Solidarity and Treason Lisa Fittko, 1993 Lisa Fittko's Escape through the Pyrenees (Northwestern, 1991) told the extraordinary true tale of her life as an enemy alien in France before and after the Nazi invasion of 1940 when she and her husband smuggled small groups of refugees to safety along a tortuous route through the mountains. Solidarity and Treason: Resistance and Exile 1933-1940 is Fittko's equally gripping memoir of the preceding years in the underground and exile. The volume opens with Hitler's

Hear the Train Louis Owens, 2001 In this innovative collection, Louis Owens blends autobiography, short fiction, and literary criticism to reflect on his experiences as a mixed-blood Indian in America. In sophisticated prose, Owens reveals the many timbres of his voice: humor, humility, love, joy, struggle, confusion, and clarity. We join him in the fields, farms, and ranches of California. We follow his search for a lost brother and contemplate, along with him, old family photographs from Indian Territory and early Oklahoma. In a final section, Owens reflects on the work and theories of other writers, including Gayatri Chakravorty Spivak, Gerald Vizenor, Michael Dorris, and Louise Erdrich. Volume 40 in the American Indian Literature and Critical Studies Series.

Train of Thought Mark Williams, 2012-09-20 Train of Thought is a book of poetry that started life as a bit of fun as the author filled some spare time at work. Realizing his potential, he took to writing poems on his train journey to work. As described in the opening poem, e Train of Thought, he uses his forty-five minute train journey into work to put down his thoughts into rhyming verse, creating pleasing stories that are guaranteed to raise a smile. By his own admission, some were more difficult to write as he analytically describes the changes he noted following his son's two tours in Afghanistan as a serving member of the 3rd Battalion, the Parachute Regiment. His poems explore his inner thoughts, focusing on his work, family, and pets. Others are descriptive renditions of scenes put into words, while some are drawn from the deepest annals of his mind that take you on a wondrous journey of thought. All his work will at least make you think, smile, laugh, and maybe draw a tear. The author is Mark Williams, a forty-seven-year-old Civil Engineer. Born in Liverpool in 1965, his childhood was a happy one tainted by the misery of his parents' broken marriage and frequent fighting. His attempt to capture this time in his poem e Screame is possibly his most moving and compelling piece of work to date. This book is dedicated to Lewis Hendry, good friend and 3rd Battalion, the Parachute Regiment colleague of the author's son. Lewis was killed in action on a 2010/11 tour in Afghanistan two days before his 21st birthday. MARIANA Saana Lahtinen, 2024-01-16

The Big Four railway companies were nationalised from 1948 and the newly formed British Railways embarked on a programme of building new Standard steam locomotives to replace older types. These started to come on stream from 1951. This programme was superseded by the 1955 scheme to dieselise and electrify many lines and so the last loco of the Standard types was built in 1960 and the steam locomotives had been swept entirely from the BR network by 1968. This series of books, The Geoff Plumb Collection, is a photographic account of those last few years of the steam locomotives, their decline and replacement during the transition years. Each book covers one of the former Big Four in the form of the BR Regions they became: the Southern Railway, London Midland, Scottish Railway, Great Western Railway and London North Eastern Railway, including some pictures of the Scottish lines of the LMS and LNER. The books are not intended to convey a complete history of the railways but to illustrate how things were to a certain extent in the relatively recent past and impart some information through comprehensive captions which give a sense of occasion, often a last run of a locomotive type or over a stretch of line about to be closed down. The photos cover large parts of the country though it was impossible to get everywhere given the overall timetable of just a few years, mainly when the author was still a schoolboy with limited time and disposable income to get around. Pictures are of the highest quality that could be produced with the equipment then available but they do reflect real life and real times. In simple terms, a look at a period not so long ago but now gone forever      Trains, 1979
