At the Sign of the Sword: A Story of Love and War in Belgium William Le Queux,2023-07-07 Excerpt Warm brilliant and cloudless was the July noon Beneath the summer sun the broad shallow waters of the Meuse sparkled as they rippled swiftly onward through the deep winding valley of grey rocks and cool woods on their way from the mountains of Lorraine through peaceful prosperous Belgium towards the sea That quiet smiling land of the Ardennes was in July in the year of grace 1914 surely one of the most romantic in all Europe a green peaceful land undisturbed by modern progress a land where the peasantry were still both honest and simple retaining many of their primitive customs a land where the herdsmen still called home the cattle by the blast of the horn as they had done for past centuries where the feudal castles studding the country mostly now in ruins were once the abodes of robber knights In that long deep green valley which wound from Namur up past Dinant to the French frontier at Givet the people had advanced but little Legend and history poetry and fiction provoked an interesting reminiscence at almost every turn for it was indeed a land that fascinated those used to the mad hurry of our modern money making life Not far from quaint old world Dinant with its church with the slate covered bulgy spire nestling beneath its fortress crowned rock its narrow cobbled streets and its picturesque little Place lay the pretty riverside village of Anseremme the favourite resort of artists being situated at the junction of the Lesse one of the loveliest of rivers with the Meuse
