L. Stephanie Cobb, 2008 At once brave and athletic virtuous and modest female martyrs in the second and third centuries were depicted as self possessed gladiators who at the same time exhibited the quintessentially womanly qualities of modesty fertility and beauty L Stephanie Cobb explores the double embodiment of male and female gender ideals in these figures connecting them to Greco Roman virtues and the construction of Christian group identities Both male and female martyrs conducted their battles in the amphitheater a masculine environment that enabled the divine combatants to showcase their strength virility and volition These Christian martyr accounts also illustrated masculinity through the language of justice resistance to persuasion and more subtly but most effectively the juxtaposition of unmanly individuals usually slaves the old or the young with those at the height of male maturity and accomplishment such as the governor or the proconsul Imbuing female martyrs with the same strengths as their male counterparts served a vital function in Christian communities Faced with the possibility of persecution Christians sought to inspire both men and women to be braver than pagan and Jewish men Yet within the community itself traditional gender roles had to be maintained and despite the call to be manly Christian women were expected to remain womanly in relation to the men of their faith Complicating our understanding of the social freedoms enjoyed by early Christian women Cobb s investigation reveals the dual function of gendered language in martyr texts and its importance in laying claim to social power

Men Alone Jopi Nyman, 1997 This study examines masculinity and individualism in four American novels of the 1920s and 1930s usually regarded as belonging to the genre of hard boiled fiction The novels under study are Red Harvest by Dashiell Hammett The Postman Always Rings Twice by James M Cain They Shoot Horses Don t They by Horace McCoy and To Have and Have Not by Ernest Hemingway In this first full length study of gender in hard boiled fiction the genre is discussed as a representation of the ideologies of masculinity and individualism Hard boiled fiction is located in its historical and cultural context and it is argued that the genre with its explicit emphasis on masculinity and masculine virtues attempts to reaffirm a masculine order The study argues that this emphasis is a counter reaction to more general changes in the gender relations of the period Indeed hard boiled fiction is argued to be an attempt to reconstruct a masculine identity based on anti modern values generally accepted in the cultural context of the genre
