Shekhtel Riabushinskii Gorkii:

Russian Architecture and the West Dmitrii Olegovich Shvidkovskii, Shvidkovsky, 2007-01-01 This is the first book to show the development of Russian architecture over the past thousand years as a part of the history of Western architecture. Dmitry Shvidkovsky, Russia's leading architectural historian, departs from the accepted notion that Russian architecture developed independent of outside cultural influences and demonstrates that to the contrary the influence of the West extends back to the tenth century and continues into the present. He offers compelling assessments of all the main masterpieces of Russian architecture and frames a radically new architectural history for Russia. The book systematically analyzes Russian buildings in relation to developments in European art, pointing out where familiar European features are expressed in Russian projects. Special attention is directed toward decorations based on Byzantine models, the heritage of Italian master builders and carvers, the impact of architects and others sent by Elizabeth I, the formation of the Russian Imperial Baroque, the Enlightenment in Russian art, and 19th and 20th century European influences. With over 300 specially commissioned photographs of sites throughout Russia and western Europe, this magnificent book is both beautiful and groundbreaking.

Gold in Azure, 1983 The Architecture of Psychoanalysis Jane Rendell, 2017-03-01 In this thought-provoking book, Jane Rendell explores how architectural space registers in psychoanalysis. She investigates both the inherently spatial vocabulary of psychoanalysis and ideas around the physical setting of the psychoanalytic encounter with reference to Sigmund Freud, D.W. Winnicott, and Andre Green. Building on the innovative writing methods employed in Art and Architecture and Site Writing, she also addresses the concept of architecture as social condenser, a Russian constructivist notion that connects material space and community relations. Tracing this idea's progress from 1920s Moscow to 1950s Britain, Rendell shows how interior and exterior meet in both psychoanalysis and architectural practice. Illuminating a novel field of interdisciplinary enquiry, this book breathes fresh life into notions of social space.

Art Nouveau Architecture Keiichi Tahara, 2000 One of the most significant movements in the history of the decorative arts, Art Nouveau was born of a reaction to the rise of industrialism and inspired by the pioneering idealism of such radical geniuses as John Ruskin and William Morris. Architects and designers were seized with the desire to sweep away old traditions and create functional and original forms in an environment that would satisfy the demands of modern life. The distinctive new style rapidly became recognized the world over. Although it flowered only briefly in the closing years of the nineteenth century and the beginning of the twentieth, and while a great many of its creations have been destroyed, there still remain a myriad examples of its sinuous shapes and organically inspired beauty, whether in the work of individuals such as Victor Horta, Hector Guimard, and Antoni Gaudí or in that of collectives such as the Glasgow School and the Wiener Werkstätte. Compiled by Keiichi Tahara, one of the finest architectural photographers of his generation, Art Nouveau is a lavish photographic survey of the most important Art Nouveau buildings, monuments, and interiors throughout the length and breadth of Europe. The Murder of Maxim
