compelling love story the harsh reality of earthly loss and evidence of the extraordinary power of healing fill these pages laced with hope and promise Written by first time author Gail Norwood this true story erupts with both the stunning beauty and the depths of sadness that constitute our lives all our lives not only those who have recently lost a loved one It is an intimate reflection on loss which we all have and healing which we all need Our losses are as different and unique as each of us but many of the fundamental strategies to help us cope are universal These nurturing truths are there to guide us comfort us and encourage us to live again An unexpected sentence to Grief Prison is a portal to the dark side of bereavement In this bleak midwinter of our soul we are detained in sullen captivity It is solitary confinement a lonely internment where we are held against our will But can we escape Can we escape to a good grief one that is healthy productive and enlightening The keys to good grief can open the lock binding us to this cruel incarceration One key is recognizing our choices and keeping our balance Another reminds us to practice acceptance and letting go Gratitude fills us with joy as we rise to our higher selves and cherish our sacred present moment The light in the darkness guides us each day as we relearn the eternal lesson of death and rebirth loss and renewal Embrace these keys to healing and feel the freedom

Law and Economics of Justice Klaus Mathis, Avshalom Tor, 2024-04-30

While previous volumes have examined specific issues and developments such as the coronavirus crisis or digital transformation from a law and economics perspective, the anniversary edition returns to the methodological and philosophical fundament of the discipline of law and economics. The present book aims to examine these foundations in general and in particular: efficiency, reciprocity, and meritocracy, and their relation to law and justice from an interdisciplinary perspective

Efficiency Traditionally the economic analysis of law has been guided by the goal of efficiency. Economists usually define efficiency as Pareto or Kaldor Hicks efficiency. Any change that makes one member of society better off without anyone else being worse off is a Pareto improvement. A change is a Kaldor Hicks improvement if the gainers value their gains more than the losers value their losses with only hypothetical compensation required.

Reciprocity Economists have traditionally based their models on the self interest hypothesis of homo oeconomicus. In this model an individual maximises his own utility without being altruistic or jealous. Behavioural economics challenges the self interest hypothesis. In fact many people deviate from purely self interested behaviour. There are also signs that considerations of fairness and mutual benefit are important in bilateral negotiations and in the functioning of markets.

Meritocracy The concept of meritocracy refers to a system organisation or society in which people are selected and promoted to positions of success power and influence on the basis of their abilities and merits. This means that an individual is able to climb the social ladder through hard work. Moreover meritocracy directs the most talented people into the most functionally important positions thereby increasing a society's efficiency. However the equalising function of meritocracy has been criticised. Rather than reducing inequality meritocracy is seen as the cause of racial economic and social inequality.
